BUSINESS BLOCK IN HEART OF CITY REDUCED TO RUINS

Loveman, Joseph, Loeb Co. Total Loss and Melancon's Badly Wrecked by Fire Lasting 10 Hours in City's Center.

39 FIRE FIGHTERS HURT IN BATTLE

Telephone Building Burns and Communication Cut Off; Spectators Interfere With Firemen.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 10.—(P)—Fire razing in the heart of downtown Birmingham this afternoon and tonight swept four buildings, including one of the city's largest department stores, with a loss of $3,000,000 and caused injuries to 39 persons, most of them firemen.

The fire that broke out in Loveman, Joseph & Loeb Co. department store at Third avenue north, and Nineteenth street, about 1 p. m., was definitely under control at 11 p. m., with firemen still pouring streams of water into the smoldering shambles.

Fear that the flames that took a 10-hour fight by 200 firemen to subdue, had gotten out of control were renewed tonight, when a fresh outburst occurred at Melancon's, an adjoining department store, but within an hour, weary firefighters saw the blaze subside again.

Loveman Heavy Loser. Chief B. O. Hargrove at 11 o'clock said his men definitely had the fire out, except for the blazing debris of Loveman, Joseph & Loeb, the heaviest loser.

The loss to this department store was placed by officers of the company at $2,000,000—stock $1,000,000, building $1,000,000 with insurance on both of $1,000,000.

The remainder of the loss was borne by Melancon's department store, fire, water and smoke damage, Calder Furniture Company, stock and building, Southern Bell Telephone Company, building and equipment, and a five-story vacant building, none of which was segregated.

At midnight, when the thousands of feet of hose through which millions of gallons of water were turned on the city's most disastrous fire were being rolled up by firemen, the flames seemed fiercer, many of whom had smoke-smudged hands on hands and arms, and a few of the trucks changed through the streets to their stations.

Every piece of fire-fighting apparatus in the city was pressed into service and companies from suburban Roswell, Fairfield, Tarrant and Homewood were fighting the blaze, while additional men and apparatus stood by in Atlanta and Montgomery, ready to rush in by special train if needed. Scores of firemen battled the flames.

Air Mail Curtailment Ordered by Roosevelt

Sharp Note to Dorn Demands Safer Planes, Pilots and Hints Early Return to Private Lines.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(P)—With the declaration that "the ratio of accidents has been far too high during the past three weeks," President Roosevelt today ordered sharp curtailment of the army air mail service.

His command followed the tenth death in 20 days of the army mail flying operations, instituted after the wholesale private contract cancellation of a month ago.

To Secretary Dorn he addressed a pointed letter: "This action," he said in referring to the order for the army to fly the mail, "was taken on the definite assurance given me that the army air corps could carry the mail."

"Since that time ten army fliers have lost their lives. I appreciate that only four of these were actually flying the mail, but the others were training or were proceeding to the mail route."

"Because military lessons have been taught us during the past few weeks I request that you consult immediately with the postmaster-general and the secretary of commerce in order that additional training may be given to army pilots through co-operation with private companies who later on will fly the mails."

Lindbergh Expresses Views. Meanwhile, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was telling Secretary Dorn in a three-hour conversation just what he thought of the army air service and outlining his ideas on how it might be improved.

The flier had no engagement at the White House, but this was still held to be a possibility. Should he call on the president it would be his first meeting since the White House reproved him for making public a letter to the president criticizing the cancellation of the contracts before the communication was received by the chief executive.

The presidential order followed a session between Mr. Roosevelt, General Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, and the army air corps chief, Major General Foulis.

While the president was issuing his new instruction at the White House, anti-administration forces on Capitol Hill intensified their drive against the government's emergency air mail program.

Congress Favorable. Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, who yesterday opened an attack on the program, backed it up today with a resolution to have the senate call upon Mr. Roosevelt to "take these boys out of the air."

The presidential action, however, evinced generally favorable comment from both republican and democratic members.

In letters to the chairman of the senate and house postoffice committees, Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, and Representative Mead, continued in Page 14, Column 2.

$3,445,868 SAVED GEORGIANS IN YEAR THROUGH TAX CUTS

Talmadge's Reductions Net Big Sum for Citizens, Treasurer Hamilton's Report Reveals.

George B. Hamilton, state treasurer, reported to Governor Talmadge Saturday that the governor's executive orders for tax cuts had saved the people of Georgia $3,445,868.70 in 1933, and that the state operated on $5,804,678.21 less than it required the year before.

Total receipts for the year were shown as $26,856,579.46, against $32,322,990.62, a decrease of $5,466,411.16, more than offset by a disbursement decrease of $5,804,678.21 to $25,967,148.44.

The figures, the annual treasury report said, "show conclusively that the economies effected in the operations of the state government were brought about by reductions of revenue."

Although the federal government was allowed to collect from the people a tangible saving to them and put into effect an economical operation of the government.

Hamilton showed a $2,807,309.91 saving to the people as the result of the governor's order cutting automobile tags to a flat price of $3, and $388,553.79 saving from the reduction of the state's property tax levy from 10 to 8 per cent.

The reduction, he said, was accomplished with $333,340.12 cash from discounting W. and A. rentals, and by repaying $1,688,865.55 of the appropriations against which no debts had been contracted.

He showed a cash deficit of $1,316,232, carried over since the end of 1927, when the loan for schools was repaid from revenues for that year.

He said the cash deficit was reduced $12,308.79 during 1933. All state funds on deposit in banks were fully covered by collateral savings with the treasury, except two small deposits in Georgia banks, totaling less than $250, and $162,545.27 in a New York bank which was placed there for payment on state bonds the next day.

Hamilton reported an increase during his administration of the treasury from $4,000 to $7,000 in the year for relief. He said the cash deficit was reduced $12,308.79 during 1933.

He said a number of others were in process of appointment. Debt at $4,211,702. The report listed the valid funded debt of the state, against general fund revenue, at $4,211,702.17. It said $62,000 in bonds due the University System came due in 1933 but were continued in Page 2, Column 7.

Federal Government Plans To Start Housing Program Here in 6 Weeks

Principals at the meeting Saturday at which it was announced that the federal government will take over complete development of the $5,100,000 Techwood, Inc., are shown in the above picture. Left to right, front row, are James H. Brown, property manager of the Techwood, Inc., and leading Atlanta, who has been active in several large developments; Flippen Burge, of Burge & Stevens, architects on Techwood. Back row, left to right, W. J. Sayward, of Edwards & Sayward, architects on the Atlanta University project, and Preston S. Stevens, of Burge & Stevens.

Start on the Techwood and Atlanta University slum clearance within six weeks under federal government control in co-operation with the trustees of Techwood, Inc., and at a cost of $5,100,000 was promised Saturday by C. F. Palmer, organizer and head of Techwood, Inc., and James H. Brown, property manager of the division of housing of PWA, Washington.

In order to expedite actual start on Techwood, the first federal slum clearance project undertaken by the government, the venture has been transferred from PWA to the federal housing corporation, of which Robert D. Kohn, of Washington, is vice president. Kohn also is housing director of PWA.

Under the new setup allocations to the Techwood development have been increased from $2,600,000 to $3,000,000 and the Atlanta University development from $1,212,500 to $2,100,000. Although the federal government will make the entire development at government expense and it will be government property, Techwood, Inc., trustees and officers will retain local control and will co-operate to the fullest in the undertaking, Kohn explained.

In addition, the Atlanta Title & Trust Company has entered into a contract with the federal government to run all titles: an appraisal of the Atlanta Real Estate Board will appraise all property; the Adair Realty & Loan Company is the government's agent on Techwood.

COUNCIL TO TACKLE FINANCES, RELIEF

Showdown on Co-operation With U. S. Expected During Visit of Hopkins.

Demand that council revise the 1934 city budget by eliminating an allocation of $88,000 to pay for 1932 school books and a provision enabling the school department to budget against a $590,000 contingent fund, will be made of council Monday afternoon by Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of the finance committee, who said he would take a strong stand to "save federal relief funds for Atlanta."

Realization that a grave crisis faces the municipality, council members Saturday prepared to attempt to meet the issue squarely Monday. It was pointed out by Gilliam that the federal government has spent a total of $3,526,412.95 in Atlanta and Fulton county since the federal government began relief work. Of that total $3,445,868.70 has been expended since CWA was inaugurated last November.

It Atlanta adopts a balanced budget, CWA or other governmental agencies will continue to aid the city and county; if it refuses there is no alternative but withdrawal of federal funds, Gilliam said Saturday. "Such a short-sighted policy would paralyze business, would throw thousands into danger of starvation and would prostrate every business enterprise in the surrounding territory; it would be a major disaster."

Attack on Validation. Gilliam's announcement came on the heels of a court attack on the validation of 1934 bonds in order that Atlanta might keep its agreement with federal authorities to contribute $50,000 a month for the year to relief. It preceded by several hours, the expected arrival Monday of Harry L. Hopkins, federal civil works and relief administrator. Hopkins is expected to back up Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia CWA and relief administrator, who has delivered an ultimatum to the city.

CUMMINGS PLANS TO PRESENT CASES TO GRAND JURIES

Attorney-General Reports Matters Already Are in Hands of United States Attorneys With Authority To Take Action.

OTHERS MAY FACE SIMILAR PROCEDURE

Former Secretary of Treasurer, Ex-Mayor of New York, Banker and Attorney First Named.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(P)—Attorney-General Cummings tonight announced proceedings against Andrew W. Mellon, James J. Walker, Thomas S. Lamont and Thomas L. Sidel for alleged tax evasion would be presented to grand juries soon. In a statement Cummings said the cases had been referred to the respective United States attorneys "with authority for presentation to grand juries under the laws against tax evasion and avoidance."

The case against Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, has been under investigation for some time. Walker, former mayor of New York, is now in France.

Lamont is a member of the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., and Sidel, a prominent Cleveland attorney.

Assistant Attorney-General Frank J. Wideman, head of the newly created tax division of the department of justice, said other cases of a similar nature are pending against other individuals.

Income tax returns for the four named today by the attorney-general are understood to have been studied by the treasury and department of justice officials. The investigation into the personal income tax returns of Andrew W. Mellon as well as his many controlled companies was started shortly after inauguration of the Roosevelt administration.

Openly admitted income tax cases were revealed by Cummings late this afternoon, shortly after he had conferred with President Roosevelt. Whether the prospective action had been taken up with the president could not be learned, but it was said in department of justice circles that President Roosevelt presumably had known about it in advance.

Mellon Concern. In addition, the attorney-general announced that the department was inquiring into the practices of the Aluminum Company of America, a Mellon-controlled concern, which he has characterized as a "10 per cent monopoly in the producing field."

Martin J. Conboy, United States attorney for the southern district of New York, conferred with Attorney-General Cummings this week and presumably the cases against Lamont and Walker were discussed at that time.

District Attorney Horatio S. Dum-bauld, of the western Pennsylvania district, will take care of proceedings against Mellon and Emerich B. Freed, of the northern Ohio district, will present the case against Sidel to the grand jury there.

Mellon, for years an outstanding figure in the world of business and finance, became with the return of the republic to party to power in 1920, equally prominent in public life.

Named by Harding. President Harding appointed him secretary of the treasury in 1921, that post through the Coolidge administration and part of the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

ATLANTA STORES INCREASE SALES

City Is Second in Nation in Point of Increase Over Last Year.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, March 10.—Further increase in department store sales in the Atlanta and other federal reserve districts of the country were cited today by officials of the national recovery administration as a new sign of continued business improvement.

Next to Dallas, the Atlanta federal reserve district showed the highest gain of any section of the country in department store sales during February. Contrasted with the same month a year ago, such sales in the Atlanta area showed an increase of 37 per cent. The Dallas increase was 38 per cent.

HOUSE MAY BACK NEW SILVER LAWS

Speaker Rainey Promises To Support Dies and Feinsinger Bills.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(UP)—Favorable house action on silver legislation appeared more likely tonight after remonetization advocates had received assurances from Speaker Henry T. Rainey that he would give active support to the Dies and Feinsinger bills.

The two proposals received the overwhelming approval of the house coinage, weights and measures committee.

Chairman Andrew Somers, of the committee, said he would press for early house action on the Dies bill and Representative William L. Feinsinger, Democrat, Ohio, that he would seek consideration of his proposal some time next week.

It was understood that members of the silver bloc comprising representatives from the middle and western states were solidly behind both bills. After several months this group has been working quietly to bring silver legislation to the floor.

A number of the members favor free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio to be fixed by law but would welcome any legislation designed to improve the status of the metal.

Support Promised.

Speaker Rainey said today he had no reason to believe that President Roosevelt would be unfavorable to either bill. He said that for himself he would do everything to obtain favorable house action on both proposals.

"Both of them are excellent bills," the speaker said.

Majority Floor Leader Byrnes said he could not predict what action the house would take on the bills because he had not sounded out the opinions of members on the subject for some time.

Members of the silver bloc, however, were confident both bills would be passed when they come up for a vote.

The Dies bill, introduced by Representative Martin Dies, Democrat, Texas, authorizes the exchange of surplus agricultural products for foreign silver at a price not greater than 25 percent in excess of the world market rate.

Would Create Board.

The proposal creates a board consisting of the president and the secretaries of treasury, agriculture and commerce. This board is authorized to deposit the silver accepted in exchange for agricultural products with the secretary of the treasury, who in turn is empowered to issue currency against that coin or bullion.

The premium or excess above the world market price of silver which the board is authorized to spend for products sold foreign buyers is limited to $400,000,000 a year.

The Feinsinger bill authorizes the

"Catnaper" Is Active In Middle West City

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 10. (UP)—The kidnaper racket, which went to the dogs last week when two pups were held for ransom, has reached a new low with the abduction of cats.

Mrs. A. H. Koubek told police she paid $2 to a man who returned "Buddy," an Angora which had been missing since last Saturday. The original ransom demand was $25, but prolonged dickering reduced the price, she said. The "catnaper" told Mrs. Koubek he had "found" several other cats.

Marjorie Waggoner, 7, whose cat, "Twinkle," is missing, believes he, too, is a "catnaper" victim. Marjorie, however, wrote the papers about her cat, which "has a white stripe down his throat and has spots on his stomach and a long tail light black and is a father cat."

Edward Bacon Havis DIES AT CHATTANOOGA

Edward Bacon Havis, 50, who was district accountant for the Railway Express Company here for 15 years until transferred to Chattanooga, Tenn., in July, 1932, died in a private hospital in that city Saturday afternoon after an illness of six days.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Centenary Methodist church here. The body will be brought to Atlanta for interment services, which will be held at 11 o'clock Monday morning at the graveside in West View cemetery.

H. M. Patterson & Son will have charge of the arrangements.

Mr. Havis was born in Birmingham, July 27, 1874, the son of Edward Bacon Havis and Mary Collins Havis. He began his business career 42 years ago with the Southern Express Company. He came to Atlanta as district accountant in 1917. Mr. Havis was a member of the St. Mark Methodist church here, and the H. Warner Hill Bible class.

He is survived by his wife; his mother, two sons, Edward Hodge Havis and Julian Stephen Havis, both of Atlanta; two daughters, Mrs. C. J. McCullough, of New York city, and Miss Josephine Havis, of Chattanooga; and one grandchild.

Immediate purchase of 400,000,000 ounces of silver by the treasury department to create an auxiliary monetary reserve. The purchases are to be made at the lowest obtainable prices on the world market wherever silver currency is issued under the bill will be accepted in payments for the metal. Additional purchases by the treasury are authorized when the price of silver declines below the ratio of 37 1/4 grains of silver to 23 5/8 grains of gold, or when the price is under $1 for 37 1/4 grains. After the amount of silver obtained reaches a total of 1,500,000,000 ounces, however, further purchases are limited to 100,000,000 ounces a year.

The Feinsinger bill authorizes the

FAIR GROUP HONORS WORKERS IN 'RANKS'

Men in Charge of Exhibits Named Committee To Help Map 1934 Event.

Directors of the Southeastern Fair rewarded the workers of the "ranks" who made 1933 a record season, appointing them as an executive committee of 15 to join in mapping plans for the 1934 season, Mike Benton, president of the fair association, announced Saturday.

This group, a majority of whom have contributed notably to the success of previous fairs and all of whom have shown active interest and cooperation, was praised in a statement from Mr. Benton accompanying the appointments.

These include W. T. "Tap" Bennett, of Athens, who has been in charge of the live stock exhibit for several years; John P. Frasier, poultry exhibits manager; County Agent S. D. Truitt, of Fulton county, and G. V. Cunningham, of Athens, who have directed the 4-H programs and the agricultural exhibits; Don C. Kern, automobile exhibits manager and director of the state-wide motorcade last year; and J. M. Shelton, chairman of the property committee.

Mr. Benton also announced that Wiley Moore, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, will participate actively this year, and that plans already are under way for a large industrial exhibit under Mr. Moore's direction. This phase of the 1934 fair will be one that has never been attempted before, Mr. Benton pointed out.

"We are putting the active memberships of the executive committee in the hands of men who have done notable work in putting the fair over years past," Mr. Benton declared.

24-Degree Minimum Forecast for Today

Below-freezing temperature and clear weather was forecast for today by the weather bureau Saturday. The day will start with 24 degrees and warm up to 54 during the afternoon. Freezing weather almost to the coast is expected.

The rain that was expected here veered south and Saturday was only partly cloudy with a temperature range of 39 to 48.

Snow fell Saturday at Raleigh and Norfolk, and Memphis reported 20 degrees and Birmingham, 32. Out in the northwest warmer conditions prevailed.

FRENCH CHAMBER VOTES FUND FOR GAS MASKS

PARIS, March 10.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies today voted an appropriation of 75,000,000 francs—$4,855,000—for new gas masks for the French army.

Atlanta Girl Is Winning Fame In Art Circles of New York

"The Pianist," a painting by Miss Hutchinson. The New York Times: "Mary E. Hutchinson has peopled the Midtown Galleries with hauntingly introspective subjects. . . Individualism without sensationalism. . . The best figure is that of a pianist. . ."

The Christian Science Monitor, Boston, especially emphasized this portrait. "The Pianist" is characteristic of Miss Hutchinson with its command of the great swirling rhythm in the hair, the accentuated line in the blouse, and the preservation of unfretted color values in the large areas.

All of Miss Hutchinson's work shows the influence of her study of sculpture in which she excelled while a student at the Academy in New York, and has been mentioned by critics as three-dimensional painting.

The High Museum of Art is awaiting the arrival of two of Miss Hutchinson's paintings recently acquired through admirers of her work. These oils, entitled "Italian Girl" and "Two of Them," being the picture of a young man and woman, overtly pursued by the Atlanta chapter of the Friends of Art, a national organization of art lovers. Lewis P. Skidmore, director of the museum, declared Miss Hutchinson works with a broad register and a modern use of color.

Miss Hutchinson's most recent work in the metropolis was done for CWA. "The Jungle," presented at her last show, was a sketch of the mural painted for a primary school. A picture of John Hancock's home was also done for a public building.

Miss Hutchinson works continually, completing an "amazing number of pictures," according to her mother.

Erlanger Reopens in April; Plan Year-Round Operation

By RALPH T. JONES.

Operation of the Erlanger theater under plans whereby it will be open every week of the year, presenting a wide range of stage attractions, was announced Saturday. Jack Allen, one of the leading showmen of the east who has operated theaters of primary importance in many of the leading amusement centers, has perfected arrangements by which he leases the theater. Lewis Haase, veteran manager of the Erlanger, will continue in this post, directing the operation.

Katherine Cornell, one of the greatest living actresses, will bring her own company to Atlanta for the reopening of the city's "Playhouse Square." Miss Cornell will be here on Friday and Saturday, April 20 and 21. She is perhaps most famous in recent years for her great Broadway successes, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" and "Alien Corn."

On Monday, April 23, the New York Grand Opera Association will open a two-week engagement during which the most popular of the great grand operas will be presented. The productions will conform with the recognized standards, both as to stage and score, and will be given with the cultural development of the city and since the days of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

A group of famous grand opera stars are coming to Atlanta for the productions, coming not so much for financial reasons but because they feel Atlanta is a center of cultural growth and they want a part in the cultural development of the city and section. Among the stars to appear will be Carmela Ponselle, mezzo soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company and sister of Rosa Ponselle. Others to appear include Martino Rossi, baritone; Ugo Martinelli, tenor; and Emilia Vergeri, dramatic soprano. The company will bring its own splendidly trained chorus, orchestra, etc. The conductor is Gabrielle Simoni, known as the "Second Toscanini."

Among the operas to be presented here are "Carmen," "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Faust," "Rigoletto," "Traviata," "Aida," "Lucia di Lammermoor," "La Forza del Destino," "Pavane," "Martha," "Norma," "Samson et Delilah," "Barbiere di Siviglia," "La Gioconda," etc.

A remarkable feature of the grand opera season is that all performances will be given under the "new deal" idea of prices, with $1 the top price for any seat in the house.

The increase during the two weeks' period was 2.4 per cent.

The present index is 20 per cent above the low point reached in April, 1933, when the index stood at 90.4, said the bureau. "It is 19 per cent over the level for a year ago and 1 per cent over the high point for the past year—September 26, 1933—when the index was 107.4."

Many dentists recommend Ipana Tooth Paste for massaging the gums as well as for cleaning the teeth.

If you brush your teeth regularly, you have every reason to hope that they will shine out as clean teeth should.

But what if you find that after brushing, they look just as dingy and foggy as before?

"Look to the condition of your gums!" dental authorities now tell you. "Sluggish, tender gums may affect the appearance of the teeth as well as the soundness of the teeth."

Children in school, boys and girls in high school, people in dentists' chairs—all hear a great deal these days about massage of the gums.

Gum massage, your dentist will explain, stimulates circulation through the tissues—sends fresh blood coursing through the gums—helps in keeping the gums firm and healthy.

Modern foods are too soft to exercise the gums. But massage makes up for this lack.

"Clean your teeth with Ipana," your dentist will probably suggest. "Then put a little more Ipana on your brush or fingertip, and massage it directly into your sluggish, lazy gums. The sizzling Ipana aids in toning and firming the gums."

Firm gums are not likely to bleed. And in avoiding "pink tooth brush," you are in little danger of gum troubles like Vincent's disease and gingivitis—you are safer from pyorrhea. Your teeth themselves are safer.

Entrust the health of your mouth to Ipana, the scientific modern tooth paste. And have sparkling teeth!

JOHN R. ROBISON, 64, TAX CONSULTANT, DIES

Was Secretary to the Late Congressman W. C. Adamson for Many Years.

John R. Robison, 64, widely known tax consultant, died at a private hospital Saturday night after a brief illness. Mr. Robison was secretary to the late Representative W. C. Adamson for many years and after Mr. Adamson's death was employed by the federal government in the internal revenue bureau.

Mr. Robison resigned from the government service in 1919 and began practice as a tax consultant. He was a member of the firm of Robison & Hunt. He was associated with the first field force of the internal revenue bureau in 1915.

A native of Bowdon, Ga., where he was born June 18, 1870, Mr. Robison came to Atlanta from Carrollton, where he lived for several years. He resided here at the Terminal hotel.

The body will be taken to Carrollton, where funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the First Baptist church, of which he was a member. Four ministers will conduct the services, the Rev. H. P. Bell, the Rev. Ernest Kilgus, the Rev. W. H. Clark and the Rev. J. L. McGiert. Interment will be in the Carrollton cemetery, with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge of all arrangements.

Surviving Mr. Robison are two sons, R. B. Robison, of Atlanta, and Carroll M. Robison, of Phoenix, Ariz.; three sisters, Mrs. W. W. ## Light 'Quake Shakes Pacific Coast Cities

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—(AP)—A light, brief earth shock was felt here at 3:03 p. m. (Pacific standard time) today. The Carnegie institution seismological laboratory at Pasadena said it was entirely local in character.

The quake came on the anniversary of the shock which last year caused a death toll of 121 and property damage of $75,000,000 in southern California.

CHELAN, Wash., March 10.—(AP)—Two distinct earth shocks were felt here today.

The first, at 8 a. m., was of several seconds' duration, rattled dishes, swung pictures on walls and spread alarm among workmen in the Chelan power plant.

Residents in all parts of the Chelan valley felt the tremors.

Retail Food Prices Show Wide Advance

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(AP)—Retail food prices were 20 per cent higher on February 13 than in April, 1933, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today in announcing that the index figure for the two weeks' period ended February 13 was 108.3 per cent of the 1913 average.

The increase during the two weeks' period was 2.4 per cent.

The present index is 20 per cent above the low point reached in April, 1933, when the index stood at 90.4, said the bureau. "It is 19 per cent over the level for a year ago and 1 per cent over the high point for the past year—September 26, 1933—when the index was 107.4."

MEETING CALLED ON COUNCIL CUT

Dinner To Be Held Tuesday; Wells, Assembly Candidate, Backs Move.

Further assurance that the proposal to reduce the personnel of the Atlanta city council will be a major issue in the fall elections to select representatives and a senator from Fulton county was given Saturday as Alton G. Everett, Millican, chairman of a special council committee to seek charter amendments in 1935, called a meeting of his committee for 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night and expressed gratification that James L. Wells, one of the candidates, has endorsed the proposal.

The meeting will be held at the Atlanta Athletic Club, and dinner will be served. Reduction probably will be one of the major matters to come before the council, although the council committee also will seek additional sources of revenue.

Councilman John Marler, of the seventh ward, and Councilman Raleigh Drennon, of the ninth ward, threw their influence in favor of reduction, and Representative George A. Eckford, of the fourth ward, will favor a move to cut the size of council.

"I favor a reduction in the number of council, but think 13 is too small a number," Eckford said Saturday. "I always have thought that a smaller council would be preferable to the large 39-member body, and intend to vote for reduction."

"My ward voted for a commission form of government, when it was put before them, but I believe they would be satisfied with a council reduction which would enable a display of statesmanship and leadership," Drennon asserted.

"Of course I am always voted for a smaller council and will continue to do so. This is nothing new for me. I have favored a reduction consistently."

Knocked Down by Car, Girl Is Badly Injured

Miss Mary Jackson, of 680 Virginia avenue, N. E., early Saturday night was admitted to Grady hospital with a possible fracture of the ribs after being struck down on Boulevard north Tenth by a car driven by A. V. Bullard, of 1005 Amsterdam avenue, N. E., according to police reports.

Bullard told police that Miss Jackson ran across the street in front of his car. Police made a case of reckless driving against Bullard.

not presented for payment, adding that there was some legal question whether they could be retired or would have to be refunded. Some question also exists for settlement by the legislature, Hamilton said, whether refunding bonds should bear interest at the 7 per cent provided in the original act for the university bonds, or 3 1/4 per cent, the present legal limit.

He said the last treasury report failed to call attention to the fact that $171,000 in bonds fall due in 1935 and that consequently only the constitutional sinking fund of $100,000 was provided by the legislature. That situation, he said, can be met by an appropriation by the 1935 general assembly if it will add the $71,000 to the 1936 appropriation bill and make it immediately available.

The treasurer said more than half of the state revenue, or 53.06 per cent, came from fuel oil taxes, and that the property tax was next with 19.86 per cent. Other taxes producing more than 2 per cent of the income were shown as follows: Income and gross receipts 4.42 per cent; motor vehicle taxes 4.34 per cent; cigars and cigarettes 3.88 per cent; income tax 3.78 per cent; special fees 3 per cent.

Hamilton's analysis of disbursements showed that highways consumed 45.1 per cent of the state's revenue, the state system taking 36 per cent and the counties 9.1 per cent. Education got 32.5 per cent, with the common schools taking 26.4 per cent and the university 6.1 per cent. Other cost percentages included: Departments, etc., 6.9 per cent; institutions 5.2; penitentiaries 5; public debt 1.9; judiciary 1.6, and legislature .8.

per cent, only 1 per cent higher than Atlanta.

Preliminary figures indicate, "the board of directors of the Atlanta department store sales from the preceding month."

The federal reserve board's index, which makes allowance for the number of business days and for usual seasonal changes, was 70 in February on the basis of 1923-1925 average as 100, compared with 69 in January and 69 in December.

The percentages of increase in each reserve district as compared with February last year were:

Boston, 9; New York, 6; Philadelphia, 8; Cleveland, 29; Richmond, 11; Atlanta, 37; Chicago, 32; St. Louis, 24; Minneapolis, 18; Kansas City, 21; Dallas, 38, and San Francisco, 14.

Officials were particularly gratified at the Atlanta and Dallas figures, which were interpreted to mean that business recovery in these two districts is progressing more rapidly than any other section of the country.

MASSAGE OF THE GUMS HELPS KEEP GUMS FIRM AND TEETH SPARKLING

Many dentists recommend Ipana Tooth Paste for massaging the gums as well as for cleaning the teeth.

If you brush your teeth regularly, you have every reason to hope that they will shine out as clean teeth should.

But what if you find that after brushing, they look just as dingy and foggy as before?

"Look to the condition of your gums!" dental authorities now tell you. "Sluggish, tender gums may affect the appearance of the teeth as well as the soundness of the teeth."

Children in school, boys and girls in high school, people in dentists' chairs—all hear a great deal these days about massage of the gums.

Gum massage, your dentist will explain, stimulates circulation through the tissues—sends fresh blood coursing through the gums—helps in keeping the gums firm and healthy.

Modern foods are too soft to exercise the gums. But massage makes up for this lack.

"Clean your teeth with Ipana," your dentist will probably suggest. "Then put a little more Ipana on your brush or fingertip, and massage it directly into your sluggish, lazy gums. The sizzling Ipana aids in toning and firming the gums."

Firm gums are not likely to bleed. And in avoiding "pink tooth brush," you are in little danger of gum troubles like Vincent's disease and gingivitis—you are safer from pyorrhea. Your teeth themselves are safer.

Entrust the health of your mouth to Ipana, the scientific modern tooth paste. And have sparkling teeth!

John K. Chastain Dies In Police Station Cell

John Kennedy Chastain, of 497 Tenth street, N. W., was pronounced dead at Grady hospital Saturday night after being taken there from the police station where he had been lodged on a charge of drunkenness.

An inquest will be held to determine the cause of death, probably today. Police records showed that Chastain was arrested earlier in the day by Patrolman N. E. Nolan. Prisoners in the cell with him attracted the attention of the Barrett of Wimpole Street and "Alien Corn."

On Monday, April 23, the New York Grand Opera Association will open a two-week engagement during which the most popular of the great grand operas will be presented.

Mr. Chastain is survived by his mother, Mrs. Lula Berney Chastain; his wife, Mamie Lee Chastain; two sons, Nelson Avery Chastain and J. K. Chastain Jr.; two daughters, Miss Mamie Lee Chastain and Miss Lula Berney Chastain; a brother, C. B. Chastain; and two sisters, Mrs. French Temple, and Miss Lilla Chastain, all of Atlanta.

Henry McIntosh Named Regional NPB Official

WASHINGTON, March 10.—National Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes today announced the appointment of Henry McIntosh, of Albany, as one of a series of 12 regional chairmen to assist in the co-ordination of interstate and regional planning proposals.

The region over which Mr. McIntosh will preside embraces Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama and Florida, with headquarters in Atlanta.

Administrator Ickes organized the 12 planning regions upon the recommendation of the national planning board, states being grouped from the standpoint of primary drainage, land use and transportation interests. It will be the duty of the regional chairmen to stimulate interest in state, city and regional planning and to assist the national planning board to co-ordinate state planning. They will be the contact between the national board and state planning units, official or voluntary.

The regional chairmen will be paid in a per diem basis for 10 days per month.

RURAL SELF-HELP WILL BE LAUNCHED

Plans To Be Perfected at Meeting Between Hopkins and Officials.

Plans for the inauguration of the federal government's new relief program in the south to be launched at the expiration of the civil works administration April 1 will be perfected here Monday and Tuesday at a meeting between Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and administrators and other officials of the southern states.

Relief in the rural areas is one of the three phases to be handled by Hopkins in the president's new employment program.

In accordance with a recent announcement of President Roosevelt, some of the methods to be employed in caring for the needy of the rural areas include building or rebuilding to provide adequate farm homes; the provision of seed and of stock for other than commercial purposes and opportunities for these workers to earn modest cash incomes through part time or season employment in small industrial enterprises. The part time work is expected to be provided by highway projects or work in state parks and forests.

Mr. Hopkins is stopping in Atlanta on his way from Miami, where he has been vacationing, to Washington, and may arrive in Atlanta tonight.

Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia administrator, and her assistant, Miss Louise Fitzsimmons, will represent the state at the conference.

Others to be in attendance are: Arkansas—Director, W. R. Dyess. Alabama—Miss Loula Dunn, head of the social service division; Ray Crow, chief engineer; Miss Mary Weber, head of women's work; Donald Comer, of the state relief administration.

North Carolina—Mr. Thomas O'Berry, state administrator; Dr. Roy M. Brown and Dr. Howard Odum, of the University of North Carolina; Dr. Clarence Fox, editor of the Progressive Farmer, Raleigh.

Mississippi—George B. Power, director of the state welfare board.

Florida—Walter Wilbur, director of relief; Julius F. Stone, acting CWA administrator.

Tennessee—Walter L. Simpson, state administrator.

Virginia—William A. Smith, administrator; Miss Ella Agnew, director of women's work; Miss Margaret Wolf, director of social service bureau.

Louisiana—Harry J. Early, director of state relief.

South Carolina—O. M. Clark, Clemson College; R. E. Sims, Chester; Julian H. Scarborough and Harry B. Reed, Columbia; Mayor Ben H. Brown, Spartanburg, chairman of the state relief council; Mayor R. M. Kennedy Jr., Camden, member of the council; R. M. Porter, state CWA engineer; Miss Leila G. Johnson, director of social service bureau; Mrs. E. R. Barrow, director of women's work, and Malcomb J. Miller, administrator.

Texas—Adam R. Johnson, state relief director; E. A. Bauch, CWA engineer; Mrs. Margaret Conner, T. O. Walton, president A. & M. College; Dr. Bradford Knapp, president Texas Tech, and Frank Holland, of Dallas, publisher of Holland's magazine.

Fine Progress Is Reported In Life Insurance Campaign

Hurd J. Crain, president of the Atlanta Life Underwriters' Association; Sam Carson, president of the Atlanta Life Managers' Club, and Walter Powell, campaign director, who are taking leading parts in the financial independence week campaign here.

Walter Powell, chairman of the financial-independence-week campaign to be waged locally from March 19 to 24, reported Saturday that he had received enthusiastic co-operation and had already made extensive plans for the observance.

This movement was launched last Wednesday at a meeting of the Atlanta Life Managers' Club. Serving with Mr. Powell on the campaign committee are N. Baxter Maddox, Frank Akers and H. M. Powell. A meeting of the committee will be held Monday at which further discussion of the campaign will be held.

Mr. Powell said that several leading business concerns had given the use of their show windows to the campaign and that a large banner announcing it would be suspended across Five Points. The Retail Credit Company has called its employees' attention to the week and is giving it wide publicity.

"Many persons have called on me and offered their services," Mr. Powell added, "and we are receiving fine co-operation, better even than we had expected. Everything points to a very successful campaign."

The home offices of the leading insurance companies have appropriated $100,000 for newspaper advertising during the week. Four half-page advertisements will appear in 231 newspapers, including those in Atlanta and other Georgia cities.

These advertisements will carry but little about life insurance, but will call attention to a booklet written by Bruce Barton, advertising expert, entitled "What I Have Learned About Life Insurance."

Agents may obtain these booklets either from their home offices or from headquarters of the National Life Underwriters' Association. These will be distributed free to the public.

There will be no national radio broadcasting but there may be a limited wives will leave the latter part of the week for a short stay in Miami and Hollywood, Fla., where they will be the guests of Colonel Sandy Beaver, of Gainesville, chief of the military staff.

Governor Dave Sholtz, of Florida, and Governor B. M. Miller, of Alabama, also will be in Miami during the Georgians' stay there.

A special program in honor of the governors and other guests is being planned by Miami and Hollywood officials.

DR. R. G. LEE TO SPEAK IN ATLANTA TONIGHT

Pastors and Officials Will Hear Address by Noted Memphis Pastor.

Dr. R. G. Lee, pastor of Bellevue Baptist church, Memphis, will speak on the subject, "The Place, Opportunity and Responsibility of the Church and Church Officials in This Time," at a meeting of pastors and officials of Atlanta churches at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the First Presbyterian church, under auspices of the Christian Council.

The meeting will be the first of a series planned by the Christian Council to bring together the different groups of workers in the churches upon whom rest the privilege and responsibility of directing and carrying into execution the activities of the various departments of the churches.

Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, president of the Christian Council, said that in so far as he has been able to discover, this will be the first meeting of its kind held in Atlanta. Dr. Lee, the speaker, is not only a successful pastor, but is a student of the times, a dynamic speaker who is in constant demand throughout the south, and an author of note.

NOTED ATLANTA TENOR WILL SING WEDNESDAY

James C. Calhoun, Atlanta tenor who is to appear next season with the Chicago Opera Company, will be presented in a recital at the Atlanta Studio Club's quarters, at 104 1-2 Forsyth, N. W., at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The recital will follow the club's regular Wednesday afternoon tea of the club. Mr. Calhoun will be accompanied by Miss Margaret Battle, who directed his musical education.

SOUTH BEATS PATH TO DOOR OF "MIRACLE MAN" OF HEALTH

More Than 1,800 Sick and Infirm Received Treatment Last Month. Sufferers of Various Ills Tell of Their "Miracles."

By GEORGE MERRITT.

Once in every decade, it seems, there rises from the masses a genius, a master, a "miracle man" who through his ability or powers wins followers innumerable.

Such a man has risen in Atlanta to a prominence which is attracting nationwide attention. From surrounding states, from far-away points, and endless numbers of residents of Atlanta, men, women and children wend their way to the modest offices where the "miracle man" performs his wonders.

Only by word of mouth has his fame spread. No blare of trumpets was necessary for his reputation to spread. Like unto a rumble of thunder his prowess has reverberated, his healings have been told and retold.

It seems as though the world has made a beaten path to his door. From early morning till late at night, the sick and the lame find his clinic a haven of relief.

There seems to be no words so fitting to describe Dr. Barron other than to call him "the miracle man," for by that name is he known to hundreds who sing his praises.

It was eight years ago that Dr. Charles F. Barron came to the South. He opened a small office, hung out his shingle, and started practicing.

For almost seven years his efforts went unrewarded, his practice growing only slowly. However, he continued his research and in Dr. Barron's own words, "It was only last year that I finally discovered a successful treatment for all the so-called diseases."

Seven years he spent in working on one thought. A successful treatment for the sick and infirm. How well he has succeeded is evidenced by the fact that during the month of February more than two thousand treatments were given.

Dr. Barron claims no "given gift," nor does he consider his ability to relieve suffering from neuritis, arthritis, sciatica and other dreaded infirmities, anything other than the result of the fact that "he finds the seat of the trouble, and then treats the cause. When the cause of the trouble is remedied, then the pain and suffering ends."

In speaking of the wonderful success he has had in bringing relief to thousands of sufferers from acid trouble, stomach pains, and nervous disorders and many other ailments, Dr. Barron says: "There must be a cause for every effect. Otherwise there would be no trouble. Instead of diagnosing a treatment for the trouble and pain, I simply find the beginning of the disorder and then relieve the cause."

Due to the unusual number of patients suffering from heart trouble, headaches and rheumatic pains it has been necessary for Dr. Barron not only to remodel his clinic at 28 Peachtree Arcade, but his son, Dr. C. Spencer Barron, came to Atlanta from Dallas, Texas, to assist his father in his practice.

Day in and day out, the Barron Health Clinic on the lower floor of Peachtree Arcade, is the scene of most unusual happenings. Patients hobble in, some come in wheel chairs, some are assisted by friends and loved ones. His treatment for foot troubles is more than miraculous.

From his office at No. 28 to the steps of the Peachtree Arcade is a distance of about 100 feet. There is a stairway of about five feet. After some treatments for foot trouble, Dr. Barron has sent the patient out to run up and down the steps.

It all sounds like a fairy tale. It may sound to you like a page torn out of fiction. It would have to me, too, but I have seen it, and although I may not be able to describe it to everyone to witness it first hand, hundreds bear testimony to his ability to perform seeming "miracles."

For your own satisfaction, let's glance at a few of the statements:

Feb. 28, 1934.

To Whom It May Concern: Approximately four years ago my daughter began complaining that her right leg, especially the knee, hurt her. This continued for a time until it was noticeable that the entire leg was failing to develop equal to the other leg. I made every effort to find some correction of the trouble but could get no satisfactory explanation of the cause or relief of the condition. Various treatments failed, including mechanical braces and supports and special shoes.

The final results of all our efforts and expense was a leg shriveled away till there was practically no flesh and no apparent blood circulation. The cords contracted and began pulling the leg and foot out of shape. The foot flattened out, and my daughter, growing absolutely rigid, failed to gain in growth and weight, slept poorly, was extremely nervous and complained of pain in her back. This caused her to have difficulty in keeping up with her school work.

I was finally recommended to go to Dr. Charles F. Barron, of 28 Peachtree Arcade, Atlanta, Ga., and having heard from other sources about this time of the wonderful work he was doing, I took my daughter to him.

Dr. Barron pronounced my daughter's trouble as Spastic Paralysis, explained the cause and necessary treatment. I put my daughter under his treatment. In a short time she was able to take off her mechanical appliances and walk in comfort. Her health improved, her appetite returned and her nervous condition and pains disappeared. In time the blood started circulating in her affected leg, the cords relaxed and the flesh started to grow. She regained the use of the muscles in her foot. Today she can run about and the leg is shapely. It will take some time for the foot to outgrow its distorted condition, but it is improving steadily. I realize now if I could have had my daughter in Dr. Barron's care at the beginning she would never have gotten into the condition she did. The fact that Dr. Barron could restore so much for her in the comparatively short time this recovery was accomplished, after all the failures I had met with, is really a miracle. It is with this thought in mind I am writing this letter after another, including some other person to a way out of such afflictions. Dr. Barron may use this letter in any way he sees fit. (Signed) MRS. S. S. COSBY, Address, 1533 Jonesboro Road.

598 Williams St., N. W., Feb. 24, 1934.

To Whom It May Concern: I have for some time wanted to show my appreciation for what Dr. C. F. Barron, of Dr. Barron's Health Clinic, 28 Peachtree Arcade, Atlanta, Ga., has done for me, and am taking this opportunity to thank Dr. Barron, with the further hope that my experience as herein stated will be of use and benefit to others.

A few years back my health started to break. I was bothered with one little trouble after another, including terrible headaches from which I could get no permanent relief. Little by little my physical condition ran down and I became subject to terrible colds. Neuritis in the neck and shoulders set in, causing me considerable pain. My back and sides hurt me at times. I could not bend over. I was advised my liver was causing me trouble and that I had developed high blood pressure.

Various doctors and treatments brought about little if any results. I had taken so much medicine that even cathartics began to fail me. Finally I collapsed and had to stop work. I now feel that I was in a very bad state of mind and that I was diagnosed nervous breakdown. I was told to rest and go away somewhere for a change.

It was at this time I went to Dr. Barron. He found the real cause of my trouble immediately and in a short time under his specialized treatment I began to improve greatly. My pains and aches disappeared. I began to improve all around till I had been to my normal state of health. While treating at Dr. Barron's I was much impressed with the large clientele that go to him and the success he obtained in their various ailments. I recommend Dr. Barron to all.

Yours very truly, J. L. SWILLING.

Hapeville, Ga., Feb. 11, 1934.

To Whom It May Concern: For three months I suffered terribly with sciatic rheumatism; could scarcely walk and I failed to get relief from other methods.

A friend of mine told me of Dr. Barron's wonderful success in treating various nervous and rheumatic troubles. After taking his treatment I now feel entirely well and most enthusiastically recommend Dr. Barron's treatment to anyone suffering with rheumatism.

MRS. A. F. REEVES.

P. S. You may use this letter or any part of it in any way you see fit.

MRS. A. F. REEVES.

Hapeville, Ga., Nov. 18, 1933.

Dear Sir: I am sending you this testimony to let you know how much I appreciate what you have done for me.

This past summer I was told by various doctors that I had appendicitis and must be operated on. We called Dr. Barron and after one treatment I was relieved from my suffering. After taking his treatment I have not had another attack since. I now weigh eight pounds more than I've ever weighed before. I feel better now than I've felt in three years.

I want to thank Dr. Barron for what he has done for me and for other suffering people.

Sincerely, SARA STRICKLAND.

P. S. Dr. Barron may use this letter in any way he wishes.

July 12, 1933.

Dear Dr. Barron:

For the remarkable and permanent relief you have given me from arch trouble I wish to thank you with the deepest sincerity. I realize the great benefit your Clinic could be to others that suffer with the same affliction.

My trouble with my feet dates back fifteen years. I have bought and used almost every type of corrective shoe. Some hurt me worse, while some gave a little relief, but I always got back into the same painful condition. I had the same experience with various appliances, including arch supports. Nothing gave me permanent relief.

I was fortunate enough to start treatment with you, and after the first treatment I discarded my arch supports which I know I will never need again. I was relieved at once of pain, was comfortable through the treatment, and now enjoy all the comfort and ease of a normal foot.

An annoying and persistent case of "athletic" foot trouble which had bothered me for years also disappeared with the first of your treatments for my feet. Your corrected case of neuritis and migraine headaches, which had been bothering me for some time, and in view of the good work you did for me, I endorse sincerely your Clinic, your treatments and yourself.

Truly yours, F. M. ARCHIBALD.

P. S. You may use this for publication if you wish.

F. M. ARCHIBALD.

305 Boulevard, N. E., Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 16, 1934.

Dr. C. F. Barron's Health Clinic, 28 Peachtree Arcade, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:

For fifteen years I suffered with my back, nerves, palpitation of the heart and sick headaches. It would be impossible for me to describe the chronic disease which tormented me every day of my life. After taking treatment from doctors in South Georgia, Florida and North Carolina, it seemed impossible for me to ever be well again.

A few weeks ago, after suffering several days from severe headaches, I decided to call Dr. Barron, who was convincing in his treatment in several infantile paralysis cases. A free clinic has recently been operated for those afflicted with this trouble.

In less than a week after starting the treatment, not only I, but all who knew me, noticed a big improvement. My skin had cleared, I had a better appetite, slept well all night long and my nerves were so much

Dr. C. F. Barron, Peachtree Arcade, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Dr. Barron:

I want to express my thanks to you, for what you have done for me, in order that anyone else having had infantile paralysis may have a chance to be treated by you.

About fourteen years ago, I had a stroke, which affected my left leg and arm, and which left them practically useless. I could walk all right by dragging my leg, but I would have to have my left shoe half-soled practically every two weeks.

My arm was much smaller than my other one and the hand and fingers were shrunken. I could not move a finger on my left hand.

A friend of mine two months ago, asked me to allow you a chance to see if you could do me any good. You know the rest, but I want to write you this letter so you can let any other paralysis victim see if you can help them.

Today I can move every finger on my hand. I can open a door with my left hand. I have not had a half-sole on my shoe in sixty days. My fingers have started growing larger, and so has my arm. They are much stronger, and I am sure that in a short time I will be practically well.

How you have done this after a fourteen-year lapse I do not know, but the fact remains that you have accomplished what seems to me and every one who knows me, "a miracle."

You may use this letter as you see fit, and I will be glad to give further statements and evidence to anyone else who has had an infantile paralysis stroke.

Thanking you for what you have done for me, I am,

Yours very truly, HOWARD HOLMES,

16 Lakewood Terrace, January 27th, 1934.

better I just felt like the burden had been lifted.

Now, after taking the treatments for thirty days, I am confident that the cause of these troubles have been corrected.

I feel very grateful for the results obtained and cannot recommend your Clinic too highly.

Dr. Barron may use this as he sees fit.

Yours very truly, MRS. W. G. BROWN,

305 Boulevard, N. E., Feb. 8, 1934.

Dr. Barron's Health Clinic, 28 Peachtree Arcade Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Dr. Barron:

Because of the wonderful results I obtained at your clinic through the treatments you gave me I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation. The results you got for me, as were the results I saw you get in others, so worthy of the best of mention, that I hope this letter will be instrumental in sending other sufferers to you, and you may use it as you see fit.

While living in Carrollton, Ga., for over four years past, I had been growing steadily worse with troubles no one seemed able to overcome. I had several doctors and treatments and was told I had Angina Pectoris of the heart, stomach and kidney trouble and nervous indigestion. I was toxic most of the time, with severe headaches and various other aches and pains. Nothing but a little relief at times was ever accomplished for me. Finally I broke down entirely and my heart got in a very dangerous condition. I could not stand the exertion of walking even a short distance. Treatment at a hospital did not relieve this condition.

About this time I was recommended to Dr. Barron. On examination he told me not only what my troubles were, but what caused them. His method of diagnosis was different from any I had ever known before and on listening to his explanation, I began to realize why I had never gotten over it. I now saw how necessary it was to remove causes instead of treating symptoms.

I started taking treatment under Dr. Barron's direction. I was as good as dead at the time. I was in first treatment, also how easily he removed pains. As the treatments went on I gained steadily till now I can go about as I wish, am not troubled with illness and am gaining my full strength rapidly. I endorse Dr. Barron and his treatments thoroughly.

Sincerely yours, MRS. JOEL L. ASHMORE,

690 Pulliam St., S. W., Hapeville, Ga., Oct. 27, 1933.

To Whom It May Concern:

Ten years ago my left knee started giving me trouble. When I would make an awkward step my knee would come out of place. I went to some of the best doctors in Atlanta and they told me I would never be cured and suggested that I buy a rubber brace to wear all the time, which was very uncomfortable.

One evening about 6 o'clock my knee popped out of place. I suffered great pain with it until about 8 o'clock, and one of my friends recommended Dr. Barron to me. I live about seven blocks from his office, so I decided to go. My husband helped me to walk up there. I was almost exhausted from pain when I arrived.

Dr. Barron took me for a treatment. I could not bear to lift up my foot. When he placed me on the table my husband had to raise my foot for me. After about two minutes' treatment he raised me from the table and I could walk without any pain at all as good as I had ever walked before.

I gladly give this information, and hope it will benefit some one who is suffering.

Yours sincerely, MRS. FRED L. BANKS,

751 Virginia Ave., Hapeville, Ga.

P. S. Dr. Barron may publish this letter, or any portion of this letter, he sees fit.

It is hard to believe, I know, but as Mr. Ripley says, "believe it or not."

You may obtain your own proof by a visit to the Barron Health Clinic at 28 Peachtree Arcade. Even more convincing is his treatment in several infantile paralysis cases. A free clinic has recently been operated for those afflicted with this trouble.

Just as his method of treatment is so different, so is his method of payment. His fees are very modest. If it is no wonder Atlanta and the South is making a beaten path to the door of Dr. Charles Barron.

TRANSPORTATION KILLS POSTER OUT

Strict Regulation of Water and Motor Carriers Urged by Eastman.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(AP)—

Strict regulation of water and motor transportation under the interstate commerce commission was recommended to congress today by Joseph B. Eastman, transportation co-ordinator, as the only means of solving transportation troubles.

He recommended early passage of laws bringing steamship lines and truck bus operators under the commission which for 49 years has more or less ruled the railroads.

Eastman pointed out that since 1920, when the transportation act was passed, vast amounts of capital have been poured into motor truck and bus lines and airplane lines as well as waterways.

This situation, he said, has been growing more acute, and "not only imperils the financial stability of the national transportation system, but it threatens the wages and working conditions of labor and it creates a demoralization in rates and charges which in the long run is a menace to commerce and industry."

Following closely recommendations made by the interstate commerce commission two years ago in reporting to congress its study of the bus and truck problem, Eastman attached to his report a bill for regulation of motor vehicles, one for regulation of steamship and other domestic water carriage and another making minor amendments to the interstate commerce act.

The most important change in the latter bill would modify the long and short haul section to give the commission more latitude in allowing railroads to lower rates for long trips.

Eastman's report was based on studies of experts in the co-ordinator's office.

In need of guide, he said, "that in the transportation industry including the other agencies as well as the railroads is in need of the guiding hand of government control."

A warning was issued that the transportation industry is being transformed into order, and this is the conclusion that has been reached quite generally in other countries.

The object of such control is not the protection of the railroads, but the proper protection of every form of transportation. They all have their parts to play, for each one of them is a link in the chain of commerce.

The problem is to find their appropriate functions, protect them in the performance of such functions, prevent waste and duplication of service, and to insure that competition is as economical, sound, and promote a system of stable rates which will reflect the lowest costs of good service.

While living in Carrollton, Ga., for over four years past, I had been growing steadily worse with troubles no one seemed able to overcome. I had several doctors and treatments and was told I had Angina Pectoris of the heart, stomach and kidney trouble and nervous indigestion. ## Resources of $111,000,000 Shown by 226 Georgia Banks

WILLIAM H. ABBOTT TO BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for William Henry Abbott, 74, former Fulton county tax receiver, who died late Friday night at his residence at 629 Cascade avenue, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel.

The 226 state banks and their nine branches in Georgia had resources of $111,778,683.08 and liabilities of a like amount on December 31, 1933, R. E. Gormley, state superintendent of banking, reported Saturday after an examination of the condition of the institutions.

Deposits totaled $77,883,015.07. The cash and other resources easily convertible into cash were listed at $3,000,000. This, Mr. Gormley said, indicated that the institutions were more than 50 per cent liquid.

In a statement accompanying the report of his examination, Mr. Gormley said that the banks have made generally good progress in the last year and reported that he was satisfied with that progress.

His statement follows, together with an abstract of the condition of the state institutions:

The condition of Georgia banks indicated by attached abstract, reflects an improvement over the condition existing a year ago, which is gratifying. State banks generally have made fine progress in the past 12 months in liquidating slow or frozen loans and while the net decrease in loans and discounts from December 30, 1932, amounts to only about $7,000,000, liquidation in a much greater amount has been effected.

It will be noticed that in addition to $23,000,000 of actual cash on hand, Georgia banks have invested in securities, cotton and other commodities and items which are clearable, approximately $20,000,000 more. This gives Georgia state banks cash and resources readily convertible into cash amounting to over $43,000,000. This figure is a very liberal estimate of the actual cash position of the banks.

It will also be noticed the capital position in Georgia state banks as regards ratio of capital to deposit liability is very favorable. In addition to $11,000,000, or a total capital structure of over $27,000,000 against a deposit liability of $77,000,000, a ratio of less than one for three. While it is true the capital position of some few specific banks is inadequate, the average capital position is well within the ratio required by federal reserve authorities of national and federal reserve member banks.

The majority of banks in Georgia are in position to function normally as regards administration of credit needs to their respective communities. There is no doubt but that all banks will pursue a conservative policy in extending credit, at least until earnings and paying ability are more definitely assured.

Mr. Abbott was known as "Uncle Ben" to a wide circle of friends. In Ben Hill, Ga., where he lived before moving here, he was a school teacher, merchant and farmer. There he married Miss Cora Wood. He is survived by his wife; a daughter and two sons, and three grandchildren.

Costner Admits Part In Charlotte Holdup

CHICAGO, March 10.—(AP)—Isaac Costner, state witness in the trial of Basil "The Owl" Banghart for the kidnapping of John Factor, today admitted that he had taken part in the $110,000 robbery at Charlotte, N. C., last November.

Two of his companions in the robbery, he said, were Charles "Ice Bag" Connors and a Ludwig Schmidt, both of whom are fugitives from justice. While not directly naming Banghart as the fourth man in the mail robbery, he said that Banghart was in Charlotte that night.

Costner had admitted he waived extradition from Baltimore and agreed to testify here upon the dropping of several charges against him. He admitted he got around $25,000 for his part in the Charlotte mail robbery.

Ex-Gov. Bilbo Opens Campaign for Senate

JACKSON, Miss., March 10.—(AP)—The shake-rattle-and-roll of a flapper, trailing for neck tie and a diamond-studded horseshoe stickpin, signalled the informal opening of two-former Governor T. G. Bilbo's campaign for the United States senate in the primaries next summer against Senator Hubert D. Stephens, incumbent.

It will be a 22-hour-a-day campaign, said Bilbo after he had breezed in from his former position with the administration in Washington.

In the twenty-fourth hour, the candidate said, he would get "a little sleep and rest."

Ellsworth May Start Again Toward Pole

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—(AP)—Undaunted by failure of his antarctic expedition a few months ago, Lincoln Ellsworth, explorer, may start another this fall, he said today.

A definite decision will be made after Pilot Bernt Balchen arrives here March 20 with the plane Polar Star, which was wrecked in the last year's expedition in the breakup of an ice pack in Ross sea, near Admiral Byrd's Little America base.

It repairs on the plane can be made in time, Ellsworth said he and Balchen will make another attempt to fly across Antarctica—a 5,000,000-square-mile region.

"It is incredible that the world does not realize the vastness of Antarctica," the explorer said. "Here is a continent of an area of 1,000,000 square miles, greater than that of Europe, and 90 per cent of it has not been explored."

The measure now goes to conference with the house whose bill provides only for cattle.

The amendments voted by the senate add peanuts, flax, rye, barley and grain sorghum, to the list of basic commodities to receive AAA benefits and authorize an appropriation of $150,000,000 for eradication of diseased cattle, government purchase and transfer of dairy cows to farms lacking such stock for domestic needs, and for feeding the needy.

Young Robbers, Killers Arraigned for Pleas

DEDHAM, Mass., March 10.—(AP)—In the courtroom that witnessed the inception of the Sacco-Vanzetti case, three young men branded by the prosecution as the next generation of killers in Massachusetts, pleaded not guilty today to charges of robbery and murdering two policemen.

WILEY JONES DIES OF BULLET WOUND

Widely Known Furniture Man Succumbs at Hospital; Services Monday.

Wiley I. Jones, 58, widely known furniture man, died Saturday afternoon at Emory University hospital of a rifle wound in the chest which he, dependent because of continued ill health, inflicted while in his home last Thursday.

Mr. Jones resided at 1225 Clairmont avenue, Decatur. Members of his family found him early Thursday morning after hearing a shot and took him to the hospital immediately. He failed to rally and succumbed at 3:55 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

A native of America, where he was born April 18, 1876, Mr. Jones had resided in Atlanta virtually all his life. For 30 years he was associated with Atlanta retailers as manager of the furniture departments. He filled that position with Rich's, Inc., Chamberlain-Johnson-DuBose Company and the furniture departments of Phillipsian's. His latest business connection was with Sam Zaban in the management of the Central Auction Company.

Mr. Jones was widely popular in Atlanta business life and was prominently known in the eastern furniture markets, where he traveled frequently as a representative of Atlanta dealers.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes, Dr. D. P. Metcalfe, pastor of the Decatur Presbyterian church, will conduct the service and interment will be in the Decatur cemetery.

Mr. Jones was a member of the Decatur Lodge of Masons. He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Virginia Shepard, of Ohio, whom he married in 1908; a daughter, Miss Elizabeth Jones; a brother, Louis Jones, of Atlanta; and three sisters, Mrs. Lelia Fetter, of Atlanta; Mrs. Homer Brown, of Macon, Ga.; and Mrs. Jack Woolridge, of Hartford, Connecticut.

U. S. WILL START HOUSING PROGRAM HERE IN 6 WEEKS

apartments after they are built and see that the right groups benefit.

In stressing the importance of local control, Brown Saturday said it was the hope of federal authorities that the 1935 session of the Georgia assembly would authorize establishment of housing authorities as a dozen other states have done. He intimated that when such a body had been set up, the government would turn Techwood over to it to operate.

Techwood will provide 600 housing units, and a dormitory will be constructed near Georgia Tech to house 350 students. There will be three parks if plans of sponsors, including Palmer and Dr. M. L. Brittain, of Georgia Tech, who also is a member of trustees of Techwood, Inc., are consummated. Emory University and Tech alumni will co-operate in utilization of about two acres at Techwood drive and North avenue for one of the parks for tennis courts and a playground, if the program is realized.

The plans for the university housing project provide for over 600 apartments of from two to five rooms each, equipped with modern conveniences. The construction will be in progress throughout the year.

Government Takes Over Two Slum Clearance Programs Here

UNIVERSITY HOUSING PROJECT
EDWARDS & SAYWARD ARCHT. CO. - FREDERICK EMMERS
-1934-

WASSI PERSPECTIVE
HOUSING PROJECT NO. 140
ATLANTA

University, said Saturday night that development would bring realization of his ideals of many years. It will give unusual advantages to negroes desiring good housing in a wholesome community at moderate cost, he said, and at the same time it will give employment to hundreds of skilled and unskilled negro workmen. It will, he added, carry still further the cultural surroundings of the several negro institutions of learning in this community.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 workmen will be given jobs from 10 to 12 months in construction of the joint projects.

Co-operation of the city of Atlanta in the development will be sought during the week, Palmer said Saturday.

Several streets must be closed in order that the plans for the unit can be pushed; handling of the parks is another matter which will be discussed with the parks committee of council, and rezoning of several stretches must be effected in order to protect the properties. The aid of the streets committee and the planning commission, therefore must be solicited. Council will be asked to approve the projects.

As a governmental property Techwood will be free from city, county or state taxation, but the government, desirous of working in harmony with local governments and solicitors about not entering into competition with privately owned properties, is considering offering the city a "quid pro quo" in lieu of taxes. That will take the form of a service charge, which will be self-imposed, and will be for police, fire, sanitary and other services such as schooling for the families who will occupy the buildings.

Everyone affiliated with the project Saturday stressed the desire of the government to co-operate and not to enter into competition with private business.

Competition Planned.

"There has been some apprehension on the part of apartment house owners that we planned to enter into competition against them," Palmer said Saturday. "We propose to take only those persons who do not now occupy apartments in the better sections, and those whose standard of living cannot afford such apartments. Apartment house owners will be protected amply, and have nothing to fear. This is not a competition to private business."

"Atlanta has been selected as the proving ground for housing projects which are being pushed throughout the country. We should feel proud of our designation in this respect. We are in a strategic position, and the eyes of the nation are focused on Atlanta."

"As we do in this matter, other cities will do. The federal government, I am told, plans to expend many millions of dollars in similar developments, but it wants to know how they will work out."

"No greater development ever came to Atlanta. About one cent of the negro population will be removed from the Techwood area through the new development. Studies in Cleveland

Atlanta University and Techwood rehousing developments, undertaken Saturday by the federal government at a cost of $5,100,000. The university plan is at the top, and Edwards & Sayward are the architects. Techwood (below) was visualized by Burge & Stevens, architects. Actual work on the projects can be begun within six weeks with co-operation of property owners, C. F. Palmer, head of have shown that while a similar stretch as Techwood paid only $100,000 a year in taxes, it cost about $300,000 a year to police it; to protect it against fire and to furnish hospitalization for the inhabitants of the section.

"With the standard of living raised, Techwood will be a boon to Atlanta. It now pays only $4,500 a year into municipal coffers in taxes and it costs many times that figure to give it needed civic services, which Atlanta furnishes."

"High-class residential sections are not so expensive. Techwood is destined to be a real asset to Atlanta. It will furnish employment to several thousand men. It will unleash millions of dollars in trade channels. It will provide at least two and probably three new recreational centers. It will help Atlanta to recover and back to normalcy. It will reclaim a district which is in a sadly dilapidated condition and place modern type of buildings on the tract. There are 275 separate pieces of property involved in the Techwood and university developments."

"The government is attempting to pay a fair price for the properties. It wants, first, to protect the property owner, and second, to protect the interest of the government. It will not allow any property owner to hold up the development, however. If an agreement cannot be reached, it proposes to use its power of eminent domain to condemn it at the appraisal price set by its local appraisers."

H. Tudor Morsell, land purchasing officer of the federal emergency housing corporation, will make the actual purchases of land, and M. Drew Carr, regional projects manager, of the developments.

For the past four years, Morsell has been affiliated with Frederick Delano, an uncle of President Roosevelt, in land for the federal government, D. C. developments. He has wide experience in such work.

Carr is a vice president of the Ulen Construction Company, of the east. His firm reconstructed the waterworks system of Athens, Greece, at a cost of $12,000,000, and rebuilt several towns in central and southern Europe at the close of the World War.

Britain Favors Park.

Dr. Brittain Saturday favored the park at Techwood and North avenue, say "it will give Tech breathing room and be a splendid adjunct to our facilities."

Kohn Saturday pointed out that active government participation will result in substantial savings as follows:

1. Cash purchase of the land instead of part cash and part government debentures;

2. Savings in fees for services;

3. Material and sub-contract or purchases without part participation in second lien paper;

4. Interest at 4 per cent on the 100 per cent cost of the project instead of 4 per cent on the government loan and 6 per cent on the equity.

"These savings should make possible a substantial reduction in the average-rental per room," Mr. Kohn said.

"If it were not for the emergency and the desirability of expediting all work at the lowest possible cost, we would favor the continuance of the private corporation, because it has over 90 per cent of the property actually under option from over 100

Davison's 'School for Brides' Fashion Show, To Open Tuesday

Davison's will on Tuesday formally open a "school for brides," a unique feature which will be under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Mitchell, stylist for the International Silhouette Company. There have been "schools" for "scandal," "charm schools," "cooking schools," but never before, in Atlanta, at least, a school conducted solely for the training and enlightenment of prospective brides. It promises to do much to shed light on the "leap in the dark" that matrimony has always been touted to be.

Festive bridal atmosphere will be carried out throughout the store. On the second floor tables will be set for the "announcement luncheon" and the "bachelor's farewell dinner." On the third "the bride's maid's tea table" will be seen; on the fourth, "the wedding table," and on the fifth a table set for the "first breakfast."

The model apartment on the sixth floor will be decorated as the "honeymoon house" and gifts for the bride will be on display.

Every afternoon at 3:30 o'clock there will be a fashion show with eight lovely models wearing the newest fashions for the Easter bride. Immediately following the fashion show, Mrs. Lawrence Mitchell will talk on the following interesting subjects: Tuesday afternoon, "Breakfast for Two Wednesday, "How to Give a Bridge Luncheon" Thursday, "Guests for Dinner." Friday, "After the Show Buffet Supper." Brides-to-be, brides-to-be-someday and brides of yesterday are all cordially invited to attend Davison's "School for Brides."

Leaders To Redouble Work For Tornado Relief Fund

A simple statement that "if Atlantans realized the suffering and the real need for aid by the tornado victims at Bowdon, they would gladly contribute" was made Saturday by W. Eugene Harrington, director of the relief fund, while other Atlanta leaders planned a meeting Monday morning to redouble their efforts to raise $15,000.

Charles W. Carr, Red Cross field worker who is in charge of the area at Bowdon, said Saturday that between 1,200 and 1,500 persons received Red Cross relief as a result of the tornado which two weeks ago struck in eight Georgia counties, killing two persons at Bowdon and causing great property damage.

"I know of 18 persons living in a small house of two rooms and a kitchen," Carr said. "They represent three families who cannot continue to live under such crowded conditions."

The Red Cross worker is directing CWA employees in rebuilding and repairing damaged homes.

"A man, his wife and four children were living on a small farm near Bowdon," Carr said in telling of one case which the Red Cross will aid. "The separate owners, the construction plans practically completed, and local sentiment favoring the enterprise."

"Local groups constituting Techwood, Inc., will be continued as a self-perpetuating body, which may act as local agents through the construction period and later operate the completed property."

"After visiting the areas here, and going over in detail with Mr. Palmer the plans, I recommended the allocation to Techwood, Inc., be transferred to the Public Works Federal Emergency Housing Corporation, in the interests of a sounder financial enterprise, lower rents and immediate building progress."

man had a small home, mortgaged, and several barns and outhouses. The tornado destroyed every outhouse and barn and moved his home 10 feet off the foundations, twisting the building so that it has to be entirely rebuilt. Without aid this man cannot reconstruct his house and will be homeless."

Saturday the total fund raised in Atlanta was only $4,500, far short of the quota.

Mrs. Max E. Land, president of the Atlanta Women's Club, will preside at the meeting of women Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Woman's Club on Peachtree street. Efforts will be made to increase the committee and to complete the Atlanta quota for the storm fund. Donations can be made through The Constitution.

4 N. C. Bankers Lose Supreme Court Plea

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(AP)—Four Brevard (N. C.) men convicted of violating state banking laws made an unsuccessful effort yesterday to secure a supreme court stay order delaying their commitment to prison pending filing of a petition for a review of their case. This was learned today from supreme court attaches.

The four—Thomas H. Shipman, Joseph Pickelmeier, C. R. McNelly and Ralph Fisher—were refused a writ of habeas corpus in the North Carolina court last Monday and ordered to serve their two-to-three-year sentences each in state's prison at Raleigh, N. C. They were convicted of using Transylvania county's credit to bolster the tottering Brevard Banking Company.

FEDERAL POSITION IS ASSUMED HERE BY A. SIDNEY CAMP

Duties of assistant United States attorney for the northern district of Georgia, in charge of war risk insurance cases, were assumed Saturday by Albert Sidney Camp, of Newnan, former state legislator, commander of the Georgia department of the American Legion, following his commission by Attorney-General Cummings.

Mr. Camp succeeds Hal Lindsay, who is now in the private law office of law, United States Attorney Lawrence Camp, no relation of the new assistant district attorney, Saturday announced that other assistants in his office who were recommended for appointment will assume office within the next week or 10 days.

Assistant Camp was a delegate to the national democratic convention in New York in 1924, and managed Senator Richard B. Russell's campaign in several counties.

ILLNESS AMONG NEEDY SHOWS INCREASE HERE

Larger Number of Visits Made by Nurses on Staff of Administrator.

Illness among families on relief rolls showed a great increase during February, as shown by figures given out Saturday by Miss Ada M. Barker, Fulton county relief administrator.

According to Miss Lillian M. Bishop, supervisor of the district nursing service, communicable diseases, including measles, whooping cough, chicken pox and mumps, totaled 734 new cases and 850 old cases for the month of February. Cases of acute pneumonia totaled 194 out of 1,458 cases classified under morbidity. New maternity cases numbered 267, including 188 newborn babies for the month.

Due to the increase of cases, the staff of 50 white and 30 negro graduate nurses, which constitute the nursing staff, made a total of 10,363 home visits, an increase of 1,695 over the total for the preceding month.

Nurses engaged in the service attended lectures during the month given by Dr. Champney Holmes and Dr. William Kiser Jr., who dealt with tuberculosis among children. These nurses are also taking special courses of instruction through the extension department of the University of Georgia, the lectures covering abnormal physiology and English composition. These classes are held Tuesday and Friday evenings in the senior lecture room of Emory medical school, for white nurses, while Spellman College is giving the same course of study for negro nurses.

HARDWOOD LUMBERMEN TO MEET IN MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 10.—(AP) Problems which have arisen since the adoption of their code several months ago will be thrashed out by hardwood lumbermen from 17 states here Tuesday and Wednesday at the annual meeting of the Hardwood Manufacturers' Institute. More than 1,000 are expected to attend.

The session will be the first annual meeting of the Hardwood Manufacturers' Institute, Inc., code-enforcing agency for the Lumber Code Authority, Inc., in the southern and Appalachian regions.

2 TENNESSEANS GUILTY IN SLAYING OF FARMER

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 10.—(AP) H. L. Pendleton, of Kingsport, and Cecil Coon and Elgie Smith, of Dickson county, were convicted of first-degree murder in criminal court today on charges of slaying Lloyd C. Alley, Gate City, Va., farmer, near here last July.

The jury gave Pendleton and Coon 30-year prison sentences each, and Smith a 25-year sentence.

'GLOBE TROTTER' GETS STATIONS OF WORLD

Since the introduction of the new R. C. A.-Victor "Globe-Trotter" radios recently, Atlanta fans are getting thrills every day listening to the European and South American stations.

The model 240 is an eight-tube receiver that covers all wave bands from 550 to 18,000 kilocycles, which covers the 19, 25, 31, 49-meter bands that American and European stations are using at various times of the day and night.

The set also brings in all police radio calls and international short-wave programs, another distinct advantage in owning one of these "Globe-Trotters" is its ability to bring in the domestic short-wave stations which are operated by some of the large stations in America that are sending out their regular programs on various short-wave bands.

These programs will come in with enormous volume in daylight hours practically free from static and fading, at times when good reception is impossible on the regular broadcast band, the company said.

The unique new aeroplane-type dial is accurately calibrated so that one knows exactly where to look for any station on the short-wave log, which is furnished with the receiver.

In addition to its selectivity and ability to bring in the far-distant stations, R. C. A.-Victor Company has developed a fine tone quality.

Interesting among CWA projects of the Fulton county relief administration is the furniture shop at 26 Pror street. From a small shop used to refinish and repair old furniture for homes of relief families, the organization has developed into a modern and efficient furniture manufacturing and sign-painting department.

Work of the furniture shop is evidenced in practically every department of the relief administration. During the month of January, 250 articles of furniture were manufactured, including home and office furnishings, and even ornate checkersboards to be used for transient bureau recreational halls. More than 100 first-aid kits have been turned out and are in use by the safe department on CWA jobs. Bill posters and boards have also been constructed for the maintenance department.

Mr. Allen takes great pride in the quality of workmanship and has shown many visitors about the place.

LAWRENCE RICH JOINS ART AND JERRY SHOP

Lawrence Rich has joined the well-known uptown beauty shop of Art and Jerry at 146 Peachtree street.

He is rated as one of Atlanta's best-known and most expert hairdressers, and his connection will be interesting news to patrons of the shop.

The shop announced it specializes in individualized service at popular prices.

Its acquisition of Mr. Lawrence Rich is in line with its steady expansion of activities.

STUDY OF SALES TAX DENIED BY HAMILTON

State Treasurer George B. Hamilton Saturday issued a formal statement denying that he plans to visit Mississippi to study the sales tax of that state and its effects generally.

Mr. Hamilton Friday was quoted as saying he planned such a trip.

"According to articles in the press yesterday and today, it would seem that somebody is trying to add some new duties to the state treasurer. I am entirely too busy attending to the many duties of the office of state treasurer to give any time to any tax system or anything else that does not concern this office. I think the governor and the legislature are perfectly capable of handling any matters under their jurisdiction, much more so than I. If I can perform the duties of my office satisfactorily, I will certainly have all that I can do."

KIRBY PAGE TO SPEAK AT TWO GATHERINGS

Kirby Page, editor of The World Tomorrow, and internationally known as a lecturer and author, will speak at 10:45 o'clock this morning at the Peachtree Christian church and at 12:30 o'clock Monday will address a meeting of religious, educational and civic leaders in Rich's tea room.

Mr. Page, who is on the way to Texas to visit his mother, arrived in Atlanta Saturday and in the evening addressed an audience in the Peachtree Christian church. The congregation of the First Christian church will hear him tonight.

Reservations for the luncheon Monday may be made by calling Dr. D. P. McGachy at Dearborn 0253.

DR. W. B. DUNNING.

Clinics will convene at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, as follows: Dr. Edward Bartlett Spalding, of Detroit, "The Removable Partial Dental Restoration"; Dr. William B. Dunning, of New York, "The Management of a Dental Practice"; Dr. George B. Winter, of St. Louis, "Exodontia Technique," a motion picture, and Dr. Arthur H. Merritt, of New York, "Vincent's Infection and Periodontoclasia."

Tuesday's meeting will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning, with adjournment set for 11 o'clock. Dr. C. C. Howard is chairman of the mid-winter clinic committee.

DR. BROADY TO SPEAK AT COVENANT CHURCH

Dr. Joseph M. Broady, pastor of the Sixth Avenue Presbyterian church, Birmingham, is to be the guest speaker at the Men's Club meeting of the Covenant Presbyterian church, U. S. A., at Terrace drive and Peachtree road, on Monday night at 6:30.

Dr. Broady is a former vice moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., and is nationally known through his untiring work in behalf of the church.

"Dr. Broady," stated W. E. Mitchell, president of the Covenant Church's Men's Club, "has scores of friends in Atlanta who will want to attend this special meeting and all are cordially invited."

The church choir will be the guests of the congregation. Dr. Herman L. Turner, pastor of the Covenant church, is a lifelong friend of Dr. Broady's.

W. D. HOFFMAN NAMED HEAD OF NRA BOARD

J. A. Harper and Ford M. Hoffman Also Appointed to Adjustment Body.

Appointment of W. D. Hoffman, district manager of the Otis Elevator Company, as impartial chairman of the newly created NRA state adjustment board, was announced Saturday by W. L. Mitchell, executive assistant in the NRA office here. President Roosevelt made the appointment.

Born in New York city, Mr. Hoffman came here in 1910 as manager of the Atlanta office of the Otis Elevator Company. Mr. Hoffman has served in the city council, as president of the Chamber of Commerce and as a member of the school board.

The board will be composed of two other members—J. A. Harper, the selection of the Georgia Federation of Trades and Ford M. Kaufman, selected by the Georgia Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Mitchell will be executive secretary.

New teeth in the enforcement of NRA codes was seen Saturday in the announcement from Washington that the Northrup Master Dry Cleaners, of Savannah, had not only been deprived of their Blue Eagle and other insignia, but also had their case referred to the department of justice for action.

Notice of this action was conveyed in a telegram from John Swope, chief of the field section, NRA compliance division, to Dr. Andrew M. Soule, state director. He quoted a telegram from General Hugh S. Johnson to the Savannah concern directing it to surrender its Blue Eagle insignia to the postmaster, and to refrain from displaying it, because, he charged, the company had sold its services at less than the prices established for its area.

Mr. Swope added that the case had been referred to the department of justice. Hitherto NRA authorities have been satisfied with depriving offenders of their insignia.

WOFFORD ANNOUNCES UNIQUE ADVERTISING

Officials of the Wofford Oil Company have announced an extensive advertising campaign, the largest in its history, as an expression of confidence in the return of better business conditions.

This campaign is part of a program in the 32 states in which Pure Oil products are distributed, but is unique in that it is tailor-made for Georgia. Advertising men have hailed it as a radical departure from the old type of "national" advertising.

"By carefully surveying the needs of the dealers and marketing men in Georgia," said W. L. Moore, president of the Wofford Oil Company, "we have arrived at a sound policy for this area, and have already earmarked on this advertising."

A special feature of this campaign is an expense record book, which will be offered, through the newspapers, to every interested motorist. This book includes not only space for the recording of all car expenditures throughout the year, but also 20 pages of practical advice to the motorist. "We know the public is interested in the facts," said Mr. Moore, "Sincerity and helpfulness are the two cardinal virtues in all product advertising, and careful economy is the watchword of this new era in business."

Three Accused Youths Protected From Mob

JUNEAU, Wis., March 10.—(AP) Threats of lynching prompted police to rush three youths, held in a double killing, to the security of the state prison at Waupun early today. The district attorney received reports a mob was forming in Beaver Dam.

The three, Charles Kranz, 23; Jack Ter Lane, 19, and Edward Shoppe, 19, were transferred under heavy guard from cells in county jail here.

Their detention came after Emil Guse, 73-year-old farmer, was found shot to death, and Charles Becker, 32, fatally injured in a ditch near Beaver Dam Sunday. Police said they found Guse's purse in Kranz's room at Beaver Dam.

CHRISTIAN EXPLAINS REASON FOR OUSTER

R. P. Christian, auditor of the books of the city of Decatur for the past 16 years, Saturday issued a statement in connection with the termination of his service with the city. Christian said that the audit of the city books is let each year by contract, and that the present commission, of which J. C. Johnson is chairman, selected him on January 1, without any application on his part, to check the former clerk out and the new clerk in. After he was selected for this job, he signed a petition for the recall of two of the city commissioners, and "this fact will be sufficient explanation of the action of the commission in connection with the audit of the city account," he said.

PROF. RAYMOND MOLEY WILL SPEAK AT EMORY

Professor Raymond Moley, former member of President Roosevelt's "brain trust" and now editor of the weekly magazine, Today, will visit Emory university on April 23 and 24 for two addresses under the auspices of the Student Lecture Association and the Institute of Citizenship, Dr. C. B. Gosnell, director of the institute, announced Saturday.

Professor Moley will speak on Monday night, April 23, on the Emory campus, and on Tuesday night, April 24, in Atlanta. He will talk on the president's program. Dr. R. H. McLean is chairman of the lecture association.

LOCAL HAIRDRESSERS WILL MEET TUESDAY

Atlanta hairdressers will meet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock sharp at the Emory hotel to discuss the price fixing for service given. This question is now ready to be taken up by the NRA administrator.

Shop owners and operators are cordially invited to voice their opinion.

'SOCIETY BANDIT' FACES N. C. TRIAL

Banished From State in 1932, Youth, 23, Accused of Shooting Merchant.

MORGANTON, N. C., March 10.—(P)—Dwight Beard, 23, convicted hog stealer turned society bandit, college man and former boys' camp counselor, sits in jail here awaiting his trial on a robbery-murder charge.

A native of Lenoir, Beard was banished for five years from North Carolina in 1932 for hog-stealing. He went to St. Paul, Minn., where police said he posed as an influential society man in order to rob wealthy friends. Now he is accused of fatally shooting Augustus Bounous, Valdeese meat market proprietor, and robbing him of $1,400.

Twice Beard has been slated for trial but both times the case has miscarried. Now, a special term is looked for probably in the next several weeks.

And while Beard languishes in jail, Alvin Eller is in a prison camp serving a five to eight-year term for complicity in the case.

Eller was tried for the actual murder of Bounous and acquitted. Then he was tried on charges of receiving stolen goods—$400 of the money taken from the meat market man—and convicted.

Several weeks after the slaying Eller was apprehended in Los Angeles, where, police said, he named Beard as the actual killer.

Beard, meanwhile, had been banished for hog-stealing and had dropped from sight.

About this time a dashing young athlete calling himself "Daniel Haines," turned up in St. Paul. Shortly after his appearance various society persons fell prey to a mysterious robber. Police said the man had committed at least 63 holdups.

Finally an alert citizen shot the intruder and he was carried to a hospital suffering a superficial wound. Police found the man was Haines, who, they said, later admitted he was Dwight Beard. That was the latter part of last year.

So Beard was returned to this state and brought to trial. Eller, called on to testify against Beard, refused to do so on constitutional grounds and the trial was postponed.

Late in January the trial was called again but this time it was found that the one-week term would be too short and the case was delayed—probably until late March or early April.

It was only two weeks after Bounous was killed that Beard was banished from the state but at this time his name had not been linked with the slaying. It was several months later that Eller called Beard the trigger man in the robbery-killing. Beard denies this.

Weltner Trying To Teach Students Of Georgia Real Purposes of Life

By W. H. MOBLEY,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Chancellor Philip Weltner started an academic revolution in the Georgia university system by wondering "what is a college for anyhow?" The chancellor decided that the primary purpose of a college was to turn out young men and women with some real understanding of what life is all about, and of their own place in it—and that the formalized curriculum of tradition wasn't much help.

In general the result has been compression of what the university administration considered the basic essentials of a broad culture, into an integrated program of required work for the first two college years, with enough electives to fill the requirements of the individual student, the last two years being left free for concentration in the field of the student's choice.

The chancellor does not claim full responsibility, but his associates assign the credit to him.

The required courses fall into three groups—the physical and biological sciences, language and literature, and what Weltner calls "social intelligence." The whole program, Weltner said, has been built with the idea of giving every student a working background in these fields.

As nearly as the special nature of the schools will permit, the same requirements for the first two years have been set up in every unit of the university system.

Asked to explain the nature and purposes of the revision of curricula, Weltner started his answer with the question that caused it all.

"What is a college for anyhow?" "If you say its purpose is culture," he went on, "you haven't said anything—it would take a book merely to define your word."

"We took into consideration the fact that the schools are a part of the university system, and are not here for somebody's personal satisfaction."

"They are supported by the taxpayers and we felt that their main purpose was to make life a better and richer experience for everybody."

"The young men and women who come to us ought to go back to their homes with some real understanding of what life is all about and of their place in it, and with the ability to make it a more satisfying experience both for themselves and their communities."

"That may or may not involve a knowledge of the French language or of the higher branches of mathematics."

"But there are certain things it is bound to involve, and these are the central core of our program. If in addition a particular student needs other things, they are available in the electives."

"We are concentrating courses—not abolishing them—and educating for life and not for some traditional theory of what education is."

Through centuries of disorganized addition of courses, Weltner said, the traditional college course has become so cumbersome and so subdivided as to destroy all sequence and to make the steps toward a given goal uncertain and indirect.

The aim of the revision, he said, was achievement of a synthesis of the indispensable in the three basic fields of learning. He illustrated with the "social intelligence" group in which he said it was sought to give a student sufficient grounding in the valid guides of past experience, historical, social, political, and governmental, as to permit a rational understanding of present events and conditions, and reasonable planning for the future.

ROGERS' FOOD SHOW PLANS BEING MADE

With the Rogers pure food show but a few days over two weeks away, it is announced that plans are fast being shaped up for one of the greatest events of its kind ever staged in the south. Nearly a hundred of the foremost food manufacturers of the United States have signified their interest in the Rogers food show which commences on March 29 and runs through April 7.

The Junior League of Atlanta and the Atlanta Woman's Club are sponsoring the event and already have representative committees working on final arrangements and details. Both of these organizations are enthusiastically working with the Rogers stores and report that a great deal of interest has been evinced in the event this year.

In a statement made today by John W. Gates, nationally known food show director, in charge of the show, it was learned that several new companies had signed up for booths and that a representative display of their products would be on exhibit. Nearly a hundred of the foremost food manufacturers of the country have signified their interest in the Rogers show by taking booths and have planned elaborate and interesting displays.

"With these two splendid women's organizations sponsoring the show this year," stated Scott W. Allen, president of the Rogers stores, "we are looking for a bigger event than ever before. The live-wire concerns who are co-operating with us this year, having exhibits at the Palms Peachtree are to be complimented for their progressiveness in showing the housewives and others of Atlanta their latest products as well as many well-known brands of many years' prominence on the food market."

"We expect," continued Mr. Allen, "that the show will attract hundreds of interested Atlanta housewives. This feature of our show will be in charge of Miss Fern Snider, director of the home economics division, Georgia Power Company. Miss Snider is an economist and food expert of known ability and her daily sessions will be eagerly attended by visitors to the show."

In addition to the many interesting and instructive features of the show will be a fashion exhibit staged under the direction of the J. P. Allen Company. Mr. Allen announces that a number of importations have been made from the style centers of the country especially for the Rogers event and that they will be displayed on the last five days of the show.

In addition to all this, the Rogers company and the participating manufacturers have arranged for a number of gifts to those attending the event.

Car Taken by Bandits Is Found in El Paso

A white man was arrested in El Paso, Texas, Saturday in possession of a car stolen in Atlanta by abduction bandits and another Atlanta was the victim of "ride" robbers in the city early Saturday morning as bandits resumed activities after a lay-off of several days.

J. L. Harrison is being held by federal officers charged with transporting a stolen car. He was arrested in El Paso in possession of the automobile of J. H. Griswell, of Forest Park, who was taken for a ride and robbed on February 28. Harrison will be questioned here after he is returned.

E. A. Welch, of 1118 Stewart avenue, reported that a white man forced him into their car at Pryor and Garnett street and rode him to Lakewood Heights, where he was robbed of $18. The men beat him severely, he said.

Early Saturday Buddy Hayman, of 404 Pryor street, was beaten and robbed of $4.50 by two white men at the Forsyth school near Eugenia street, S. W.

No Cut Is Planned For CCC Companies

All of the 256 civilian conservation corps companies of the fourth army corps area will be maintained for another year, Major General George Van Horn Moseley, the corps commander announced Saturday.

General Moseley said that the companies would be kept up to full strength of 206 men each or approximately 51,000 men in the corps area. Of these, 201 companies are composed of southern men while the balance were recruited in New York and New Jersey.

The commander said that replacements would be recruited on April 1, July 1 and October 1. Until those members now enrolled determine whether or not they will continue in the corps, it cannot be ascertained the number of replacements which will be required.

When your kidneys are clogged and your bladder is irritated and passage scanty and often smart and burns you need Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules. A fine stimulant and diuretic that always works and costs but 35 cents at any modern drug store. It's one good, safe way to put healthy activity into kidneys and bladder—you'll sleep sound the whole night thru. But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL. You are assured of results.

Credit Ratings Stable in Atlanta During Depression, Gilbert Says

With the exception of a few wives change, says. He cited a case in which a husband came tearing into their spouses from worrying, the credit rating of most individuals has remained constant during good and bad business periods.

Ratings at the Atlanta Credit Exchange have not fluctuated more than 2 per cent within the past several years. Collections have been a little slower, perhaps, but people who were honest about incurring obligations before they had a lump sliced from their income, have remained that way. Debt worries most people, L. S. Gilbert, manager of the Atlanta exchange accounts they should use, and stick to those limits. Credit exchanges have no set charts to guide buyers on the amount of credit buying they may safely indulge in or the number of accounts that may be taken care of under a certain income. The most commonly accepted theory is to keep outstanding obligations within one month's income.

ANTI-CRIME RALLY SET MONDAY NIGHT

Co-operation of citizens with police to clear up crime in Atlanta will be asked at a mass meeting at 7:30 o'clock Monday night at the city auditorium, which is under the auspices of the Men of Justice. Atlanta city officials and ministers will discuss the advisability of deputizing between 500 and 1,000 citizens to augment the police force by organization of a night patrol of Atlanta's streets. C. O. Barrett heads the Men of Justice.

ALL-WAVE RADIOS GIVE BIG THRILL IN ENTERTAINMENT

J. C. Brown, Local Distributor, Says Programs
From All Over World
Bombard Aerials of American Homes.

"Strangers from all over the world are begging for admittance to American homes," declares J. C. Brown, of Brown Distributing Company, local Philco distributor. "Singers, symphonies, world figures and musical organizations of all kinds—artists of all nations—are bombarding the aeri-als of millions of radio listeners." Mr.
Brown says, "without being heard because of an antiquated radio receiver."

Mr. Brown explains that through its exceptional power and ability to tune to the short waves, a Philco all-wave radio provides the key which lets this great wealth of unheard entertainment into the home. He says:
"Many of the big broadcasting stations of the world use short wave transmitters to cover extreme distances inasmuch as these waves have the uncanny power of penetrating thousands of miles even in daylight.
These short waves from England,
France, Germany, Russia, Spain, Italy, South America and other countries are constantly striking the antennas of radio set owners all the time. Only a new Philco all-wave radio is necessary to unleash them in your own living room in an abundant of thrilling entertainment."
One loses much of the thrill of radio and a great deal of the entertainment he might have in the opinion of Mr. Brown, without a new Philco all-wave radio set.

ATLANTA
PHILCO All-Wave Radio brings in Europe, South America and other foreign stations

Mr. J. C. Brown, Pres.
Brown Distributing Co.,
665 Glenn St., S. W.
Atlanta, Ga.
Dear Mr. Brown:
On or about 9-16-33 I purchased from one of your local dealers, an All-Wave Philco Radio, Model 16X, and have derived so much real pleasure from same, especially on reception of foreign stations, that I feel that you would appreciate a few lines from me regarding the performance of this machine.
In the few months I have had same, I have brought in on loud speaker such stations as Berlin, Germany; Paris, France;
Sydney; Australia; Madrid, Spain; Rome, Italy; Moscow, Russia; Geneva, Switzerland, and one Japanese station.
These stations have come in not only once, but repeatedly, with good volume and true fidelity of tone, and if at any time I can speak a good word for the "Philco" I will certainly do so, for I would not trade mine for any other radio on the market today.
With very kindest regards, and wishing the Philco the business success it deserves, I remain,
Very truly yours,
(Name and address upon request)

Over Seas

By CHARLES E. HARNER,
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

LONDON—Britain's very rich are declining in number. Ninety-four persons are listed in the report of the commissioners of inland revenue for the year ended March 31, 1933, as having incomes exceeding 100,000 pounds (normally $500,000), as against 109 the year before.

Britishers with incomes exceeding 20,000 pounds (normally $100,000) declined to 897 in the year, compared with 1,160 in the preceding fiscal period.

While British people as a rule do not talk in terms of millions—which to them denotes persons with possessions valued at $5,000,000—but rather of incomes, it is estimated that Britain has some 140 millionaires. The commissioners' report shows 2,500,000 persons bore the British tax burden during the year, 8,000,000 persons in all having incomes above the tax exemption limit at that time but 4,500,000 of these being relieved from tax by the operation of allowances.

Total revenue produced during the fiscal period included 70,244,302 pounds (normally $351,220,000) from death duties, 250,559,973 (normally $1,252,800,000) from income tax, and 14,130,004 pounds (normally $70,650,000) from the surtax. A special levy on incomes of over 2,000 pounds a year.

This was 40,133,338 pounds (normally $200,666,700) less than the total revenue of the preceding 12-month period.

Belgium already is making plans to celebrate in 1934 the 100th anniversary of the inauguration of the country's first railway.

A world's fair, to be devoted largely to the progress of transportation, will be arranged to signalize the occasion.

As her own contribution to rail transportation Belgium today offers one of the most highly complex railway networks in the world. A total of 3,200 miles of standard gauge and 2,900 miles of narrow gauge track dissect a territory of only 11,755 square miles.

In Paris, barefoot styles have set a pedicure rage and given the fashionables something new to worry about.

Since one smart designer launched evening tailors worn by mannequins whose stockless feet were thrust into toilet sandals and scores of other dressmakers show "barefoot" sandals and very abbreviated bathing suits for the beach, Parisians are becoming "foot-minded."

With toes threatening to be very prominent this summer, they are "toeing the mark" in a new direction. Pedicures are nearly as much in demand as manicures, and a smart Parisian is spending hours with her chiropodist which she once devoted to bridge.

From Tierra Del Fuego, Argentina, comes word that a one-man exploration trip in an open boat through the little-known, dangerous waters off the southern tip of South America has been completed safely by Amos Burg, explorer and writer.

He reached this island at the "bottom" of the world, after a long and arduous journey, and found the region, the trip was made under auspices of the National Geographic Society of the United States.

The world's first ocean air mail service, linking Germany and South America, has functioned like clockwork on its first flights, and other European nations are spurring air mail plans in the hope of catching up with the Germans.

The German Lufthansa interests, using a 3,000-ton rebuilt steamer for a base in mid-ocean, are now running a four and a half-day fortnightly service between Stuttgart and Rio de Janeiro, and another daily takes the mail to Buenos Aires.

Eighteen thousand men are to be sent by the Chilean government into the fastness of the Cordilleras to swell the army of jobless already burrowing there for gold.

As with those who have previously been sent, the new recruits are to be subsidized for a period while they are learning to mine the metal. Afterward they will be put on their own, the government buying what they produce.

Present plans call for the payment of two pesos and a half (approximately 25 cents) to unmarried men and two pesos to married men, with a peso additional for their wives and 30 centavos for each child.

Conference on Sugar Again Is Postponed

LONDON, March 10.—(AP)—Representatives of ten nations concluded their six-day study of the sugar situation today with the feeling that conditions were not favorable "at present" for summoning an international conference to consider ways to stabilize the industry.

An official communiqué said the chairman was ready to recommend "appropriate further action" if it appeared the following two conditions were fulfilled:

"That pending legislation regarding sugar has been adopted by the United States and that as a result of further negotiations or any new developments there appeared to be a real prospect for agreement on the division of quotas among countries adhering to the Chamberlain plan after the coming into operation of a general world sugar agreement."

Frot Denies Plotting Against Daladier

PARIS, March 10.—(AP)—Eugene Frot, former minister of the interior, denied flatly to a chamber investigating committee today that he had plotted to set himself up in power through the overthrow of the government of Edouard Daladier. He said this allegation, made by Jean Chippaux, prefect of police at the time of the riots against the Daladier government, was "pure imagination."

JEWISH LEADER HELD BY GERMAN POLICE

BERLIN, March 10.—(AP)—Authoritative sources said today Dr. Benno Walter, vice president of the Jewish grand lodge "Bnai B'rith" of Germany, is under arrest by the secret police.

It was understood the police arrested him after he made an address at Muenchen-Gladbach declaring the German government would not dare to suppress the lodge because of its foreign connections.

INSURANCE IS GIVEN ONLY FIVE DAYS TO LEAVE GREECE

Arrest and Deportation to U. S. Made Penalty for Failure To Obey Latest Order.

ATHENS, Greece, March 10.—(UP)—Samuel Insull, fugitive Chicago utilities operator, was given final orders tonight to get out of Greece.

The order and the attitude of other countries regarding the fight to extradite Insull aroused belief in some sources that the former utilities magnate eventually might return to face trial in the United States.

After many weeks of vacillation, the government finally notified Insull through the police that he must leave Greece within five days, or he will be arrested and embarked on the first liner for New York.

In the United States, trial awaits him on charges of fraud in connection with collapse of his huge utilities interests. It was to escape trial that he fled to Europe.

There appeared to be no place for Insull to go and no country willing to harbor him against the United States' demand for his extradition.

It was believed possible that the former colossus of finance, aged and ill, would decide to return to Chicago voluntarily and face the music.

Greece will provide him with traveling papers in lieu of a passport, however, and he could go to some other country and start his fight against extradition all over.

His long fight here was ended when James Maximos, interior minister, notified the United States legation today that in view of the report of professors who examined him that his life would not be endangered by travel, he would be expelled.

that originated in the Loveman, Joseph & Loeb Company, department store, a unit of city stores, for more than six hours, the spread of the fire was checked.

An official of the Loveman, Joseph & Loeb Company, estimated that the total loss at $2,000,000, with half of it covered by insurance.

Spectators hampered the individual losses of Melancon's department store, Calder Furniture Company, Southwestern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, and a dozen or more places across the city.

Stores on the city streets, from the plate glass windows collapsed under the heat, were not segregated. Thousands of Saturday afternoon shoppers fled from the fire.

From the fire could be watched and added to the hazard, as firemen battled the flames, braving the danger of collapsing walls to bring the fire under control.

Ambulances were hindered in their movement to and from the fire by firemen who sustained injuries by dense crowds that threatened to race up ladders and disappeared in dense clouds of smoke pouring from the burning buildings.

DRIVERS' LICENSES GAINING SUPPORT

Traffic Situation in Atlanta Called Worst in Country.

The traffic situation in Atlanta and Georgia was termed among "the worst in the country" Saturday by prominent Atlantans and civic organizations promised 100 per cent cooperation in passing a driver's license law and in securing a CWA traffic survey for the city.

Tentative approval of the survey by CWA workers was given John J. Hall, New York traffic expert, and Kirk Hancock, leader in the state safety campaign, Saturday morning by CWA officials. Formal application to Miss Gay B. Shepperson, state director of CWA's traffic survey, will be made Monday.

Wiley L. Moore, president of the Chamber of Commerce, assured Hall, Hancock and Jack Strouss, secretary of the Atlanta Motor Club, which is sponsoring the drive for safety, that the movement would have the fullest co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce and of himself personally.

Agreed to serve on a committee of the United States department of agriculture. The work will be done in co-operation with the United States department of agriculture. Similar work, partially completed in Richmond, Va., will be finished at once, Dr. White said.

4 MEN ARRESTED IN $50,000 HOLDUP

Bank Clerk, 2 Detectives and Service Station Operator Held in Jail.

GREENVILLE, S. C., March 10.—(AP)—Hugh White, South Carolina National bank clerk here, two detectives and a member of the Greenville county grand jury were arrested today on charges growing out of the $50,000 bank holdup here Thursday.

The other named in the warrants were Detectives Henry J. Lindsay and John E. Coren, both 33, of the city police force, and Robert Williamson, 29, member of the grand jury and a Greenville service station operator.

White, a bookkeeper at the bank, was one of two bank employees held up within the shadow of the Greenville county jail Thursday morning by two bandits who took $50,000 being transported from the postoffice to the institution, less than two blocks away.

White is charged in a federal warrant issued by United States Commissioner H. C. Williams and sworn to by L. B. Reed, of Charlotte, special investigator for the government, with embezzlement.

Second Warrant.

A second warrant charged that Coren, Lindsay and Williamson "did unlawfully aid and abet one Hugh White in the embezzling and abstracting and wilfully misappropriating the monies of the South Carolina National bank of Greenville, S. C., in the sum of $50,000."

The warrant against White charged that he "did unlawfully abstract, embezzle and wilfully misappropriate the funds" of the bank "in the sum of $50,000."

J. T. McLaughlin, of Charlotte, secret service operative, was named as a material witness along with Reed.

Each of the four arrested was set at $25,000 each shortly after their arrest.

Detectives Deny Holdup.

Coren, Lindsay and Williamson denied the holdup. Officials said White made a statement in the case but did not release it immediately.

The package of money was taken Thursday morning. White was acting as a guard for Clinton Foster, negro bank messenger, while returning from the postoffice.

Two men in a machine forced the bank automobile to the curb at a pistol point and fled.

The two detectives and Williamson were taken from their homes for investigation about 2 a. m. today and their formal arrest came after a large group of officers spent the remainder of the night and early morning questioning them along with the bank employee.

Coren and Lindsay both are World War veterans and served overseas. The former was a second lieutenant in the Seventh division while Lindsay was connected with both the marines and the army.

Coren has been with the police department for seven years while Lindsay has been an officer for six years. White is 28 years old.

Officers announced they had not located the loot.

Fire Damages Ship.

PHILADELPHIA, March 10.—(AP)—Fire today damaged the hold of the freighter Wichita Falls, of the Southern Steamship Lines, and gave firemen a stiff two-hour fight before it was brought under control.

The fire, discovered by a member of the crew, caused estimated damage of $1,000 before it was extinguished.

First Georgia Products Exposition Here Will Be Held at Lakewood April 28-May 6

Plans for the first Georgia Products Recovery Exposition, to be given at Lakewood park April 28 to May 6, were discussed and approved Saturday by Governor Eugene Talmadge and the committee in charge.

The program will include various educational features, school days and other programs designed to teach Georgia people the value and possibilities of the vast resources of the state. Colonel Hutchinson said:

"We believe we will be able to show Georgia people some products of their state that they have never heard of before," he declared. "Georgia resources practically are unlimited and if the people are awakened to this fact and development of the possibilities can be put under way, ours can be made the richest state in the Union."

The occasion will bring to a close a concerted state-wide drive for 300,000 consumer members of the Buy Georgia Association, from Atlanta headquarters, and will feature a colorful array of Georgia products exhibits as part of the educational program.

Colonel W. B. Hutchinson is chairman of the exposition committee, which includes Colonel Franklin S. Chalmers, commander of the Atlanta Post No. 1, American Legion; Mike Benton, president of the Southeastern Fair Association, and Governor Talmadge, as ex-officio member.

The exposition is being sponsored by the Buy Georgia Association, the American Legion and the Southeastern Fair Association.

LOUIS UTERMAYER TO GIVE LECTURE AT AGNES SCOTT

Louis Utermeyer, poet, critic, essayist and anthologist, will speak on the subject, "The Glory of the Commonplace," Friday at the Buchanan Scott gymnasium, Agnes Scott College, under auspices of the Agnes Scott Lecture Association.

In power, in range of ideas, in mastery of the dazzling phrase and compelling line, the pen and personality of Louis Utermeyer have evoked more interest here and in Europe within the last decade than those of any other American poet now living, it was said.

Mr. Utermeyer has been in the United States for the first time in a long time. He is a poet of the night and the dawn, a poet of the street and the city, a poet of the modern world.

WOMEN DEMOCRATS ORGANIZE NEW CLUB

Mrs. W. P. Dunn Is Chosen President of New Luncheon Association.

Approximately 50 leading Georgians gathered at the Piedmont hotel Saturday afternoon to organize the Democratic Luncheon Club, and elect as president of the new body Mrs. William P. Dunn, of Atlanta, who also is president of the Georgia Woman's Democratic Club.

Mrs. Lamar Rutherford Lipscomb, of Marietta, was chosen vice president, and she described the purpose of the club as being "a clearing house for women's political problems and means of arousing them politically."

She was nominated for the presidency of the club by Mrs. Dunn, but declined with the statement that "if I am elected to an office I feel that it must be in one of my own 20 counties."

Although no official announcement has been made, it developed at Saturday's luncheon that friends of Mrs. Dunn are contemplating drafting her to enter the congressional race from the fifth district. Asked to comment on the reports, she admitted "having been approached many times regarding the matter," but would make no further statement.

Virtually all who spoke to the club, whose membership is composed of men as well as women, took the occasion to praise Mrs. Lipscomb's candidacy.

Judge Alexander Stephens, of the state court of appeals, speaking of her, said: "If she gets a vote for every good deed performed for the people of her district she will be elected overwhelmingly."

Others who spoke included: Mrs. Wellington Thompson, hostess, president of the League of Women Voters; Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, state president, P. T. A.; Roy LeCraw, former president of the Georgia Democratic Club; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hutchinson, of Albany; Miss Maude Sewell, president Business and Professional Women's Club of Atlanta; Mrs. H. C. Roberts, president Atlanta Democratic Club; William Brady, Atlanta Boy Scout leader, and Madison Bell.

Work Is Completed By Code Commission

The Georgia code commission, set up by the 1929 legislature to bring the publication of Georgia statutes up to date, reported completion of its work Saturday.

The code was prepared by Orville A. Park and Harry S. Strozier, major attorneys, and Henry Cobb and Harry B. Skillman, experts in the preparation of codes. They worked under the supervision of Justice Price Gilbert, of the Georgia supreme court.

Judge Nash R. Broyles, of the court of appeals; Hamilton McWhorter, president of the state senate, and Speaker E. D. Rivers, of the house of representatives, George W. Stevens acted as secretary of the commission.

The Georgia code had not been completely rewritten since 1914, members of the commission said, new acts merely being added as supplements.

The task of the commission was to eliminate the laws repealed since publication of the code, make the examples required by amendments, and put the new laws into the code in proper place and form.

COUPLE MET ON SHIP, WED IN HONOLULU

NEW YORK, March 10.—In a letter to the Cunard Line, Rose Skinner, cruise director aboard the Franconia, on her Southern Hemisphere cruise around the world, says that Miss Beatrice M. Roome, of Montclair, and John W. Livingston, of Newark, both passengers on the Franconia, met soon after the steamer left New York and were married when the ship reached Honolulu.

The Rev. Richard Lief, chaplain of the cruise, performed the ceremony. Practically all the passengers on the cruise attended the wedding services in St. John's pretty chapel. A Hawaiian choir sang "O Promise Me" and "The End of a Perfect Day," as well as several beautiful love songs in the Hawaiian language.

MOBILE AZALEA TRAIL IS SEEN BY MANY

MOBILE, Ala., March 10.—Nature, the artist, presented his masterpiece, the Mobile Azalea Trail, at the formal opening of the trail last Sunday. The blazing red flowers dotted along the route and checked at various points reported that close to 5,000 persons traversed it between 9 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Among the states represented were Mississippi, Texas, Kansas, Georgia, Massachusetts, New York, Florida, California, Louisiana, Virginia, Illinois, Wisconsin, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Carolina, Tennessee, New Jersey, Kentucky and the District of Columbia.

A band concert and talks by the mayor, the president of the Mobile Garden Club and the president of the Mobile Azalea Trail Inc. marked the high spots in the opening ceremony at 3 p. m. in Bienville square.

Of 226 cars toured the trail as the final gesture of the official opening. At Bellamy town gardens, checkers along the route and checked at various points reported that close to 5,000 persons, passed through the gardens.

BROADCASTS PLANNED ON NATIONAL PARKS

In line with his policy to make 1934 a national year in honor of the Interior Harold L. Ickes announced that a series of nine weekly broadcasts on national park subjects would be given during March and April over the blue network of the National Broadcasting Company.

The broadcasts, beginning March 3 with a talk by the secretary, will continue each Saturday at 9 p. m. In making this announcement, Secretary Ickes emphasized the fact that railroad passenger fares had recently been cut from 16 per cent to as much as 44 per cent throughout the western territory. In addition, special low summer rates will be offered and the elimination of the surcharge in Pullmans in the same territory has reduced sleeping car charges by one-third.

EXPRESS INCREASE SHOWN BY AGENCY

NEW YORK, March 10.—Despite low levels raised in many lines of business, nearly one hundred shipments were forwarded in express service in 1933, a recent tabulation by the National Express Agency indicates.

This traffic, always considered a barometer of commercial activity, indicated that the downward trend was definitely checked in November, with a turn for the better particularly noticeable thereafter. In fact, the holiday business in December was especially good.

CHILEAN DISTRICT MADE POINT OF TOUR

NEW YORK, March 10.—The Chilean Lake district, described by Theodore Roosevelt 30 years ago as being the most beautiful country that he had ever seen, is now made increasingly accessible to North American visitors to Chile or to guests of the Round South America cruises by a tour now announced by the Grace Line.

Osorno, the starting point for any tour of the lakes, is connected with all four of these by good motor roads. Osorno is a town of more than 20,000 and as the center of the Argentinean, Italian, and a foundation of antiquity, is itself worthy of a visit.

QUEBEC HUNTING LAW IS PUT INTO DIGEST

MONTREAL, March 10.—Important changes in the Quebec hunting and fishing laws have just been inaugurated by the Quebec government for the forthcoming season. For the benefit of sportsmen, A. O. Seymour, general tourist agent of the Canadian Pacific railway, has made a digest of these revised regulations, which, generally speaking, liberalize laws hitherto prevailing.

By JOHN L. COOLEY

NEW YORK, March 10. (AP)—Stocks had their duller Saturday since January 6 today. Changes over the two hours were mostly in the improved toward the close and the averages finished 1 1/2 shares higher.

Metal and alcohol stocks took opposite directions, the former rallying as the house of committee reported two bills relating to silver and the liquor houses reacting in the face of an administration decision to lift import restrictions on a trial period.

Steel issues recorded some improvement and rubbers were stronger on publication of U. S. Rubber's favorable 1933 statement. Shares of that company, in particular, picked up. A number of specialties, including Atlas Tack—into which Chicago interests are reported to have bought—Dominion Stores and S. H. Kress, also firmed.

Although the market is currently too preoccupied with such matters as regulation, sporadic local unrest and suggested NRA changes, the character of the latter remains favorable. U. S. Steel Corporation's February shipments were up 53,723 tons in February and a liberal increase in March shipments for the first two months of the year over the 157,210 tons larger than in the same period of a year ago.

Automotive manufacturers are increasing output against good backlog of orders, and the March to be a comfortable margin. Although the seasonal uplift of trade seems to be still gaining momentum, comparisons with March, 1933, are hardly fair because of the unusual conditions then prevailing, but the last month's gain since last December has commanded attention.

Rates Are Maintained in Foreign Exchanges

By the Associated Press. Foreign exchange markets were quiet and rates generally maintained their stability yesterday.

In London the dollar moved only fractionally in the short session to close at 5.07 1/2, the pound sterling and in New York the British note was unchanged at the closing rate of $4.84.

The dollar was slightly lower in Paris at an equivalent of 4.50, and in New York francs closed unchanged at 4.58 cents.

NEW YORK, March 10. (AP)—

With general business still restricted by a disposition to await legislative developments, trading in cotton was very quiet again today and prices moved within a range of 5 to 8 points. July contracts, after selling at 12.25 to 12.30, closed at 12.28, with the general market closing steady at net of 12.25 to 12.30.

There appeared to be some overnight selling orders from the south, and coupled with the easy Liverpool prices were barely steady at a decline of 6 to 8 points on active offerings. Offerings were not heavy and demand was slow and the decline soon extended to 12.16 for May and 12.40 for July.

For cotton, making net losses of about 5 to 8 points on active offerings. The decline was checked at this level by trade buying, and prices steadied during the middle of the morning.

Reports that the house coinage committee had reported favorably on the bill to increase the gold coinage, the buying and selling of the house, and October to 12.47 on this bulge.

A little more southern selling was seen in the late trading as well as the clearance of about 100,000 bales was estimated at the end of the week against 100,000 last year.

OFFICIAL CHARGES DILLINGER AIDED

Two Jail Employees Are Charged With Helping Desperado Escape.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 10.—(AP)—Edward J. Barce, deputy attorney general, said today he has gathered evidence which shows that John Dillinger had the aid of at least two jail employees when he escaped a week ago from the Crown Point lockup.

The deputy attorney general returned here to make a partial report to his chief, Philip Lutz Jr. He will be in Crown Point next week to place his evidence before the special grand jury charged with making inquiry into Dillinger's escape.

Barce said a lengthy grilling of James Posey, negro cellmate of Herbert Youngblood, the negro murderer who fled with Dillinger, indicated that Ernest Blunk, finger print expert, and Sam Cahoon, jail repairman, were aware of the desperado's plans to escape.

Blunk and Cahoon both have been arrested charged with aiding in Dillinger's escape. Federal authorities at Chicago are investigating the possibility of charging Blunk with violation of the Dyer act on the basis of his having driven the stolen automobile of Sheriff Lillian Hodges from Indiana to Illinois with Dillinger as a passenger.

Barce said his inquiry indicated that Blunk had an excellent opportunity to frustrate Dillinger's escape but instead of restraining the desperado he aided him in his escape from the jail with him.

The deputy attorney general said Posey told of an invitation extended to him and another prisoner to join Dillinger and Youngblood in the flight from the jail. Barce said Posey admitted he and the other prisoners went with Dillinger and Youngblood as far as the jail kitchen before they decided to turn back.

Plans for the break were discussed by the prisoners in the cells the night before it occurred, according to the version given Barce by Posey.

Posey was quoted by Barce as asking Youngblood whether he had a gun. Youngblood said that as yet he had no weapon but he could easily get one, Posey told the deputy attorney general.

"Dillinger called first to Cahoon, and asked him to call Warden Lewis Baker," Barce quoted Posey as saying in his description of the desperado's roundup of guards and jail employees.

Posey's story, as related by Barce, continues:

"Cahoon told Dillinger, 'John, I can't go through with this.' Dillinger then ordered Cahoon to call Blunk. Blunk came in without a gun and aided Dillinger in locking Cahoon in a cell. Then Blunk called Baker while Dillinger loitered in a corridor.

"When Baker came in Dillinger jumped at him with a small wooden gun and the two of them overpowered the warden and locked him in a cell.

"After working up Baker, Dillinger and Blunk walked arm in arm down the corridor. Dillinger looked up and saw me and winked.

"They waited for a few minutes and as other prisoners and guards came walking through the corridor Blunk lured them into cells and helped Dillinger lock them up."

PRESIDENT ORDERS ARMY TO CURTAIL FLYING OF MAILS

democrat, New York, the president informed them of his action and said it was "an added reason" for the desirability of legislation he proposed a few days ago which would turn the air mail back to private operators under strict government regulation. He urged that the legislation be expedited.

The postoffice department immediately upon receipt of the order from the president set about redrawing its air mail map to fit the requirement of Mr. Roosevelt that the army air corps stop carrying air mail "except on such routes, under such weather conditions and under such equipment and personnel conditions as will insure, as far as the utmost care can be provided, against constant recurrence of fatal accidents."

May Stop Night Flying.
General MacArthur, returning from the White House where he was summoned by the president, said that to insure safety it might be necessary to reduce or stop completely night flying and have day routes flown with only the best of army equipment and personnel. He believed that the number of these first-class ships and pilots would be reduced to a minimum.

The commerce department, refraining from making comparisons of accidents in the private and army air mail operations, did, however, make some cumulative figures public. Three air corps pilots and one ground crew member were killed in the first six months of 1933. In the last six months four pilots and one co-pilot were killed. Six passengers died in crashes.

Text of Message.
The text:

"My Dear Mr. Secretary:
"On February 9 the army air corps was given the temporary assignment of carrying the air mail and commencing the actual carrying on February 20.

"This action was taken on the definite assurance given me that the army air corps could carry the mail. "Since that time 10 army fliers have lost their lives. I appreciate that only four of these were actually flying the mail, but the others were training or were proceeding to the mail route. I appreciate also that almost every part of the country has been reached during this period by fog, snow and storms, and that serious accidents, taking even more lives, have occurred at the same time in passenger and commercial aviation.

"Nevertheless, the continuation of deaths in the army air corps must stop. "We all know that flying under the best of conditions is a definite hazard, but the ratio of accidents has been far too high during the past three weeks.

Orders Requested.
"Will you, therefore, please issue immediate orders to the army air corps stopping all carrying of air mail, except on such routes, under such weather conditions and under such equipment and personnel conditions as will insure, as far as the utmost care can be provided, against constant recurrence of fatal accidents?"

"As you know, the period of emergency will end as soon as the necessary legislation has been enacted and new contracts can be obtained. I am entirely confident that the army air corps will be able to carry the mail under the best of conditions."

"Very sincerely,
"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

The president also sent a copy of his letter to Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, and Representative Mead, of New York, the chairman of the congressional postal committee.

He said in a note to them:

"This is an added reason for the desirability of the enactment of the legislation which I proposed to your committee a few days ago. I hope much that this legislation can be taken up as soon as possible in order that new bids for new contracts for carrying the mail may be invited."

NO ORDERS RECEIVED.
BY OFFICIALS HERE
No orders relative to curtailment of air mail service out of Atlanta had been received Saturday, it was announced by Captain A. E. Waller, commander of the third section of the army air mail operations.

Until receipt of orders Captain Waller said that the four planes daily scheduled to leave Atlanta for New York, New York, Jacksonville and Chicago, while a daily plane leaves for New Orleans.

Miniature Furniture and Dolls Exhibit Will Tour Country

The largest collection in existence of antique miniature furniture, dolls and wee ornaments in silver, gold, painted china and Venetian glass, all made by hand hundreds of years ago, will soon come to life in 25 period rooms from the fifteenth century to the present day, and will tour the country in all its diminutive glory on a mission of charity. The collection was gathered by Helena Rubinstein writing once more to the chairman of the house and senate committees urging speed in the enactment of the legislation.

Training Is Asked.
"Because military lessons have been taught us during the past few weeks I request that you consult immediately with the postmaster-general and the secretary of commerce in order that Tennessee, and Representative Mead, of New York, the chairman of the congressional postal committee.

He said in a note to them:

"This is an added reason for the desirability of the enactment of the legislation which I proposed to your committee a few days ago. I hope much that this legislation can be taken up as soon as possible in order that new bids for new contracts for carrying the mail may be invited."

Mayor James L. Key has called a special meeting of city council for 11 o'clock Monday morning, March 12, giving his new lecture, "The Great Offensive," which also is the title of his latest book.

The lecturer will be open to the general public and tickets may be secured throughout the week at the office of the Alkaline Bureau in the Mortgage Guaranty building and at the Cable Piano Company Friday and Saturday as well as the door of the auditorium just before the lecture Sunday afternoon.

Those who heard Mr. Hindus when he spoke here last March at the driving club will recall his prediction that Uncle Sam would be overthrown within the year. He made many other prophecies regarding world conditions respecting the United States and Russia that are fast appearing on the horizon.

MELLON, LAMONT, WALKER TO FACE U. S. PROSECUTOR

istration of President Hoover. He was the only treasury secretary ever to serve under three presidents.

When his service in that capacity was terminated by his resignation, he was named ambassador to the Court of St. James for the remainder of the Hoover term.

Mellon is one of the wealthiest men in the country.

The American Company of America has long been the target of monopoly charges in its field, the Mellon interests also control Gulf Oil and have huge holdings in the steel mills and coal mines of Pennsylvania.

In May last year, Representative McFadden, republican, Pennsylvania, in a statement placed in the Congressional Record accused Mellon of an "apparent evasion" of personal income taxes while secretary of the treasury, which McFadden said in a single instance involved more than $1,000,000.

Walker Finances.
The private finances of former Mayor Walker, of New York, were controversial in part as the proceedings against him in 1932 before Franklin D. Roosevelt, then governor of New York, Walker resigned at the height of the inquiry which grew out of a legislative investigation of the municipal government of New York City directed by Samuel Seabury.

The crux of the financial transactions was the dealings of Walker and the mysterious Russell T. Sherwood, who was missing at the time of the removal proceedings. Sherwood dramatically reappeared in New Jersey in 1933 and was a witness before a federal grand jury in New York City. Walker denied that Sherwood was his business agent or that he handled hundreds of thousands of dollars for him as charged by Seabury.

Sherwood's reappearance prompted grand jury questioning by George Z. Medalla, then United States attorney in New York City. There were reports that Walker's tax returns were scrutinized at that time.

Walker has been living in Europe for more than 18 months.

Thomas S. Lamont is a son of Thomas W. Lamont and, like his father, is a member of the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

War on tax evaders officially was declared on December 30 when Attorney-General Cummings ordered the tax division in order to combine more effectively federal agencies charged with enforcing the law.

This step was believed to have been taken in part as the result of the acquittal of Charles E. Mitchell, former head of the National City Bank, of New York, on charges of income tax evasion. Mitchell was one of the first of his kind to have been held since enactment of the income tax law.

The Mellon case arose when a suit was brought against him in the District of Columbia. Later a resolution was introduced in the senate asking the department of justice to investigate and other requests came from the house. As a result of this the department undertook the investigation.

Under the present circumstances as regards the Mellon case the department of justice has moved with the knowledge and approval of the treasury department.

The justice department said the treasury had full information about all four cases and was working in cooperation with the department of justice in getting material ready for presentation to the grand juries.

Justice officials would not say how much money was involved nor how many of the alleged violations took place, explaining it was just such information which the government wished kept secret for purposes of prosecution.

MELLON IS SILENT
ON EVASION CHARGES
PITTSBURGH, March 10.—(AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury received reporters to night in his house slippers, commented on the cold weather and snowstorm, but refused to say anything about tax prosecutions which Attorney-General Cummings announced will be taken against him.

"I have nothing to say—it just wouldn't suit me to say anything," said the 70-year-old financier.

He appeared in perfect health, retaining standing while he talked.

Asked if he had expected the suit, he asserted:

"Oh no. Oh, no. I don't want to be quoted now."

In a recent talk with the Associated Press, during which investigations of his income tax were known to be under way, Mellon said he considered the move as "pure political propaganda."

"Both the question of income taxes and the Alkaline Company of America have been thrashed out time and again in so-called investigations and in the courts," the former treasury secretary said then.

"Election time is approaching. The democrats are anxious to swing Pennsylvania into their column. They are straining to aid their cause."

"Remember I was in business more than 50 years before I assumed a public office in 1921 and that all the attacks began after that date."

United States District Attorney H. S. Dumbault said he has not been advised of the papers in the Mellon prosecution, being forwarded from Washington.

HEARST ATTACKS NRA AS AID TO BUSINESS

Only Thing Needed Is Federal Protection, Publisher Says in Radio Address.

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—(AP)—William Randolph Hearst declared tonight that he was an "increasing probability that the disturbing interference with business by the NRA . . . has positively delayed recovery instead of hastening it."

"It would appear indeed that whenever business in the present emergency has succeeded in getting its head above the water, the publisher said, the NRA, with the best intentions in the world, has alertly thrown it a millstone or a coil of lead pipe as a life preserver and promptly sunk it again."

Hearst, speaking over a coast-to-coast network, said "All that need be done now by government is to protect business from the plunderers and from the parasites and from the politicians and business will again take care of itself and of the nation, too."

There is an absolute certainty, Hearst said, "that industry and the whole country have in the past positively recovered from previous panics without the operation of an NRA or any similar method of dominating and dragging business."

Silent on White House.
Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh landed unannounced at Bolling field late yesterday and went immediately to their hotel.

Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning he dashed out of the hotel without a topcoat or hat, jumped into a taxi, and rushed to the war department.

Reports that he was going there caused a virtual cessation of all work in the department. Stenographers from all over the building gathered outside Dorn's office, and draped themselves over the banisters of the wide curving stairways.

Later Lindbergh and Dorn posed for photographs. The flyer smiled and shook hands under shrouded instructions from photographers.

"Are you going to the White House?" a reporter asked.

"I'm sorry, but I have nothing to say," Lindbergh replied.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 10.—(AP)—Mildred Harris, former wife of Charlie Chaplin, was married here tonight to William P. Fleckenstein, owner of a tabloid musical show in which both are appearing at a local theater.

The ceremony was performed at the French Broad Baptist church by Rev. J. R. Owens. I took place in the interval between first and second night performances. Members of the show company witnessed the marriage.

The bride gave her age as 30 and her home as Hollywood, Cal. Fleckenstein gave his age as 30 and his home as Fairbairn, Minn.

Miss Harris was Chaplin's first wife. They were divorced several years ago.

COP CATCHES BURGLAR TRYING TO ENTER HOME

Patrolman F. J. Aycock, of 824 Edgewood avenue, Saturday night executed a flank movement when he heard a negro trying to pick the lock on the side door of his home, and carried out his maneuver so successfully that he was able to knock out the negro with the butt of his pistol while the would-be intruder was still intent on working the lock with a lever rick, according to police reports.

Taken to the police station and charged with disorderly conduct and burglary, the negro gave the name of Ernest Edwards, 25, of 23 Fort street.

Judge Virgil B. Moore set Friday as the date for a hearing, when City Attorney James L. Mayson moved for a continuance.

"The time has arrived to lay aside personalities and personal ambitions and pass a balanced finance sheet," White said Saturday. We must move to protect the threatened withdrawal of federal relief funds in Atlanta."

"I propose to take a definite and determined stand in this matter Monday. Politics be damned! This is no time for politics, what we need to do is to perform constructive service to the citizens of this city. I'm tired of councilmanic bickering."

It is well to remember that a probable reason why you do not have red lips, rosy cheeks, a clear skin, good health, energy and cheerfulness is that your blood is in a run-down condition. Neglect of diet, worry, overwork, colds or sickness, frequently break down and retard the natural development of the red-blood-cells and their oxygen-carrying hemoglobin.

DICK METZ HOLDS LEAD IN METROPOLITAN OPEN

Golf Pros' Wives Have Hardest Job Just Sitting and Waiting

EAST LAKE COUNTRY CLUB, March 10.—There was a big log fire in the fireplace of the clubhouse lobby. And close around it in the big easy chairs sat the wives of the professionals shooting in the Atlanta Metropolitan golf tournament.

A few kids played around on the carpet. Some of the ladies were knitting and some were reading. Some just sat and smoked.

And outside papa was shooting for the money.

It was cold outside. And papa's hands were cold. The wind blew through papa's whiskers. And bit at his ribs.

And still I think papa had the easiest job, out there shooting for the money. Because mama had the job of waiting around. I do not like waiting.

I did think mama might have been out there watching papa. A lot of people had paid money at the gate for the privilege of watching papa shoot for money for mama and the kids. But still, I guess it gets old. This following papa all the way down through California, Mexico and Texas and then up from Florida through the south.

As a matter of fact, I took off the old gray hat and introduced myself properly and asked some questions. You know, the old questions. How does it feel to be sitting here waiting and wondering if papa is in the money or well out of it? And what about the worries and the jealousies and all that sort of thing?

I have seen some ball clubs ruined because the second baseman's wife and maybe an outfielder's wife were all burned up about a pitcher's wife who attacked them for their husband's errors while the pitcher was in there. In fact, I have seen some baseball managers get very gray about the temples all because of the wives sitting in the stands.

GOLF WIVES ARE DIFFERENT.

The golf wives seemed to be a bit different. They were all tanned and rather smart looking. And they said they did follow papa a lot while he was out there shooting for the money.

It was cold in Atlanta. And that had a great deal to do with it. So they just sat around and waited.

"We do get a little jealous, I guess," said one of the wives. "But not very much. And then it is just jealousy about the luck. There is a lot of luck in this business, you know," she said. And I nodded a wise head. There is a lot of luck in any competition.

And in golf—where a small twig or a bent piece of grass can deflect a putt and become the difference between a lot of money and a little money or maybe no money at all—there is no need to deny there is such a thing as luck.

"We don't talk about each other much," she said. "Now and then some of us whose husbands haven't won anything in some time will get together and hope that some fellow doesn't win again. You know, we'll hope and try to break up some winning streak."

"But there isn't much argument in golf. Every player starts every day. And your husband's skill is everything," said another of the waiting wives. "He doesn't depend on a short-stop or a catcher to help him out. It's just him. Of course, we don't always like the pairings. But then, all in all, we get along."

And so that was it. But somehow I raised the old felt kelly a bit higher as I left. It's different waiting for papa when he goes down every day. And I know it must be very, very tough waiting for papa when he doesn't have any place to go.

But it isn't so easy—this sitting around golf club lobbies or joining the tramping herd that follow papa—and waiting to see who will be in the money.

Because quite often papa will play and play and play and never have any luck. And consequently never be in the money.

KID BROWN AND THE TENNESSEE KID.

A couple of kids were leading them when Saturday came to a close at East Lake. I speak of the amateurs.

There was James (Kid) Brown, former municipal course caddy and now a splendid athlete at Tech High, and Tommy Wright, "The Tennessee Kid" from Knoxville.

"The Tennessee Kid" shot an amazing 68 Friday to tie for second place. It was amazing, pop-eyed golf. He had seven threes and a deuce on his card. Saturday his tall, lean east Tennessee form was cut through with the winds. (The lad lacked those warm camels' hair sweaters.)

But he got his 80 for a 148. The greens keeper at Whittle Springs had loaded him up and brought him down for his first try at a real tournament. He's a great boy—a caddy until two years ago.

And James (Kid) Brown surprised. He had a 75 on Friday. It was almost universally ignored. But he came slashing back with a 73 in the wind of Saturday to beat a lot of the nation's great professionals. And Kid Brown was inspired by a pretty young lady who held tightly onto his arm when he had shot that 73.

I saw the Tennessee Kid—his knuckles blue and cold. I missed Kid Brown. (We always chase the shooters of 68.) And the Tennessee Kid's caddy said, "Shucks, dat boy jest cold. Dat's all. He's shootin' well."

But Kid Brown, I judge, didn't mind the cold.

THE TRAMPLING HERD.

The golf herd is a funny herd. It tramples gaily after the boys, rumbling along, gesturing, gesticulating, arguing, expostulating, discussing their own games.

I think, after peering at the golfing galleries, I have found out their secret. They each see themselves out there swinging. They follow the act of the arms. They see the swing of the hips and the movement of the left foot.

And gradually they see themselves flow into the figure. And their own game is his. And they can hardly wait until tomorrow when they try it. And then comes the sad awakening. And they must join another gallery and work the old magic again.

THERE IS ONE PUZZLE.

There is one puzzle. I don't understand this one person. And that is the wife of the golf fan who, clad in new golf shoes (I simply will not go out there unless I have some golf shoes) trudges along for five or six holes and then asks papa: "Are they playing well or not, dear?" Will someone explain why she is out here?

DICK METZ TOPS FIELD IN OPEN WITH 142 SCORE

Kid Brown and Tom Wright Tied for Lead Among Amateurs.

By Roy White.

Dick Metz, young Deal (N. J.) professional, continues to lead the Atlanta Metropolitan open golf championship at East Lake with a total of 142 strokes. Metz, who set the pace in the practice rounds and led the field Friday with a spectacular 67, slipped Saturday and required a 75, but holds a one-stroke lead at the half-way mark.

Second to Metz as the final round starts is Henry Picard, another young pro who hails from Charleston, S. C. He has 143. Picard set the pace in the bitter cold wind Saturday with a brilliant 68, which, added to his 75 Friday, places him one stroke behind the leader.

K. Y. Laffoon, Denver, Col., was two over par with a 72 Saturday and holds third place, three strokes away from the leader. John Golden, who tied for second place Friday, slipped 10 strokes from his first score, posted a 78, and rested in fourth place.

OTHER LEADERS.

Other leaders are: Tony Manero, Greensboro, N. C.; Al Leacy, West Point; Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y.; Willie McFarlane, Tuckahoe, N. Y.; Craig Wood, Deal, N. J.; Al Watrous, Birmingham, Mich.; and Mortie Dutra, Detroit, Mich.

Tom Wright, the young Knoxville amateur, who tied Golden for second place Friday, required an 80 Saturday and is tied with James R. (Kid) Brown, young Tech High star, for lead among the amateurs with 148. Brown carried a 75 Friday and a 73 Saturday.

The final 36 holes will be played today, with the first 18 starting at 8:30 o'clock and the last at 12:30 o'clock.

George Sargent, Willie Ogg and James (Kid) Brown will start both rounds, and immediately following that threesome, other outstanding golfers will leave at five-minute intervals.

SCORES ARE HIGHER.

Saturday's bitter cold wind sent a majority of the scores several strokes higher than those on Friday. The back nine took its toll, particularly among the late starters who finished without the gallery that followed the early finishers.

Metz played par golf until the island hole, where he three putted and went one over par. He parred the seventh. His drive at the eighth was off to the right, but the chip to the green was just short of the pin and his putt dropped for another par. Metz's second to No. 9 was about three feet from the cup and he dropped the putt for an eagle three to go one under perfect figures.

The cold wind and Old Man Hark overtook the young pro on the back nine. He was one over par through 10, 11, 12 and 13, but birdied the 14th with a 12-foot putt, one of his best and longest of the day. Metz three putted the 17th and was one over on the 18th for his 75.

PICARD IS BEST.

Henry Picard, Charleston pro, stole the honors Saturday with a 68, two strokes below par, despite the biting wind. Picard's great score resulted from a round of machine-like golf. It was championship golf. A majority of his long shots were played low, and it was his fine putting that aided materially in his low scoring.

Kid Brown, the young Tech High star, won amateur honors for Saturday with a 73, two over par, and, incidentally, was one of the low scorers in the second day's round. Tommy Barnes, captain of the Smith golfers, carried an 83, and Paul Senkell, another Smith star, was well up in the Saturday scores.

Tommy Wilson, the Ansley Park pro who carried a 74 Friday, failed to regain his form on Saturday. His wind and required an 82. Despite the bitter cold, the crowd was unusually large and like the crowd of Friday, packed up and continued to follow the favorites.

LARGE GALLERY.

Horton Smith, Bill Melhorn and Al Watrous again attracted the majority of spectators, while Charlie Yates, Paul Runyan and John Revolta played to another large group.

Many followed Dick Metz, Charlie Black Jr. and Ralph Stonehouse, the young Indianapolis, Ind., star.

There will be plenty of excellent golf today, even though it may be a bit colder. Dick Metz, Charlie Black Jr. and John Golden will play at 9 o'clock and 1 o'clock. Tony Manero, Henry Picard and Al Leacy follow 20 minutes later. Paul Runyan, William McFarlane and Al Watrous play at 9:40 and Craig Wood, K. Y. Laffoon and Mortie Dutra follow 20 minutes later. The same order will follow in the afternoon.

Today's play will include 16 amateurs and 50 professionals. Every one of the professionals who played

ATLANTA, GA., SUNDAY MORNING, MARCH 11, 1934.

They Had Best Second Rounds in Metro Open

Jimmy (Kid) Brown, left, Tech High boxer and golfer, shot a great 73 Saturday in the second round of the Atlanta open to lead the amateurs for the day and tie Tommy Wright, "The Tennessee Kid" from Knoxville, for the amateur lead. Wright had an 80 to add to his 68 of Friday. Henry Picard, right, Charleston, S. C., professional, shot a dazzling 68 in the cold wind Saturday to give him a 143 and second place in the field, one stroke behind Dick Metz' 142. In the left background, Charley Black Jr. can be seen watching as Ralph Stonehouse puts on the 18th green.

TECH BASEBALL TRACK STARTS

With spring football out of the way, Coach Dodd is now free to call out his Tech baseball squad for practice this week.

The track candidates, also, will be able to turn out in full force. Perrin Walker is a star sophomore candidate.

Coach Dodd has a good sized group of experienced baseball players returning, and hopes to mould a winning club.

Bill Hogess, third baseman, is the main loss on the infield, but Coach Dodd has Jimmy Slocum who has had experience there, and probably will place him at the hot corner.

"Sun Dial" Martin and Grossi are back for shortstop; Hardin returns at second base and Hoot Gibson to play first. All these players had experience on last year's team.

The outfield presents four veteran candidates in Johnny Ferguson, Johnny Pool, Tommy Spradling and "Skip" Roberts. All four were varsity men last year.

"Pug" Boyd, first-string receiver last season, is favored to hold down the catcher's job.

Pitchers are the main problem, but Dodd has Sam Stribling, his mainstay last year, back, along with Waits Everett and several other likely candidates.

BASEBALL. April 6-7-Auburn at Tech. April 12-14-Alabama at Tuscaloosa. April 15-17-Vanderbilt at Nashville. April 20-21-Alabama at Tech. April 23-24-Oglethorpe at Tech. April 25-26-Auburn at Auburn. April 30-May 1-Oglethorpe at Oglethorpe. May 4-5-Georgia at Tech. May 11-12-Georgia at Athens. May 15-16-Vanderbilt at Tech.

TRACK. April 7-Clemson at Clemson. April 14-Alabama at Grand Field. April 15-16-Alabama at Lexington. April 18-19-Alabama at Grand Field. May 2-Georgia at Athens. May 12-Auburn at Grand Field. May 15-Conference meet at Birmingham.

LARSEN SIGNS. Glenn Larsen, left-handed pitcher who saw service with the Crackers for a while last year, will be with the Charlotte club in the Piedmont league next season.

Johnny Dobbs, co-operator of the Charlotte club with Wilbert Robinson, announces that he has signed Larsen.

Picard's 68 in Wind Blows Grief for Metz

James (Kid) Brown, of Tech High, Conquers Blasts To Tie for Amateur Lead.

By Ralph McGill.

Henry Picard, of Charleston, shot a 68 Saturday at East Lake to add to a 75 on Friday. It placed him one stroke behind the brilliant Dick Metz, of New Jersey, in the Atlanta Metropolitan golf tournament.

He did it in a cold, biting wind. It was the sort of a day on which one looked anxiously about, hoping to see one of the late Mr. Bill McGeehan's St. Bernards with the cask of brandy tied to his neck—the Traveling Bartenders of the Alps.

Al Leacy, the West Point (Ga.) professional, had shot himself a 72 to add to his 75 and leave a Georgia representative well up in the list of pros, five strokes back of Metz.

And James (Kid) Brown, a Tech High school golfer and boxer, a graduate from the ranks of caddies, had shot himself a total of 148 to go into a tie with Tommy Wright, the 18-year-old "Tennessee Kid" from Knoxville, to lead the amateur field.

All this in a cruel wind (which did not bother the gallery and should not deter one from attending today) that left the golfers with stiff hands and air-cooled legs.

In the clubhouse, Bill Melhorn, who had finished his second round, was having some coffee and lunch. And he was talking of wind.

TALKING WIND. Most everyone was talking about the wind and "how in the world did Henry Picard shoot a 68 in the wind."

And Bill Melhorn's stories of golf in the wind deserve first ranking. "It was at the Irish open championship in 1928," said the Wild One, "which was being played at Port Marnock by the sea."

"George Duncan was playing there. He was eight strokes behind the leader when the final round started. He won the tournament by nine strokes. It was the most amazing finish in the world—and on that windy day."

"I was playing that day. On a 500-yard hole, with the wind with me, I fluffed my shot," said Melhorn. "It skied into the air. And the wind caught it. It landed in the trap before the green, almost 300 yards on a missed shot."

FOUR WOOD SHOTS. "There was a 570-yard hole there and when George Duncan came to it, he hit a 570-yard shot and a half. Below Zero was third."

JOE PALMISANO ACCEPTS TERMS WITH ABBOTT

Manager Maps Plans. Sees Hustling, Speedy Club for Atlanta.

By Jimmy Jones.

It was just like a circus, this getting away business of the Atlanta Crackers that Business Manager Earl Mann was supervising yesterday at the ball park.

Earl had the big traveling trunks brought out and painted a bright red and black—Georgia's football colors. He told Johnny Shores, trainer, to overhaul the other impedimenta for the training trip to Macon.

"Since we're starting out with everything new, we might as well repaint the trunks," Earl declared.

And your Uncle Wilbert Robinson, an old-fashioned baseball man, who is terribly afraid of jinxes and believes all the other impedimenta for the training trip to Macon, which will take place on next Thursday.

After a brief chat with Abbott, Palmisano signed his contract, making the twenty-seventh Cracker to come to terms.

"So far as I can see, everything is all right," Spencer declared, as he parked himself in one of President Robinson's office chairs, resting up from a three-day quest for an apartment.

"I understand that Art Jacobs, Buster Chatham and several others are on the way here. Jacobs has signed his contract and Chatham and Taylor have as good as signed theirs. There are only about two players that we haven't heard from and that's almost 100 per cent for the time of year."

Spencer pointed out that he would take the 25-odd pitchers and catchers to Macon on March 15, and that he had set March 22 as the deadline for the balance of the squad to report.

LONG WORKOUTS.

The club will have headquarters at the Lanier hotel. Abbott plans one long workout daily, lasting about three hours. The Crackers will play several practice games during the two weeks' stay in Macon and have a regular scheduled game booked with the Cincinnati Reds there for April 10, the same date that the Giants are playing Cleveland in Atlanta.

Manager Abbott plans to carry the entire squad, numbering some 36 players, to Macon. Some of these players will be turned over to Johnny Dobbs at Charlotte. The club is allowed to carry two extra rookies, or a roster of 18 for the first 20 days of the season.

No further word was heard yesterday on the Eddie Phillips deal, now hanging fire with several clubs. The big catcher is sure to be sold.

Joe Palmisano, who played under Abbott for two years at Portland, will replace him. Palmisano caught 136 games for Portland last year and expects to catch around that number for Atlanta. He will have Neider or Weaver, rookies, as an assistant.

"I believe we will have a speedy club and a hustling one," was Manager Abbott's statement. He expects to carry six pitchers and hopes to develop three starters who will win around 20 games apiece. He has plenty of work to do on the young pitchers, since he must develop three rookies, preferably right-handers, for the staff of six.

CLASS A PITCHERS.

Three Class A pitchers, of which two are certain to get Art Jacobs and Frank Barnes, veteran southpaws, will be carried. Abbott is hopeful of getting a classy right-hander of experience for the bullpen. In the meantime, Wilbert Robinson will pay a visit to the Phillies' training camp at Winter Park, Fla., the Brooklyn Dodgers at Charlotte. The club is expected to have Neider or Weaver, rookies, as an assistant.

He has plenty of work to do on the young pitchers, since he must develop three rookies, preferably right-handers, for the staff of six.

If they come through it will help greatly to solve the Cracker pitching problem.

MAY HELP CLUB. Robby and Gerry Nugent, the Philly president, no good friends and Nugent may do him some good. Teddy Kleinhaus, with the Crackers last year, is with that club and chances are Nugent would be interested in an option on Hugh Casey, the Crackers' promising young right-hander, in return for some veteran pitching help.

Following is the Cracker's complete exhibition card for the spring:

Guy Green Seeking Post With Crackers

Guy Green, Atlanta boy and last year's pitcher with Little Rock and Knoxville in the Southern, is seeking a tryout with the Crackers.

Green, who also pitched several years in the Texas league, is a free agent and said he would like to catch on with Atlanta if possible. He conferred with Wilbert Robinson yesterday.

Small and Conyers Out To Repeat in Constitution Pin Tourney

WINNING PAIR LAST SEASON IS CONFIDENT

Sixteen Teams Have Already Entered St. Patrick's Day Event.

By Jack Troy.

George Small and John Conyers, who gave Atlanta bowlers something to remember by in winning the first Constitution St. Patrick's Day handicap doubles duckypin tournament last year, will defend their title this Saturday night at Bick's center.

Having no league averages for this year, they will bowl from scratch. But this is of no concern to the Mutt and Jeff combination of last year's tournament, largest ever staged in the country or the city either, for that matter.

Conyers and Small are more confident than last year. John Bick and George McKay may be the only pair with averages high enough to put them above the scratch mark of 230, but this doesn't mean a thing to us. We would appreciate some competition this time.

16 ALREADY ENTERED.

Some 16 teams already have entered the popular tournament. George French and Cliff Dennis, runner-up pair last year, are back in the competition. Both have improved greatly. Then, too, there are Carl (He'll Do Well) Tidwell, the Georgia state champion, and A. J. (Sing Me a Mammy Song) Sossone, Ed (Hothouse) Plant and George (Try to Tie Me) Tyler have consolidated for the event.

There are two brother entries, John and Gaston Townley and E. and H. Wooten have signed up.

Other entries to date include J. T. Gresham and Duke Bick, H. Hope and G. Langdon, Ray Mason and L. Hope, Morgan Blake and D. e. Jenkins, C. D. Gurry Sr. and O. Fields, J. (Ham) Hartken and Ed (Fat Boy) Glasing, S. Kroch and L. J. Tignat, Al Christy and Hobart Crowe, W. F. Robinson and W. N. (Doc) Austin.

DUCKPIN RULES.

The tournament this year will be conducted according to the rules of the Atlanta Duckpin Association. This body is now functioning and is finding favor with a large number of bowlers.

Under this arrangement, bowlers must have bona fide league averages for 15 or more games this season in order to receive a handicap. Otherwise, they must start from scratch.

Engraved gold medals again will be the prizes for the winning pair. Indications point to another record-breaking entry. Last year there were 45 teams, or 90 bowlers, on the firing line.

Competition assuredly will be keen. Bowling interest here has gone on a skyride. Some of the best bowling in the states today is being done right here in Atlanta. And the leading stars will be in the Constitution tournament.

FIVE-GAME SET.

Last year six games constituted the championship set, and blocks of three games were bowled on Friday and Saturday. There will be a five-game championship set this year, with all five games to be rolled either Saturday afternoon or night, according to the convenience of respective entrants. There will be no entry fee, as usual. Prize of the games takes care of everything. Except, of course, the matter of winning. That's up to the teams. And George Small and John Conyers, the defending champions, already have ideas about pinning on another gold medal apiece.

Morgan Blake and Dave Jenkins, of the afternoon contingent, across the Forsyth street viaduct, also have ideas. And this is what makes the annual Constitution tournament the best staged each year. Handicaps give every team a chance to win. Those bowlers from scratch do not need the aid of contributed pins. Or, at least, that is the theory.

Entries are being received by Ed Plant, public relations man at Bick's center. You have until Saturday to take partners and prepare for the big parade.

Southeastern Pin Meet Set April 23-28.

An announcement from the executive committee of the Atlanta Duckpin Association Saturday revealed that the annual city duckpin tournament would be widened in scope and that, instead of confining entry to Atlanta bowlers, a tournament will be staged from Monday, April 23, to Saturday, April 28, in which all teams in the southeastern states will be eligible to compete and the event will be known as the southeastern duckpin tournament.

The tournament will be sanctioned by the National Duckpin Bowling Congress, in addition to being sponsored by the Atlanta Duckpin Association.

The meet will classify all bowlers according to average and bowlers, doubles and singles events will be bowled in classes A, B, C and D.

CLASSIFICATIONS.

The classification for the five-man teams is an average of 530 or better for the team; Class B will be 525 to 540; Class C, 500 to 524; and Class D will include all teams below 500.

In the doubles, Class A will be 220 or better; Class B, 210 to 219; Class C, 200 to 209; and Class D, under 200.

In the singles, Class A is 110 or over; Class B, 105 to 110; Class C, 100 to 104; Class D, 90 to 99; and Class E is less than 90.

The entry fee will be 35 cents per person for each event and includes the cost of the three games to be bowled. Three or more prizes will be awarded in each event.

EVENT FOR "BOOSTERS."

A special event will be staged for "booster" teams. And an additional event will be reserved for bowlers who do not have an average giving them the opportunity to compete among themselves for prizes in the teams, doubles and singles. Saturday will be reserved mainly for out-of-town teams.

The tournament will be handled by the secretary, Walter E. Lawson, and the executive committee of the Atlanta Duckpin Association, which includes J. C. Gilmore, A. L. Stokes and T. L. Cerniglia. A card of membership in the Atlanta Duckpin Association, similar to the N. D. P. B. C., will be issued to each individual bowler.

FAMOUS GEORGIA ATHLETES

Long Jim—First of the Famous Foxes.

JIM FOX, AS HE LOOKS TODAY.

It was the good old summer time in Georgia... steamboats whistling along Georgia's rivers, on their way to the big ports of the mountains, the white cargoes of cotton. Minstrels, the favorite entertainers... and long Jim Fox, the favorite first baseman.

They may bring back the steamboats and the cotton—even the minstrels. But they can't bring back Jim Fox. It is too bad that they can't. He was a distinctive type at his position, with his six feet, six inches of height and goodness knows how many feet of reach. And the fans of Atlanta, Columbus and Macon, where he played on many good ball clubs, will never forget him.

How could they forget Jim Fox? Pulling those high ones down, seemingly from the clouds, and reaching out halfway to second to get the low ones. A wondrously fine target for the infielders to throw to and a fine man at his position.

He was the first of the famous Foxes in sport. Since his day, we have had Gallant Fox, a fine race horse, and Jimmy Fox, another fine first baseman, who would be a perfect namesake of Jim Fox if one would persuade him to career.

Long Jim Fox could not clout the ball so lustily as Jimmy Fox clouts it for the Athletics. But he could do a lot of other things that Jim could not. He could pick up the air at any height. And when a hit was needed, Jim Fox could hit.

Today Jim Fox is 55 years old—thirteen years retired from the game—and working for the Columbus Power Company in his home town. He still keeps up with baseball, however, for he will always love the game.

"I'll keep on keeping up with it until I get too old to read The Constitution," Jim wrote from Columbus. And we hope he never gets that old. If he does, maybe we can persuade Mr. Howell to order a larger type for the paper.

What a salute to a grand old man and one of the game's real characters. Jim Fox was one of those players, destined to play out his days in the minors. It is too bad that he did not go to the big leagues, for he would have been a big attraction up there with his eight feet of reach.

(Tomorrow's Famous Athletes will introduce another very popular ball player with Georgians of yesterday.)

EMORY AWARDS NINE LETTERS

Nine varsity letters and eight freshmen numerals were awarded Friday to basketball players at Emory University. Four guards, three forwards and two centers made the All-Emory team.

Morgan Cantey, John McKay and Alf Hind, forwards; Alan McGhee and Francis Nunn, centers, and Chris Conyers, Tom Dover, Pollard Turman and Bob Wiggins, guards, were recipients of varsity letters.

Morgan Cantey, lawyer; Marvin Sugarmann, freshman; Alan McGhee, senior; Alf Hind, senior, and Craig Robinson, freshman, were chosen on the unofficial All-Emory team in a contest sponsored by the Emory Wheel.

Those receiving freshman numerals were Kulbersh, Sugarmann, Harris and Mauldin, forwards; Beard, center; Robertson, Holland and Davis, guards.

The Freshmen and Lawyers finished the season in a tie for the intra-mural basketball championship with 11 games won and three lost. They met in a playoff for the title Wednesday.

Cantey, lawyer, led the school in total points scored with 124 to his credit. The five high scorers were Cantey, Lawyer, 124; Collier, Sophomore, 107; Wimberly, seniors, 106; B. C. Conyers, Sophomores, 104; and Hind, Seniors, 104.

GEORGIA TEAM WILL INCLUDE ALL LETTERMEN

Coach Harry Mehre Makes No Reservations for Sophomores.

ATHENS, Ga., March 10.—After six weeks of spring football training Coach Harry Mehre has asserted that the Georgia Bulldogs will have practically the same faces in the lineup next season as carried over through last year's schedule. The frosh have been termed "fair" and as "prospects" by the Georgia coach after the final scrimmage Friday, but he evidently isn't making any berth reservations for them to replace varsity lettermen.

If Coach Mehre's forecast comes true, the starting lineup of the Bulldogs in practically all the games next season will look like this: Turbeyville and Waggon, ends; Opper, Shi or Moorhead, tackles; McCollough, Brown or Johnson, guards; Perkins or McKnight, center; Griffith, quarter; Grant and Bond, halves, and Chapman, fullback. This lineup would be composed entirely of lettermen.

The Bulldogs will be injured most by the loss of Graham Batchelor, All-Southeastern end, and "Bull" Cooper, tackle. Robert "Yank" Ludwig, center; Homer Key and Sam Brown, halfbacks, and Bill David, fullback. With the exception of Ludwig, who has been stricken from the fold with an injured knee, all of the losses will be by the graduation route.

END STARTERS. Charlie Turbeyville and Henry Waggon will be the starters at the end position. Waggon will be faced with the difficult task of filling the sterling Captain Batchelor's shoes. He will be Charlie Jacobson and Lew Cordell, Cordell, a Hartwell boy, had played well during practices until he fractured a rib Thursday. Freshman prospects are Julius Caesar Hall, Crengar Bonner, Spec Townes, Charlie Harold, Matt Kelly, Bob Law and Ben Boulware.

Leroy Moorehead, All-Southeastern guard last season was shifted to tackle by Coach Mehre to aid the veteran Allen Shi, Charlie Opper, John West and Jesse Morgan. Moorehead has been troubled with weak ankles and the shift should ease the leg strain and will also give a helpful weight addition to the tackle position. Hugh O'Farrell and Sandy Ginnells complete the experienced tackle.

John Brown, Dave "Butch" McCullough, and Frank Johnson will take care of the guard jobs. All these men are veterans and with the help of George Spence and Sam Dykes, reserves, the guard position should not suffer from the loss of Moorehead. Tom Perkins and John McKnight will stage a battle for the ball snapper's job next fall. Both players are topnotchers and the contest for the starting call will be keen.

Harold Hirsch, Elmer Costa and Harry Harman will be the reserves. Harman, who is a freshman, was shifted from tackle to center about the middle of February.

SMOOTH BACKFIELD. Next fall the Bulldog backfield will present the same strength, shiftness, deception and speed as it did last year. Sweeney, Zeller, Becker, Castro, Dyer, Rowan, Castleton, etc. Jim Fox still treasures a group photo of that club.

Jim Fox was the best first baseman in the southern league that year. The Philadelphia Nationals tried to buy him off Billy Smith, but he wouldn't sell the human skyscraper. Then Jim Fox had his left arm ripped open and put him out of commission.

COLORFUL CAREER. Jim Fox had a long and colorful baseball career, beginning as a first baseman in the Three-Eye league back in 1901. He was at Davenport, Iowa, in 1902, and at Greensboro, N. C., in 1903, 1904.

He came to Georgia to play first for Macon in the old South Atlantic in 1905, was with Atlanta in 1906, 1907, 1908. He went to Columbus to manage that city's club in the South Atlantic from 1909 through 1915. In 1916, he became manager of Portsmouth, in the Virginia league, staying an injured leg but he will be in top shape by September. Johnny Jones, Maurice Green and Jack Earle will be the reserves.

UNDERSTUDY. Griffith at quarter will be understudied by Charlie Treadaway, reserve, and Vince O'Malley, freshman. Treadaway has been out of practice for the past 10 days with an injured shoulder.

Alf Anderson and Jim Cavan, two freshmen from Decatur, pair up as nice running backs in the backfield and may see service next fall. Anderson has pleased Coach Mehre with his passing and running ability. He undoubtedly is the best frosh backfield prospect.

Jeff Hollis and Glenn Johnson, Red Devil backs, have also been out there fighting this spring, and will war watching in practice.

Six weeks of fundamentals have brought out many improvements in the new candidates but Coach Mehre is far from being satisfied. He believes the lack of regulars and fears a letdown of the regulars' stamina about the middle of the season. Coach Mehre has a vivid reminder of letdowns since such a thing happened to the Georgia squad in the Auburn game last year after the Bulldogs had been through a hectic game with Yale the week before.

All in all, however, the hopes are high for the Bulldogs when they don the headbands and shoulder pads again in September.

'Tall Tale' Contest Closes

Soon---You'd Better Hurry

The Constitution's hunting and fishing contest ends Wednesday. The deadline is midnight. Following the close judges will meet and select the three winning stories.

And this, according to the response, is to be quite a task. Hundreds of tall tales of field and stream have been submitted by hunters and fishermen of the south.

The following story by A. P. Hucksbee, of Carrollton, gives you an idea.

"Some few summers ago when the weather was so hot and dry, I decided to go fishing. I always carried my gun and dog along, so off we went to the river. While I was fishing the dog was prowling around in the woods near by. In a little while I began to hear him bark and knew he had jumped a rabbit. I picked up my gun and walked some distance to the clear, since I might see the rabbit. The chase carried on some 15 minutes and I began to get tired and hot from waiting. Walking back a few feet, I sat down on a log. No sooner had I sat down than I saw the rabbit and dog. It was so hot that both were wet with sweat and both were walking."

Send in your story by midnight Wednesday. You may win a certificate or receive honorable mention. The three best stories will be awarded certificates.

Address stories to the hunting and fishing contest editor, The Constitution.

Y-CIVIC TEAMS MEET FOR TITLE

DeMolay and Dental College Quintets Seek Second-Half Crown.

The big series in the Y-Civic league, when the last-half flag will be the prize, is slated for Thursday night on the Y. M. C. A. court. DeMolay club and Atlanta-Southern Dental College, both undefeated in the last half, will battle with the winner earning the right to meet Linen Service Company, victors of the first-half of the race for the league trophy.

Should DeMolay club win they will be forced to play the Linen Service club a game that was postponed until the close of the season and was not to be played unless it would have direct bearing on the final outcome of the race. A victory for Atlanta-Southern Dental College will end the second half and pave the way for the play-off.

Linen Service Company, is trailing the two undefeated leaders but a victory by DeMolay over Atlanta-Southern Dental College will place them back in the running. They will have to play their postponed game with DeMolay club and a victory will give them a tie for the lead. Another game that promises to be hard fought brings Coca-Cola and Southern College of Pharmacy together for a battle for a first division berth.

The complete schedule and standings follow:

STANDINGS	W.	L.	Pct.
Atlanta-Southern Dental College	5	0	1.000
DeMolay Club	5	0	1.000
Linen Service Co.	1	1	.500
Coca-Cola Co.	3	3	.500
Southern College of Pharmacy	2	3	.400
A. & S. Bank	1	5	.166
Fulton National Bank	1	5	.166
Kraft-Pharmaceuticals	0	6	.000

Coca-Cola vs. Fulton National Bank, 7:20 p. m.
DeMolay Club vs. Atlanta-Southern Dental College, 7:20 p. m.
Kraft-Pharmaceuticals vs. Linen Service Co., 8:20 p. m.
Southern College of Pharmacy vs. Coca-Cola Co., 8:40 p. m.

S. S. A. A. Crown At Stake Tuesday.

The Sunday School Amateur Athletic Association basketball championship is at stake this week, with Mount Vernon Baptist and Park Baptist, winners of the National and American leagues, respectively, meeting at the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday night in the first game of a three-game playoff. The game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The other two games will be played on Wednesday and Thursday. Inman Park has led in its league throughout the season without a mark in the loss column and in the 13 wins only one team came as close as seven points to evening the score at the close of any game.

With Mount Vernon it has been harder. Last week they emerged from what would have been a three-way tie had they not defeated Oakland City 20-17. It is evident that the best team won.

Winners of both leagues will be awarded trophies by the association. How the championship will be won in the Sunday School Amateur Athletic Association:

Methodist Award Trophies Tuesday.

Trophies won by teams and individuals of the Methodist leagues during the past basketball season will be awarded at the meeting of the M. Y. P. U. to be held at Grace Methodist church on Ponce de Leon avenue Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

The Atlanta competitors at the southern tournament in Birmingham were very successful although they did not win the boys' championship. The Druid Hills girls' team won the championship among teams playing boys' rules and both the individual awards went to Atlanta.

"Dusty" Speer, who played during the season with Grace, was chosen as best player and Miss Mewburn, of Druid Hills, won a medal for being high point girl.

First Methodist won the championship in the girls' league, being pushed closely by College Park. Point tied up with Stewart Avenue for honors in the "B" league, and the first Methodist won the championship by winning from East Point.

Players who participated in the meeting are urged to attend the meeting Tuesday night and bring their friends.

Y-Church To Stage All-Sports Program

A bigger and better season lies ahead for members of the Y-Church Athletic Association if the enthusiasm shown at the meeting held last Monday night can be used as a barometer. Having confined their sports activities to basketball and baseball only in the past, it was decided to hold a series of all-sports and tennis immediately following the completion of the baseball leagues.

Plans for a big field day about the middle of the summer with a water meet scheduled for later in the season were laid. Al Speer, of Calvary Athletic Club, was named chairman of the all-sports committee. He will have assistants in all sections of the city.

The election of officers was delayed until the first meeting in April, when the rosters of the baseball leagues will be completed.

The meeting Monday night will be principally for baseball as some of the leagues now being formed are expected to fill their rosters, and as each league is completed, drawing will be made for opening games. The Y. C. A. will participate in the north Georgia championship series that will be staged at Ponce de Leon park.

Any club desiring to enter one of the leagues should be represented at this meeting, which will be held at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 p. m., where more information can be furnished. Cup-pires desiring to register for the coming season should be present also.

The Newest Stribling

Guerry Boone Stribling, now five months old, was born just a week before his father, the late W. L. (Young) Stribling, died from injuries received in a motorcycle crash. His father began his career, as did his father before him, as a stage acrobat. And the youngster appears to be a born trouper. He is shown with his grandfather, "Pa" Stribling, and is enjoying the act a lot.

Guerry Boone Stribling Is a Natural Acrobat

By Ralph McGill.

Guerry Boone Stribling, five months old, likes this sort of fun. He can't walk yet, but hanging from Grandpa "Pa" Stribling's thumbs or doing a "stand" in one of "Pa's" outstretched hands, is lots of fun and as easy as pie. And if you don't think it's fun, just look at that smile. A born trouper, this one.

He was born just a week before his famous father, W. L. (Young) Stribling, succumbed to injuries received in a motorcycle crash. His father was returning from the hospital to see his new son when the accident occurred.

From all the fun he has doing stunts with his grandfather one would think he almost knows that his father and grandfather were once on the stage in an acrobatic act.

He can't walk, but when "Pa" Stribling comes up to his baby carriage and holds him in his arms, the five-month old baby grins happily, reaches up and grabs them and swings on. He isn't afraid at all. And how he loves to do it. He stands. If there is any doubt about that, look at that grin in the picture above.

CARNER PLEASED. It was these "acts" by the youngest of the Striblings that so delighted huge Primo Carners, champion of the world, when he visited Macon and the Striblings for the Stribling memorial last week.

"Hey, hey," he thundered as the youngster balanced in his grandfather's hands. "Look. Look. He no afraid. I no do that myself." And the idea of 270-pound Carners being held up in anyone's hand was good for a great laugh.

Carners was amazed when the youngest of the Striblings was able to hold onto his grandfather's thumbs.

Cecil Travis To Alternate With Ossie Bluege at Third for Senators

CRONIN DRILLS FAYETTE COUNTY BOY ON DEFENSE

His Big Bat, Bluege's Defensive Strength Will Be Utilized.

BLOXIE, Miss., March 10.—(P)—Young Cecil Travis, Fayetteville, Ga. boy, and the veteran Ossie Bluege may share the work around third base for the Washington Senators this season.

Manager Joe Cronin hopes to alternate the pair to get the benefit of Bluege's defensive strength and Travis' hitting power. Travis, who swings from the left, would start against right-handed hurlers and Bluege, a right-hander, would go into action against southpaw pitching.

Travis hit heavily last year with Chattanooga, and Cronin is trying hard to polish his fielding and baserunning before the season starts.

Batteries Ready For Indian Hitters.

NEW ORLEANS, March 10.—(P)—When the Indians' infielders and outfielders trot out to the greenward for their first setting-up exercises next week, they will find the club's pitching and receiving corps most of it—ready to sharpen batting eyes.

The holdouts, Wes Ferrell and Willis Hudlin, pitchers, have not yet appeared. Monte Pearson is on the way here.

Six-foot Oral Hildebrand, who is habitually afflicted with bean pox, has gained several pounds under Walter Johnson's training system. Others are taking off excess poundage.

Ben Chapman Signs Contract.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 10.—(P)—Ben Chapman, fleet outfielder of the New York Yankees, informed Manager Joe McCarthy he had signed his contract for 1934 and would arrive in camp on Monday.

Chapman's capitulation reduced the Yankee holdout list to two—Catcher Bill Dickey and Infielder Lynn Lary.

Dodgers Pleased By Forced Idleness.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 10.—(P)—Train forced Manager Casey Stengel to call off two scheduled workouts for the Brooklyn Dodgers today, much to the satisfaction of his athletes.

Tiger Lineup Almost Certain.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 10.—(P)—The opening lineup of the Detroit Tigers looked pretty certain today as Manager Mickey Cochrane waited for the second contingent of fielders to arrive in camp.

Right field will be handled by Gerald Walker, who will also lead off the batting order. Pete Fox will be in center with Goose Goslin in left.

Hank Greenberg will be at first base, with either Marvin Owen or "Pie" Clifton at third, and Charley Gehringer and Bill Rogell around the keystone sack.

Clifton's aggressiveness may win him the regular third sack, although Cochrane declares that Owen, now at Hot Springs, will start at third.

Rain Keeps Yankees Idle.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 10.—(P)—A heavy rainstorm, which appeared to move south at the rate of a mile an hour, today broke up the Boston Braves' spring game in the seventh inning, with Al Spohrer's nine leading Frank "Shanty" Hogan's forces, 7-5.

While the Braves were playing, the storm kept the New York Yankees idle on Miller Huggins field, about two miles away from the waterfront park, the Tribesmen's Florida wigwam.

Infielder "Pinkey" Whitney and Dick Gyselman and Outfielders Rupert Thompson and Joe Mowry, not due until Monday, arrived in camp shortly before the workout and Manager Bill McKelchie pushed them into uniforms and put them to work.

Morgan Arrives At Red Sox Camp.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 10.—(P)—The veteran Joe Judge swung his vengeance during today's batting practice in the Boston Red Sox camp, which witnessed the arrival of Eddie Morgan, shunted from Cleveland to New Orleans last year.

Morgan has high hopes of relieving Judge of the first-base job, but the 39-year-oldster knows that Eddie will not be able to do so if he can keep hitting. Batting, hitting and slugging, and double doses of each, occupied Manager "Bucky" Harris' hirings until a heavy rain washed all off the diamond for the remainder of the day.

Brouns To Play Intra-Club Game.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 10.—(P)—Manager Rogers Hornsby, of the St. Louis Browns, will get his first slant at the newcomers to the club in competition tomorrow, when the first intra-club game will be played.

Gray, McAfee and McDonald will pitch for the "regulars," with Newcomb, Knott and Coffman doing the mound work for the Yankigans. The lineup of the "regulars," and the batting order, will be decided by the arrival of Manager Frankie Frisch.

Today Frisch drilled his charges on hitting, with regular pitchers in the box, fielders in position, and runners on base. Everybody perspired and labored.

Tomorrow, if rain which began falling at noon, ceases, two teams will play a seven-inning game.

Only 5 Missing At Philly Camp.

WINTERHAVEN, Fla., March 10.—(P)—Rain kept the Philadelphia Phillies idle all day today, but the squad was increased by the arrival of Wes Schulmerich and Prince Henry Oona, completing the outfield list. Don Hurst, Irving Jeffries and three rookie infielders are the only men now missing and they are expected Monday.

Three Stars in New Roles - - - Grove, Earnshaw and Kleinhans at Work

new White Sox uniform. He was traded to the Sox by Connie Mack. George is whipping his arm into shape at the club's training camp at Pasadena, Cal. Ted Kleinhans, a former Cracker, is shown at the right during a practice session at the Phillies' training camp at Winter Haven, Fla. Ted was purchased from the Crackers by the Chicago Cubs and traded to the Phillies in one of the many major deals during the winter season. All three pitchers are expected to prove bulwarks on their respective clubs during the coming season. Grove is expected to put the Red Sox in the pennant chase and Earnshaw is pegged to "make" the White Sox of 1934, while Kleinhans is a rookie of whom great things are expected. Kleinhans won 19 and lost 13 games for Atlanta last season. Associated Press photos.

Colorful Pros' Deeds Will Be Hard To Beat

Burden Is Placed on Young Stars Coming Along, Says Tony Manero Here.

By Tobe Edwards.

Young golf professionals who would replace the passing of such veterans as Walter Hagen, Jim Barnes and Gene Sarazen in the coming years have a long way to go in the opinion of Tony Manero, Sedgefield (N. C.) pro, here for the Metropolitan open tourney at East Lake. Tony admits that it will probably be some time before the entire repertoire of colorful veteran stars pass out of the picture but he believes the youngsters have a longer road to travel before they can replace them in deeds and accomplishments.

The old guard now hovering on the brink of retirement will leave behind a row of titles and colorful deeds that will call for more skill and improvement than has been shown by the younger players, according to Tony, who might be called a young veteran.

"The younger fellows seem to play with a nonchalant spirit," Manero said. "They do not seem to study their strokes with the same intensity that the old-timers do."

"It takes skill and plenty of it to play in big-time tournaments and the young fellows are finding this true as they come along," Tony added.

CAREFUL STUDY. "We have a great crop of youngsters coming along who show promise, but they will find that golf calls for study of every movement in every stroke. They all count and a missed putt will offset a beautiful shot made down the fairway."

Although Hagen has been in the south just a little over a year, as professional at the beautiful Sedgefield (N. C.) Country Club, he has become a southern buster and believes that the game will be long before a national championship tourney will be held down here somewhere.

"There are any number of fine courses in the south and from what I hear the Augusta National Club is one of the greatest down here," Tony said. "I have never played there, but I am looking forward to the Masters' tourney."

Manero was also enthusiastic over the opportunity of playing with Bobby Jones. He has never played with him, but he might play a round with him at Augusta.

MAKES THE GAME. Tony's 72 Saturday afternoon left him shaking his head sadly. "I might just as well have been a 68," he said. "I was four over on the last four holes, but that's what makes the game—I sunk a 20-foot putt on six that probably atoned for part of this hard luck."

"Wild Bill" Melhorn supplied a large gallery with a thrill on the last hole with a long second wood shot from the rough over a row of trees. He had hooked his drive from the tee and was in the rough to the left of the green. After a long and careful study of the situation he calmly selected a wood and lofted his second high and far onto the edge of the green for one of the best shots of the day.

Horton Smith found a bit of woe on the same hole when he hit with Melhorn and Al Watrous. His drive was too long and went into the lake, which protrudes through the ninth fairway.

While discussing the situation with Bobby Jones later and Bobby advised him to play his tee shot more to the right where a longer roll is possible.

Joe Paletti, Chicago, gave the railbirds another treat on the 18th when he sank a long putt downhill for a birdie. The 18th green has been a nightmare to all players in the tourney and Paletti's putt was all the greater because of the fact that it was downhill from about 25 feet away.

Despite a great tee shot, Dick Metz was forced to take three putts on the

AMATEURS BEAT PRO SHOOTERS

Al Freese joined the pro shooters for a day yesterday at the Capitol Golf Club and the amateurs won the first leg of the pro-amateur skeet match by two targets.

Now, there is no connection between Freese, one of the better amateur shooters, shooting with the pros and the match being lost. But Buddy Jones, of the pros, has his own ideas. The amateur team, including Benson Freeman, Jack Gray, Jack Tway, H. J. Fields and J. C. Calhoun had a score of 218x50. The pros, including Captain M. E. Hicks, H. C. Moore, Buddy Jones, Tom Cassels and Al Freese had 216x50. The high winds played havoc with most of the scores.

Buddy Jones, who recently turned pro, broke 74x75, however. He ran straight 25 and had a score of 49 for 50 targets.

There were 25 shooters out yesterday, which was a remarkable showing in view of the weather conditions. J. C. Calhoun won the silver shorbet with a score of 50x50, with handicap included. Benson Freeman was runner-up with 48x50.

Other scores included: J. K. Orr, 46; E. Wight, 46; Clyde King Jr., 46; Tom Cassels, 45; Hugh Nunnally, 45; Al Freese, 45; H. J. Gray, 44; Jack Tway, 44; H. J. Fields, 43; Bill Henley, 43; P. M. Gilbert, 43; M. E. Hicks, 42; R. J. Minehan, 42; Guy Melcher Sr., 41; H. O. Moore, 40; W. S. Howard Jr., 39; Guy Melcher Jr., 38; W. S. Howard Sr., 34; W. A. Parker, 21x25; Marion Smith, 20x25; and Dan McDonald, 20x25.

The following singles scores on the 16-yard traps were recorded: Hugh Nunnally, 24; Jack Tway, 22; Benson Freeman, 21; Bill Henley, 19; Clyde King, 17; J. C. Calhoun, 16; and W. A. Parker, 15.

Jack Tway, secretary of the Capitol Golf Club, was in charge.

SASSE SHIFTED.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(P)—The war department announced today Major Ralph I. Sasse, now on duty at the army war college here, had been assigned duty at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

MICHIGAN WINS.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 10.—(UP)—Michigan State won the eighth central intercollegiate conference indoor track meet today with a total of 32 1-2 points. Notre Dame was second with 21 1-2 points and Pittsburgh was third with 14 1-2 points.

18th when he went too strong for the hole and left himself another long one uphill which he missed by inches.

Others have found trouble with the sloping terrain.

Picked at random—the gallery was much larger Saturday despite a strong, cold breeze—the No. 14 green is a favorite spot to watch play, almost every place on the back side but a Mount Everest breeze soon blew Howard Beckett and other enthusiasts to the home. Dorothy Kirby shivering in the breezes and watching with admiring eyes as Craig Wood, Bill Melhorn and other long-distance wallopers sent long, low drives screaming through the wind. Pinky Arnold and other Newman enthusiasts braved the breeze for a view Saturday.

Personal nominations for the real heroes—players' wives who followed the play in that terrible cold—namely, Mrs. Melhorn, Mrs. Miles and Mrs. Golden—when they could have been playing bridge by that comfortable log fire in the clubhouse.

Henry Pickard thinks Atlanta photographers are better diplomats than one he encountered recently. After finishing with an early lead, the photographer asked him to hang around and if he was still low he would like to get his picture. "They didn't do that here," he laughingly remarked after finishing with a brilliant 65 Saturday.

BASEBALL LOOP TO BE ORGANIZED

Preliminary steps have been taken for the organization of the Gulf States league to be composed of baseball clubs in cities in Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi. It was announced here today by Paul Stevenson, Atlanta newspaperman, who is conducting the survey under authority of the promotional department of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Under the tentative plans now being worked out the circuit would be composed of eight cities selected from the following list: Macon, Columbus, Albany, Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, Gadsden, Anniston, Meridian, Selma, Rome and Huntsville. It would be a Class B organization. All of these cities have possessed league baseball teams at one time or another in the past.

If sufficient encouragement is received in the survey now in progress an organization meeting will be called at an early date to be held probably in Montgomery.

Joe F. Carr, of Columbus, Ohio, promotional director for the national association, is keenly interested in the proposed league. He is president of the National Football league and is an outstanding figure in sports. He will attend the organization meeting in the event a sufficient amount of local co-operation can be obtained.

Under a new plan of the national association whereby all operating expenses have been cut to a minimum and where salary limits are enforced to the letter it is believed a league can be established in this territory on a permanent basis.

Before entering the newspaper business Mr. Stevenson played baseball at the University of Alabama and in several minor leagues. He was one of the organizers of the original Southeastern league and managed the Gadsden team in that organization. Temporary offices have been established by Mr. Stevenson at 135 Nassau street, Atlanta, which will be moved to one of the cities in the circuit in the event the organization is completed.

Grant's next chance against Stoeffen will come at Houston, Texas, April 2 when the nation's stars will play in an invitation tournament. Bryan will go from there to Pinehurst and then, later, to Memphis for the Dixie invitation. Only the leading players have been invited to the latter tournament.

Grant's Davis cup chances are looking good. He is considered the best court-courver in the game. And wherever he goes the manner in which he retrieves seemingly impossible shots amazes the galleries.

He will keep on plugging until he gets Stoeffen one of these days. One of the most improved players in American tennis, he is a threat to any player, regardless of his size.

Niehoff To Speak To Amateur Players

Bert Niehoff, newly appointed arbiter of the Sunday School Amateur Athletic Association and former baseball manager of Mobile, Atlanta and Chattanooga teams, will speak before the association Monday night at Harrison & Short's sporting goods store at Pryor and Edgewood. All interested amateur ball fans in or near the city are invited to attend.

The association, which now boasts a membership of 22 teams, has an open register to any city or rural Sunday school team that wishes to enter.

A business meeting will also be held and all members are urged to attend. The most important item involves the adoption of the 1934 by-laws, which requires a majority of the members.

It is likely that at least two leagues will be formed if time permits. Teams will be arranged in league formation as to strength.

Jim Londos.

Dary Roche and Matron Kirilenko will clash in the one-hour preliminary.

Tickets have been placed on sale at the Piedmont Hatters and fans are urged by Matchmaker Weber to make their purchases in advance to avoid the last-minute rush.

Grant To Play Next In Houston Tourney

Atlanta Tennis Star Says He'll Keep Plugging After Stoeffen Until He Wins.

By Jack Troy.

It was General Ulysses S. Grant, at the battle of the Wilderness, who replied to a protest from Washington concerning the number of Confederate soldiers being wiped out—"I will fight it out along these lines if it takes all summer."

And yesterday it was Bryan Grant, Atlanta tennis general, who said regarding the giant Lester Stoeffen, of California—"I will fight it out along these lines if it takes all summer to beat him."

Grant just returned from Bermuda where he lost in the semi-finals to Stoeffen and then paired with him to win the doubles title, had a lot to say about the hospitality extended. "I have never experienced a more sportsmanlike gallery. It was a great trip."

Grant is very serious about turning giant-killer. He has never been able to beat Stoeffen, who "overpowers me," he says.

The breaks of the game apparently deprived him of his chance at Bermuda. Grant had the match in hand in the fourth set, leading 3-0. And then it rained.

"I had the blues when it rained," Bryan said. "I was taking the fight to him and seemed almost over the hill. But when we came back he evened the games at 3-3. I won the next and then he took the set in straight games. He overpowered me in the match set, winning by love."

According to accounts of the match Grant, making seemingly impossible returns, had the giant Californian on the run. But when the rain fell, the wet court seemed to handicap him and Stoeffen, taking the offensive, rushed to the net and won the match.

Stoeffen seems the main obstacle in Grant's Davis cup chances at Wimbledon. He put out Frank X. Shields, No. 1 ranking star, in the Miami Biltmore tournament to provide the first upset in the season. And chances are he would have won at Bermuda had it not been for the rain.

HOUSTON MEET.

Grant's next chance against Stoeffen will come at Houston, Texas, April 2 when the nation's stars will play in an invitation tournament. Bryan will go from there to Pinehurst and then, later, to Memphis for the Dixie invitation. Only the leading players have been invited to the latter tournament.

Grant's Davis cup chances are looking good. He is considered the best court-courver in the game. And wherever he goes the manner in which he retrieves seemingly impossible shots amazes the galleries.

He will keep on plugging until he gets Stoeffen one of these days. One of the most improved players in American tennis, he is a threat to any player, regardless of his size.

West End Holds Shoot Today

The regular Sunday skeet shoot will be held today at the West End Gun Club, beginning at 10 o'clock. The second leg of the pro-amateur shoot will be fired.

Because of the whistling winds and overcast skies, there will be no prize shoot today. However, a ham shoot is pending as soon as the weather clears.

Secretary C. L. Davis will be in charge of today's event, as usual.

PITCHING STAFF CHIEF PROBLEM OF GEORGIANS

O'Kelly, Nichols Mainstays; First Base Remains Wide Open.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 10.—Vernon "Catfish" Smith, newly appointed head baseball coach at Georgia, will issue the call for all baseball candidates to report Monday afternoon for the first official practice of the season. Pitchers and catchers have been working out since last Monday.

The pitching staff will be the chief worry of Coach Smith as he assumes his new duties. Only a short time is left before the first game, which will be an exhibition affair March 31, with Toronto, the International league, for the batteries to get into shape.

Rutherford O'Kelly and Ernest Nichols, reserve pitchers, will probably be the mainstays on the hurling staff. "Flunk" Costa, who moves up from the freshman team, will also be used along with Lew Cordell, who has had some previous pitching experience. Tony Brazzitta may be moved in from third base to bolster up the pitching staff.

THREE GRADUATE. The graduation of three veteran pitchers, Jimmy Nicholson, Kenneth Hamilton and Johnny Styles, is the cause of the sadly depleted pitching ranks.

Leroy Moorhead, veteran catcher, and Harold Carter, reserve, will be the backstops for the Bulldogs.

Ineligibility of Virlyn Moore Jr. will leave a vacancy at the first base sack. Moore was declared ineligible due to participation in an outside basketball game. Harrison Anderson may go to the keystone sack to replace Moore.

At second base the veteran Lawrence "Flip" Costa will return to ease Coach Smith's worries about that position. Charlie Treadaway, sophomore shortstop candidate who has had plenty of fast baseball experience, will handle the position vacated by Homer Key if an old football arm injury does not interfere with his throwing.

GRANT AT THIRD. Cy Grant will probably take care of the hot corner and Lee Webb, another third base veteran, may be moved to the outfield. Both Grant and Webb are lettermen and fair hitters. Jordan Ennis will be the only outfielder returning with Norman "Buster" Mott and Marion Gaston being lost by graduation. Ennis is a good hitter and is an excellent fielder.

If the hurling staff is not sufficient the Bulldogs should have a fair season for there are several good hitters returning. Seventeen games have been scheduled for the season.

PROS WILL AID U. S. NET STARS

PHILADELPHIA, March 10.—(P)—America's Davis cup forces will have the aid of tennis professionals, including Big Bill Tilden, Ellsworth Vines and other brilliant amateurs of the past—if the United States team's new captain, Fred Perry, has his way.

R. Norris Williams, just chosen to lead the 1934 squad in the international competition, stated definitely today that he would like to have help to help in the development of American tennis.

"The team, itself, won't be assembled until about May 1st," he said. "In the meantime, however, we are making an effort to enlist all types of players, including the professionals, to play with our men before they depart for the attack they will need."

Captain of the team several times in the past, Williams takes over the reins from a non-playing development. He was recalled that after last year's American defeat in the inter-zone finals, he stated his belief that the United States players were not sufficiently aggressive. Today he looked optimistically forward to the new task.

"One advantage the United States players will have this year, as compared with other years," he said, "is that they will be the underdogs."

"The United States players will be playing on grass is another advantage. The greater majority of our players are best on grass."

"Some of the professionals have shown great interest and a sincere desire to help out. If their proclivities don't conflict they will be out to help us."

No indication of who would make up the 1934 American squad was given, Williams telling all questioners to watch future developments.

"Since the selection committee only met yesterday," he explained, "we have no definite information who the candidates will be."

Williams said he believed Fred Perry, mainstay of the championship British team, might suffer from his almost continuous competition this winter.

"He's been playing with the Australians this winter," said Williams. "True, he's been getting in a lot of tennis, but it is possible he may suffer to a certain extent the same reaction our players had last year."

knocked the ashes from his pipe and watched the new Cracker catcher depart for another conference with Spencer Abbott.

The old Oriole walked out and watched a workman grading down the right-field bank with a mule team. He took out his watch and timed the mules and the driver. He noticed that they moved a scoopful of dirt every five minutes.

"See that bird is slow," he stated. "He ought to have Palmisano helping him and he'd move two scoops every five minutes."

Y-Church Player Seeks Pelican Job

Marshall Mauldin, a graduate of the Y-Church baseball leagues, will be one of the players to be selected for a try at one of the infield positions of the Pelicans. Mauldin is the third former Y-Church leaguer to make a bid for a place on Southern league clubs. Johnny Marion and Russell Marcy will soon report to the Lookouts.

TECH HIGH HAS MANY TO MAKE HONOR ROLL

The largest percentage of the student body in the history of Tech High made the honor roll in their last quarter's work. This group is composed of 83 boys, which comprises about 60 per cent of the entire student body. To make the honor roll a student must make an average of 90 per cent or over on his report card.

The tryouts for the Smith debating team were held last week for the purpose of deciding who will represent Tech High in the state-wide debating tournament to be held the last week in March. The team is composed of Henry Sutton and Milton Arnold, affirmative, and Ivid Thrallkill and Tom Johnson, negative. Mr. Lawrence, who is coaching the boys, expects to see some real action.

The students of the journalism class and the Rainbow staff were the guests of the Paramount theater Thursday morning to review "As the Earth Turns." The students will receive prizes of passes to the theater for the best criticism. The judges were C. T. Sutherland, journalism instructor, and Van Guldridge, of the Paramount.

Tech High was represented in the indoor track meet sponsored by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Saturday by Harry Fincher, quarter-mile runner, who will be entered in the 60-yard dash; Jack Sisk, Cecil Hammond, Paul Wright and Lee Stovall.

BASS HIGH CONCERT TO HAVE 200 VOICES

Over 200 boys participated in the sports carnival presented in the Bass auditorium Tuesday night. W. O. Moody, the physical education director for the boys, was in charge of the carnival. Among the many different sports represented were the tumbling team, basketball and many others which were exceedingly thrilling. Directed by P. S. Woodward, the Tech High choir presented very interesting and pleasing numbers.

The boys' festival concert of 200 voices will be presented by the music department under the direction of Mrs. Haskell Boyter in the school auditorium on March 15. This will be the second annual boys' concert to be presented at Bass. The concert given last year was widely praised and Mrs. Boyter expects the one to be presented this year to surpass the other.

The sketch of the mural painting for the association presented in the auditorium has been completed by Miss Alsbrook and Miss Ferguson, artists, who have worked under the direction of Mr. Skidmore, of the High Museum of Art. The work will begin immediately.

TEACHER SENDS FRUIT TO FORMWALT SCHOOL

The teachers of Formwalt school were very happy to receive a crate of oranges from Miss Bokritzky.

High 4-1 are very busy preparing for the return of Miss Bokritzky, who is still in Florida. They are very glad to have Allen Long back after her absence due to measles.

High 5-1 are learning a country dance of the pioneers.

Low 2-2 have cut out Indian figures.

Low and High 2-1 are making an Indian scrapbook.

Low 2-1 are going to be busy little gardeners soon.

Low 4 are fixing a spring bulletin board in their room.

High 1-1 have made some interesting reading charts about community life.

Low 2-2 are making bird houses for the birds that will soon be here. They are making booklets in appreciation of the birds.

High 3-1 are working hard to have the most beautiful room in the old building.

High 3-2 have made a picture showing about Robinson Crusoe.

Low 5 are making a plan showing life on a colonial plantation.

High kindergarten are so happy that most of the children are back after being sick with the measles.

Low 6-1 have organized a garden club.

DOROTHY WALLACE.

FAITH SCHOOL PUPILS ENJOY MANY VISITORS

High 6 enjoyed having Mrs. Bynum visit the school.

High 6-2 are glad to have Robert Helms back after having chickenpox.

High 5 were so happy to have Mrs. Martin from Highland and Miss Vaughn from Lincoln school to visit us all day Friday.

Milton James and Edward Hollingsworth have made a beautiful Viking border for High 3.

Miss Lowe spent Tuesday with High 3. The class enjoyed her visit very much.

High 2-2 are enjoying the study of the Dutch.

Pat Persons, Paschall Godfrey, Gene Berry, Eula Mary Booth, Laverne Martin, Eva Mae Gully, of High 2, were the children who stayed to enjoy a pleasant time after school because their tables got the most stars.

Fifteen children from High 1-1 attended school March 5.

High kindergarten will be so happy when Mary Beard, Bobby Jean Dyer, Maybelle Sills and Margaret Wiggins are well and can come back to school.

Cecil Dean and D. C. Ray have been absent for five days. They are greatly missed from the ungraded class.

MAVIS ALLEN.

KEY FIFTH GRADE-HAS SUNDAY SCHOOL PRIZE

High 5-1 got 100 per cent in spelling last week.

Low 2-1 are sorry to say that Mrs. Claxton, their teacher, is still sick.

High 5-1 are planning to go on an imaginary trip to South America. They have made their suitcases.

High 5-1 are leading in the arithmetic race in our school. They are decorating their bulletin board with original pioneer drawings. They are going to celebrate Burbank's birthday.

Low 5 have won the Sunday school banner again. They each have little pioneer log churches, which they keep their own Sunday school record on. Every time they attend Sunday school they color one log.

JOE SHAFFER.

VISITOR AT KIRKWOOD SPEAKS TO CHILDREN

Last week the children of Kirkwood were measured and weighed by our efficient school nurse, Mrs. Fell. Every child carefully studied his record and all are trying to continue to improve.

High 2-1 are enjoying building a Seminole house and they are weaving an Indian rug which is very pretty and attractive.

High 6-1 and High 6-2 enjoyed and appreciated very much a visit from Mrs. Johnson, who at one time lived in Brazil.

Superintendent's Message

My Dear Boys and Girls:

Two important items of interest have come to me as I have visited the schools. First, I am impressed with the courtesy which many children are showing towards their fellows and towards older people. The attitude and manners of some of our children are unusually fine. However, there are other children who seem to be very negligent of their attitude and manners towards their fellow students and older people. I wish to impress upon you the importance of developing a personality which expresses itself in a beautiful, courteous manner. Nothing more distinguishes a gentleman or a lady than this quality. Older students should study to make themselves agreeable and friendly to others and observe those proprieties of society that will stamp them as cultured people.

The second interesting item is the care with which some children deliver their sentences and the carelessness shown by others who seem to forget that they owe a courtesy to people to speak so that they can hear and to use correct language and the proper intonations of the voice. Let us strive to use the English language well. Slang is not a compliment to our schools and we should speak correctly. I know how difficult it is at times to do this because our training and our background come out so decidedly in our speech. I have had that difficulty myself, having been reared on a large plantation with many people who did not speak correct English.

May I urge every student to use correct speech, to be careful in modulation and in articulation, and always to speak in such a way that it will not be a strain for others to hear.

Always your friend,

WILLIS A. SUTTON,

Superintendent of Schools.

HOME PARK CHILDREN ELECT TEAM CAPTAINS

Home Park enjoyed a visit from Miss Smith and Miss Boylston last week.

We are all so happy to be able to play out of doors again after being in so long because of bad weather. We have enjoyed our volleyball game in High 6, and have selected our captains. They are Inora Chase, girls' team, and Maurice Wilson, boys' team.

The low kindergarten had a lovely party in honor of Arthur Rogers' first birthday.

High 2-1 is very much interested in study about the Indians.

Low 3 is studying about the wind.

High 3 is enjoying a trip to Switzerland.

High 5 are enjoying their study of pioneer life and are studying about our government. They had a paper sale last week and are going to fix up their room for spring.

High 4 are studying about Roosevelt.

Low 6 are glad to have Thelma and Helen Beavers join their class. They came to us from Marietta.

Low 4 are making passports for their trip to Egypt.

SPRING FOURTH GRADE PUBLISHES OWN PAPER

The High 1 children are enjoying their new books very much.

High 2 making an interesting scene on their sand table showing how the Hopi Indians lived.

Low 5 are studying about the early explorers. They are making a border of American life.

High 4 are watching the birds' return from their winter trips. They are enjoying the study of the robins.

High 4 have their own class paper now called "Viking News." The editorial staff are: Jane Kollock; assistant editor, David Blackshear; joke editor, Jane Hurt; sports editor, Catherine Williamson; Logan Blackley III will soon be editor. Our school is in charge of the art department.

High 5 had an interesting debate subject, "Resolved, That Cotton is a More Valuable to the World Than Corn." The affirmative side won.

High 6-1 are studying South America and are making colorful maps.

High 6-2 have beautiful hagnacs blooming.

ADAIR SCHOOL PUPIL SEES VIRGINIA MINES

High 1-11 are so many children are out with measles and mumps and hope they will soon be back.

High 5-11 are making a pioneer border. They are glad to have Virginia Dial and Mary Elizabeth Besley back at school.

Low 3 have two children with birthdays in March.

High 5-1 is 100 per cent in humane society membership.

Low 1 are glad that most of them are well from the measles and mumps and are back at school.

James Ellis, of Low 6, has been in the coal mines of Virginia. He brought to school a miner's cap with a lamp on it and some slate that had prints of leaves on it. We enjoyed an all-day visit from Miss Howard, of Faith school, on Tuesday.

CATHERINE WOODWARD.

BOYS' HIGH STUDENTS HEAR HISTORIAN TALK

Wilbur Kurtz, noted artist and friend of Boys' High, spoke to the Atlanta history students of Boys' High Thursday afternoon on "The Atlanta Campaign in the Civil War." Mr. Kurtz, the guest of G. C. Moseley, history teacher, gave an interesting and complete account of the campaign, presenting all important facts in battles in and around Atlanta which finally ended in the surrendering and burning of Atlanta in 1864. The speech was given to 250 boys during the fifth period study hall.

J. H. Griffin, popular math teacher and faculty adviser of the DeKalb Club, was absent from school the two past weeks, much to the regret of the entire student body. Mr. Griffin returned to school Monday but weakened throughout the day and was forced to return home.

R. J. Griffin, senior class honor roll student, was the contest sponsor by the H-Y Club on "Clean Speech." Griffin will receive a 1933-34 Alcephonian as a reward for his ability. Horace Russell placed second.

JAMES KNIGHT.

JOE BROWN STUDENT SPEAKS IN CONTEST

Corbett Peek, a senior at Joe Brown, contested with four other representatives in the city-wide Red Cross speakers' contest held in Rich's department store March 10. The speaker was Elizabeth B. Sneaker, Girls' High; Bennie McChesnie, Hoke Smith; David Macarow, Commercial, and June Moore, of North A. S. The topic was "The Development of the J. R. C." The two final winners will be awarded a week's trip to the convention at Washington.

Louise Hooks, of 9-2-6, was the winner of the 1934 D. A. R. medal. The topic of the essay was "National Green."

In a recent check-up it was discovered that 6 per cent of Joe Brown had perfect attendance and 3 per cent had perfect scholarship for the first semester.

The CWA Symphony orchestra presented a musical program in the Joe Brown auditorium on March 2.

MILTON SCHOOL WINS PLAQUES IN ATHLETICS

The girls of fourth, fifth and sixth grades are very proud of the three plaques they won in athletics this year. This is the eighth successive year the fifth grade has won the trophy for the fourth grade and third year for the sixth. Only six are given in the city and we have had from three to four of them for several years.

The children of the sixth grade are on an imaginary trip to South America.

High 3 are delighted with their printing sets and gold fish bought with the dollar they won at P.T.A.

Low 3 boys and girls have been busy making large envelopes to hold their spelling papers and self-testing drills.

High and Low 1 celebrated Washington's birthday by making hats of red, white and blue.

The little people in the kindergarten learned to make fudge this week.

JONES TEACHER GIVEN PRESENTS BY SCHOOL

We are sorry that Miss Kendrick is still ill and hope she will be back soon. The kindergarten has been very busy making large envelopes to hold their spelling papers and self-testing drills.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

ALEX. J. MORRISON

When you go to hit the ball your whole right side is locked tighter than a barn door. I told a player the other day, immediately he wanted to know how he could tell when this side was relaxed. By the action of his right ankle during the downswing, I repeated. Just as the left foot should roll over easily toward the inside during the backswing, so the right foot should roll over toward the inside as the club hits through the ball. And when the right side is relaxed you'll not have any trouble with your hands and the club cutting in sharply to the left, they will swing through the ball in the proper plane.

Another Handicap.

There is something more. There is the matter of habit, so easily formed, so hard to break and cure. The swinging habits of a young caddy are usually correct, so he may become a mazeran, a Hagen, a Runyan, a 25 or 30 wrong ways involving the use of hands, wrists, arms, feet, legs, hips, shoulders, etc., all of which have to be correctly blended into one smooth action. Then there is the mental and emotional side, and the matter of nerves.

It is at least an interesting sporting subject. In the first place, there are only one or two right ways to hit the ball, speaking of main fundamentals. Hagen and Runyan, possibly 25 or 30 wrong ways involving the use of hands, wrists, arms, feet, legs, hips, shoulders, etc., all of which have to be correctly blended into one smooth action. Then there is the mental and emotional side, and the matter of nerves.

But the average golfer usually starts with many faults and these faults soon become habits, which hang on with the grimness of a tiger's grip.

Here is an example. A few days ago I was talking with a famous instructor when a stranger appeared for a lesson.

"I have never played golf," the pupil said, "and I would like to start right."

The instructor started him swinging the club and in a little while his swing was working nicely.

Then the instructor dropped a few balls on the mat, telling the pupil to keep the same swing going.

In less than five seconds Dr. Jekyll had changed into Mr. Hyde. The butterfly was now a beetle. Every feature of his practice swing had vanished. There were about 10 notable faults on display, and he was then smiling.

"Just a moment, my friend," he said to his pupil. "You told me you had never played golf. You have not only played golf before, but you have played it badly. No beginner could pick up all of those common faults in five minutes."

"You're right, the pupil admitted. 'I've played golf for 20 years—and always badly. I quit for six months and then decided to start all over—as if I had never seen a swing before. I wanted to start right. I told you I had never played. I wanted to be treated as if I were a complete beginner.'"

It was a good idea, but it had no chance of working. Those faulty habits of 20 years had buried themselves too deeply in his mental and physical system. They would not be cast out in a few minutes or a few days.

Neblett Is Moved To Charleston Post

Howard (Monk) Neblett, former star center of the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets and captain of the team for two years, is going to Charleston, S. C., to become connected with the A. G. Rhodes furniture store of that city, it was announced by Rhodes yesterday.

Neblett, one of the most popular players in Tech's history and an All-Southeastern selection his last year, has worked in the Rhodes store here for three years, where he made many friends.

Since leaving school, Neblett has been making progress in the furniture business. His friends here are glad of this and the fact that he has been promoted to a higher position at the Charleston store.

East Point Resumes Wrestling Matches

Weekly wrestling matches will be resumed this Thursday at East Point with Melville Clark promoting the bouts in the East Point auditorium under the auspices of the American Legion Post No. 51.

Al Stecher and Touby Nelson headline the main event in a 90-minute match. Jim Duffy, meet host, has worked in the Rhodes store here for three years, where he made many friends.

Bullpups Schedule Three Track Meets

ATHENS, Ga., March 10.—Coach H. J. Stegeman announced today that the Bullpups, 19 college champions for two years, today accepted an invitation to play a series of exhibition basketball games with the University of Georgia at Athens, Ga., March 20, 21 and 22.

The Teachers will play several exhibitions to raise funds for the trip. The series at Athens will be of the Georgia Tech Bullpups, coached by Coach Stegeman, against the National Basketball Coaches' Association meeting.

Emory Frosh Tie Varsity Tankmen

Emory's freshman swimming team tied the varsity, 37-37, in a dual meet held Friday afternoon in the pool at Emory.

The schedule: April 21, Auburn at Auburn; April 27, Tech High at Athens; and May 5, Georgia Tech at Athens.

MARYLAND STAMP SOCIETY

The regular meeting of the Atlanta Stamp Society was held at the office of the secretary, Peck building, Thursday, with ten members present.

The pressing need for permanent quarters for the society was discussed at length in a report of the committee on housing. A plan has been proposed that seems to carry excellent possibilities and all members are urged to attend the next regular meeting Thursday, March 15, that a decision may be reached which is new issue will be favorable to the entire membership.

Collections were shown by Major C. T. Senay and A. P. Francis. The United States collection of Major Senay was very attractive and all present took the opportunity to carefully examine numerous early and very attractive United States stamps. Mr. Francis' book of specialties was admired by all.

Sickness of several members was reported and early recovery is hoped for each and every absentee.

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Krawltow Rice

TALES OF A WAYSIDE TEE.

"Why is it," a friend asked recently, "that there are so many thousands and thousands of golfers who never seem to improve at all? Most of these are normal people, ex-athletes, or even athletes. They play steadily. Many of them take occasional lessons. Yet their scores never seem to get any better, year after year. There are exceptions, of course, but I am speaking of the big majority—the 98 per cent of the millions who play. What's the answer, if there is an answer?"

At first glance this melancholy and morbid truth seems strange enough. The ball sits there, waiting to be hit. No opponent is hitting it or throwing it by you. No opponent is jostling, showing or pushing you. All you have to do is to take any club you want, take your time and hit the ball, with a club suited to almost every need and distance.

FAVORITES WIN IN NET TOURNAY

NEW YORK, March 10.—(UP)—Paced by Gregory Mangin, the defending champion, 11 of the 12 seeded stars in the men's national indoor tennis championship moved into the second round today as the field of 64 was cut in half.

The only seeded player who did not advance was Paul Fene, of France, who suddenly developed a cramp in the elbow of his racket arm, and was granted permission to hold over his match until Monday.

Today's play did not tend to brighten France's chances of lifting the championship, for two of the three top-flight players who were extended were wearers of the tri-color. Andre Merling, young Davis-cupper and holder of a nation's indoor title, was forced to attend sets of Albert Lavie, an ordinary New York suburban workman, before winning 3-6, 6-1, 6-1. Lavie waited after the first heat, but while he was strong made it plain that Merling does not thrive against an opponent with speed.

Fran Borotra, the old bounding Basque, will soon be bound to frequently not so high any more, was driven to the limit by Kenneth Appel, of Orange, N. J. Appel has never made much showing in high-class play, but today he drove the veteran French internationalist to the limit before losing 8-6, 6-3. Borotra, who has played in the Davis cup, times, will be lucky to reach the semi-finals, if one is to judge by his play against the New Jersey boy.

Hallywood, who played in the Davis cup, was not in the running. He had a list of who had to fight for every point was Sidney B. Wood, No. 5 in national ranking and former Wimbledon champion, who played in the Davis cup. A New Yorker still in his teens and was within one point of losing the first set, and trailed 1-4 in the second. He was strong, however, and finally won out 7-5, 6-4.

The other favorites came through without much difficulty.

Another Handicap.

In attempting to think of too many things, he overlooks the main point of concentration, which should be upon smoothness, comfort in the swing, comfort in address.

There must be a change, too, in his form of concentration, which should not be upon the result of a shot, but how the ball is swung, and the swing, in the absence of any extra effort.

If the shot calls for a strong No. 5 to get home, the average golfer should make a No. 4 and then swing the club to eliminate any thought of harder hitting.

Another reason for so much bad golf is that normal instincts are mostly wrong—the right hand overpowering the left—the strong hand hitting the ball—the tendency to swing the club instead of swinging it—the feeling of power in the body and the feeling of the club in the swing action of hands and wrists and arms—

"It is a game," Walter J. Travis once told me, "that must be played on a normal or natural instinct."

There are many reasons for so much faulty golf, especially on the part of those who have little time for practice and the study of the game. But its old intriguing lure never fades.

The Reason Why.

The average golfer, meaning the 90 per cent, doesn't improve to any extent because he takes the same set of faults to battle.

At each start he takes to the course the same amount of tension—the same amount of stiffness and tightness—about the same mental attitude.

He may take lessons and hit good shots in practice. His practice swing may be high-class.

But about the third hole he is back to back with the old bad habits. Recently I saw a fine young golfer hit almost every shot perfectly for 30 minutes—in practice. But it was all different in the round that followed. In the first nine holes he was thinking in terms of swinging—in terms of form. In the second nine he was thinking largely of results.

The swing in golf is the practice swing.

The second easiest is in practice play. The third easiest is in a friendly round. The hardest is when they get the club out of the bag and every shot counts.

The average golfer is usually in a

STAMPS IN THE NEWS.

Another issue of scenic stamps, depicting various views of life and activities, has come from the Spanish protectorate of Morocco, located on the northern coast directly opposite Gibraltar.

The 1928 issue also was scenic, all of the other Spanish Moroccan stamps being surcharges of regular issues of Spain.

The new set of six ranges in value from one to 50 centavos.

New British stamps, scheduled for early this year, will not appear until midsummer. They will be produced by a photographic process, new for stamps, although colors will stand out more definitely.

The current Bulgarian issue has been augmented by a two and a four-cent stamp. The former is a surcharge of the three-centa brown, while the latter is bright orange.

In view of the fact that Belgium always has illustrated its regular issue stamps, collectors are expecting a new issue from that country showing King Leopold III.

MARYLAND STAMP SOCIETY

The new three-cent Maryland centenary commemorative postage stamp to be issued in commemoration of the three-hundredth anniversary of the founding of the state of Maryland, will be placed on sale at St. Mary's City, a fourth-class post office in St. Mary's county, Maryland, Friday, March 23, according to an announcement of Postmaster-General Farley. The stamp will be placed on sale at postoffices throughout the country March 24.

The new stamp, is to be approximately one inch by seven-eighths of an inch in size, has as its central design the two ships which brought the first settlers to Maryland shores from England in 1634, the "Ark" and the "Dove." Across the top of the stamp are the words, "Maryland Tercentenary." In the upper left corner are figures of "1634" while in the upper right corner appear the figures "1934." At the left of the stamp is the inscription "The Ark and the Dove," and at the right is the inscription "United States Postage Three-Cents" appear across the lower border of the stamp, while the two lower corners are the figure "3." The color of the new stamp was not announced.

It was in November, 1633, that the Ark and the Dove set sail from Cowes, Isle of Wight, England, carrying 200 colonists under the guidance of Leonard Calvert. Landing on St. Clement's island in the Potomac, the colonists soon made their way to the mainland and it was at St. Mary's City, where the new stamp will go on first-day sale, that they made their first permanent landing.

'It Happened One Night' Is Held For Second Week at the Rialto

With crowds packing the theater every day of the past week and with hundreds unavoidably turned away nightly for lack of room, the Rialto theater realized the hopelessness of trying to accommodate in one week all those desirous of seeing the Frank Capra production, "It Happened One Night," with Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert.

So Manager W. T. Murray decided to hold the picture over for a second week which started Saturday and which, for that day at least, showed not the slightest tendency to any reduction in attendance.

Capra, who made "Lady for a Day," the great box office success of 1933, has more than repeated his triumph of that year in this, his first big production for 1934. Again he has taken a human, romantic and humorous story written by an acknowledged master. This one was written by Samuel Hopkins Adams. And again he has given it his touch of genius, developing the story in fascinating tempo, with splendid players in every role but always holding the story first in importance.

'The Mystery of Mr. X,' Thriller At Grand With Montgomery

The suave, engaging manner which has won Robert Montgomery a conspicuous place in films is highly evidenced in his new starring picture, "The Mystery of Mr. X," at Loew's Grand theater. He is seen as a young thief who is suspected of being a fiendish murderer, and the story concerns his efforts to throw off the pursuit of Scotland Yard officials.

Elizabeth Allan is his leading woman, and Ralph Forbes, Henry Stephenson and Lewis Stone are in the cast. Edgar Selwyn directed with a skill which allows never a dull moment in the disclosure of the dramatic and exciting sequences of the thriller.

"The Mystery of Mr. X" introduces us to the officials of Scotland Yard, deeply concerned about a series of fiendish murders which are being committed in London. The murderer is known as Mr. X, and after giving warning of his intention, he murders a policeman. A series of such brutal crimes has aroused the public, and the papers are criticizing Scotland Yard for its inability to check the murders.

One policeman is killed, in the method Mr. X employs, outside the home where a young thief (Robert Montgomery) is in the act of stealing a large and famous diamond. The loss of the stone and the murder of the policeman leads Scotland Yard to conclude that the thief and the murderer are the same—an uncomfortable position indeed for Montgomery. He does not dare try to dispose of a jewel which will identify him at once as a murderer.

Therefore he sets about, boldly, to convince Scotland Yard officials that the diamond thief is not the murderer. He is rather too successful at the effort, for he meets the daughter of a Yard official and is immediately attracted to her. The girl (Elizabeth Allan) is just as interested in him.

Montgomery, in love, decides to renounce his criminal career, but the police are on his trail as the mysterious Mr. X, and to escape he has to capture the real murderer and present him to the thwarted detectives. It is a job he undertakes with the resources of an expert criminal, and the consequences are highly entertaining.

Paramount's 'No More Women' Co-Stars McLaglen and Lowe

Even the bottom of the sea is not big enough to hold both Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen, those rivals of countless screen battles, who bob up again at the Paramount this week, in "No More Women," a riotous saga of salvage divers, perhaps the most colorful offering of the team's career.

Divers by day and Romeo by night, they elude and caress their way through a veritable cyclone of adventures and romance. It all begins when Eddie outsmarts Vic, diver on a competing salvage tug, by recovering $20,000 in gold, from a submerged rum-runner.

Matters are not improved when the tug on which Vic works is inherited by a young and attractive girl, played by Sally Blane. Eddie likes her looks and promptly quits his boat to join her crew, causing Vic to be demoted in rank.

Along with the comedy, the picture unfolds thrill after thrill, climaxing in a desperate fight for life on the ocean bottom.

Sally Blane is eye-filling and capable in her role and Minna Gombel is always entertaining as a "friend" of the sailors who are interested principally in the insurance policies she holds on their lives.

Remaining character roles are filled by such established players as Christian Rub, Alphonse Eclair, Tom Dugan, Harold Guber, William Franey, J. P. McGowan and Frank Morgan. Albert Dogell directed.

On the short feature program, Hal Leroy, the Broadway juvenile star, and Mitzie Mayfair are seen in "Use Your Imagination," which, with "Hollywood on Parade" and Fox News, complete an unusually good program.

Georgia Shows Jungle Thrills In 'Devil Tiger'

"There are more men killed by tigers in the jungles of Asia every year than there are tigers killed by men." It was this statement, accidentally read in a Singapore newspaper, that was the inspiration for the special first run picture "Devil Tiger," which is now playing at the Georgia theater. Clyde E. Elliott, who directed the film in its natural locale, decided to make a picture of the man-eating tiger who dares murder more often than man.

It was Elliott who directed the sensational animal picture "Bring 'Em Back Alive," but, according to his own statements "Devil Tiger" is the more thrilling of the two. In producing "Devil Tiger" in the Malay jungles, more than 170,000 feet of film were exposed. A crew of 100 natives, composed of Malaysians, Chinese, Indians, Tamils and many others were used both as actors and as members of the safari needed to transport the heavy equipment from one outpost to another. Six tons of material made up that safari and included in this were five motion picture cameras, four still cameras, and a complete sound outfit specially designed for jungle purposes.

Of more sensational sequences, and never before seen by a human who lived to tell the tale, the following are the outstanding: a fight between a tiger and a crocodile, mostly under water; a python and a leopard in a struggle to the finish; the cornering of a hyena by the rare Malayan bear; the conquest of a python by a water buffalo; a hilarious set-to between a monkey and a giant crab; a fight between a beautiful black panther and a crafty crocodile.

Every sequence was photographed.

Manager Murray at the Rialto and Columbia's ace director, Frank Capra, have done it again. "It Happened One Night" is now in its second week, still packing 'em in and, whether Manager Murray agrees or not, good for a third week of excellent business if I don't badly miss my guess.

I would like to know just how much money they took in at the Georgia theater during the seven days that Amos 'n' Andy were here. But the figure would look like the national debt. However, it undoubtedly had to be divided in various splits, so perhaps Lucas and Jenkins are not able to retire on the week's takings, after all.

'Orient Express' And 'Ballyhoo' Open at Capitol

The insoluble future of a train full of people, aboard the "Orient Express," the film coming to the screen at the Capitol theater today for a split-week showing with Maxine's "Ballyhoo Revue," is seen to take shape and events fling, as it were, the life of each occupant on a new tangent.

Norman Foster, the young star who has been featured in many recent hits, is starred with Heather Angel and Herbert Mundin in a drama of present-day Europe. In a strange human cargo from Ostend, Cologne and Vienna, a vaudeville dancer meets a rich young man, who is grateful for her love—and she for his protection. A crazy journalist stalks an interview with death. A murderer leaps from a snow-covered roof, boards the train, adding his dreaded presence to this ill-assorted assembly. It is from these elements of drama that a cohesive tragedy of frustration and triumphant personality is woven.

The stage presentation of Maxine's "Ballyhoo Revue," a satirical melange of music and song, wherein the entrancing Eileen Whitney, rumba dancer, comes to the fore with astounding terpsichorean grace, is expected to rival the entertainment of any show offered here to date.

To the scintillating rhythms of Red Spalding's band, a beautiful ensemble of dancing ladies will offer the latest choral motifs interspersed with comic interludes and several eccentric dancing presentations.

Enrico Lehle's orchestra has prepared a delightful group of melodies for this new and popular feature, unique with the Capitol here.

Ralph Morgan will be seen in a strong character role in the "Orient Express," which was produced in the Fox studios, and Manager Hall announces that a full group of short subjects have been secured for this bill.

Recommend most highly "Death Takes a Holiday," which comes to the Fox next Friday. A delicious piece of serio-comedy, with Fredric March in a characterization that, in my opinion, even surpasses his "Jekyll and Hyde" role. You must take your brains with you to fully enjoy the picture, but if you do, you'll find direction, acting, dialog and staging as near perfection as a perfect plot can ask.

Manager Murray at the Rialto and Columbia's ace director, Frank Capra, have done it again. "It Happened One Night" is now in its second week, still packing 'em in and, whether Manager Murray agrees or not, good for a third week of excellent business if I don't badly miss my guess.

All-Star 'Wonder Bar' Opens 'Spring Shower of Hits' at Fox

"Wonder Bar," now playing at the Fox theater, is the first of six specially selected super-productions which are to be given at this theater as its "Spring Shower of Hits." Audiences Friday and Saturday agreed that it inaugurates the impressive series in worthy manner.

Dick Powell, Kay Francis, Dolores Del Rio, Ricardo Cortez, Al Jolson, Guy Kibbee, Louise Fazenda, Fifi D'Orsay, Hugh Herbert, Ruth Donnelly, Merna Kennedy are a few of the well-known players found in the cast. Lloyd Bacon directed, from a story by Earl Baldwin, while the music and lyrics are the creations of Harry Warren and Al Dubin.

Busby Berkeley was the creator of the dance numbers and song productions, which share the favors of the critics with the plot and the comedy when seeking the cause of the great effectiveness and strong entertainment value of this First National production.

There are many gorgeous song numbers in the picture. One of these, entitled "Going to Heaven on a Mule," has won fame that precedes that of the picture itself, the enthusiastic laudations that emanated from those privileged to see the preview runs in the studio having been repeated across the continent. The idea for this sequence undoubtedly came from the great stage hit, "Green Pastures," but it has been elaborated on the screen until it is the realization of the idea that could only be imagined on the stage. "Wonder Bar" is another great number, while Dick Powell and Al Jolson sing many catchy song hits and Del Rio and Cortez perform new dances that are, putting it mildly, sensational.

All scenes of the story are laid in an elaborate bar and cabaret in Paris, where the different characters in the plot gather, either as employees, entertainers or patrons. There is a story that contains suspense, drama and romance and the entire production is one to arouse the enthusiasm of almost all types of screen fans. Certainly it has something in it for everybody.

Short subjects worthy of placing on a "Spring Shower" program of superlative features are to be seen during the week, while Jimmy Beers, refreshed by his recent brief holiday, presents an organ number that enhances his already tremendous popularity and clinches his right to the title of the "South's Ace Theater Organist."

"Wonder Bar" will play through Thursday, with "Death Takes a Holiday," starring Fredric March, billed to open on Friday, as the second in the group of spring hits.

Carmen Held Another Week At the Atlanta

Carmen, the sensational dancer who set the whole town talking by her work at the Atlanta theater last week, has been held over for another week in response to insistent demand by Atlanta's burlesque patrons. She is, beyond question, the finest performer of her type ever to appear in this city. Not only does she include all the tricks that are expected in burlesque, but she is also a really splendid dancer and an artist of highest order. She is assisted in her dances by Juan Mario, himself a clever performer.

The show for this week is entitled "Tavern Topics," and it presents some electrical effects for the first time in this city. Its staging is spectacular and beautiful. The feature scene of the entire show is probably a number entitled "South Sea Island Capers," in which Carmen does a South Sea dance and the ensemble girls pose in a lovely and barbaric setting.

There is also a satirical number, a Russian scene, that is reported as especially good. Scenic equipment, electric effects and costumes are all said to surpass anything done here in burlesque before.

The comedy scenes have been held short and snappy, with Harry Fields, Joe Francis, Charles Greiner and others providing the fun. Esta Alja, Cora Lee, Helene Davis and other feminine featured players, will be seen while Ollie Hodges will continue his popular vocalisms and Bill and Louise Joy provide their fast and snappy dances.

Patronage continues excellent at the Atlanta, with a marked increase since word about the thrilling performance by Carmen has spread around the city. Two performances are given daily, including Monday, at 2:30 and 8:30 and reserve seats for all performances may be secured at the box office any time after 10 o'clock in the morning.

Producer Matt Kolb intimated last week that a surprising announcement, which will be received with enthusiasm by all patrons, may be expected in the near future.

Mae West Again Plays Buckhead As Diamond Lil

For the eighth return engagement, "She Done Him Wrong," first and most delightful picture made by Mae West, will play at the Buckhead theater today and tomorrow. A new print has been secured. Such a record has never been approached by any other picture shown in Atlanta or any theater in its vicinity.

It is probable that this will be the final opportunity afforded local theatergoers to see this picture. The Buckhead management undoubtedly would like to keep right on showing it as long as there was sufficient demand, but bookings already made will probably prevent any further repetitions of the great West classic. So all who want to see it once more—and those who have never seen it, if such there be—be sure and visit the Buckhead theater today or tomorrow.

The Buckhead program for the balance of the week lists three of the better feature releases of the past few months as well as a number of short subjects on each program selected so that the entertainment value can really be guaranteed.

On Tuesday and Wednesday the feature is "Let's Fall in Love," an intimate sort of musical romance produced by Columbia as its contribution to the highly popular crop of musicals now being made. Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothern, a beautiful new-comer with a real singing voice, play the leads.

On Thursday only the attraction will be "My Woman," a romantic and dramatic thriller, with Victor Jory and Helen Twelvetrees.

Friday and Saturday program is topped by "Master of Men," a swift-moving and thrill-packed story of two-fisted fighting men, entitled "Master of Men," with Jack Holt and Fay Wray giving two of their best performances as the co-starred hero and heroine of the picture.

And don't forget that today and tomorrow pride your last opportunities to see "She Done Him Wrong," the picture that has caused more discussion in Atlanta than any other.

and its sound recorded, in its natural locale. In many instances only slight provision was made for the safety of the company. During the course of the eight months that the picture was in the making, Jack Dunn, a cameraman, was maulled by a black panther, Kane Richmond, one of the actors, had two ribs fractured by a constricting python; and Marion Burns, who takes the feminine lead in the picture, suffered the experience of having the huge jaws of a 20-foot python snap shut within six short inches of her face.

Added units on the program include a comedy, review, cartoon and news. Regular Georgia prices are now back in effect.

missed a performance really remarkable. Even should the rest of the burlesque performance prove not your type, it is worth attending if only for the minutes that Carmen is on stage.

All theater managers of Atlanta on Wednesday last were guests at a luncheon given at the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children. As all Atlantans know, this hospital has been the beneficiary of Sunday operation of theaters in this city. There has been no profit in the seventh-day showings for the theaters themselves, all the net proceeds going to the hospitals. In fact, the theaters have undoubtedly lost some money, inasmuch as a certain proportion of the Sunday audiences would undoubtedly have attended during the week under the six-day rule.

And it is no secret that some of the theater managers, and some of the house personnel, have grumbled a little at foregoing their Sunday holiday under these circumstances. But, after being taken all over the hospital, after seeing the little patients, after realizing that, by their work on Sundays, scores of twisted and deformed little bodies are being made straight and strong, childish warped lives are being given a chance to compete in the rivalry of life on reasonably even terms with others, that no manager will complain again.

As one manager said afterwards, "The sight of those children and that hospital makes me feel that no man or woman in Atlanta is putting Sunday to better use than I am. I am working, to be sure, but if healing these innocent crippled ones is not a mission worthy of the Lord's day, then my conception of the Father of all little children must be woefully at fault."

The only dark aspect of the situation is that there are still unoccupied beds at the hospital, while scores of crippled kids eagerly await a chance for cure. Beds are vacant, not for lack of patients, but lack of money. It takes a given amount every year for every patient and only by increasing the revenue of the hospital can all the idle rooms and beds be put to the great human service for which they are planned.

Tenth Street Bills "Little Women" 3 Days

Louisa M. Alcott's world-famous story, "Little Women," is the feature attraction at the Tenth Street theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Katharine Hepburn has the leading role in this masterpiece of the cinema art and is supported by a brilliant cast of stars, chiefly Joan Bennett, Frances Dee, Paul Lukas and Edna Mae Oliver.

Thursday and Friday, Will Rogers and Zasu Pitts will be seen in "Mr. Skitch," a hilarious story of a typical American family who set out to see the world in a broken-down flivver.

Saturday brings "After Tonight," starring Constance Bennett and Gilbert Roland, in a sparkling and delightful romance.

"Little Women" Plays DeKalb Three Days

The feature at the DeKalb Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday is "Little Women," a great story from the novel by Louisa Mae Alcott. Katharine Hepburn is the feature player, supported by Joan Bennett, Paul Lukas, Frances Dee, Jean Parker and Edna Mae Oliver.

Lionel Barrymore plays the part of a country doctor in "One Man's Journey," the feature of the DeKalb Thursday and Friday. The supporting cast includes May Robson, Dorothy Jordan, Joel McCrea and Frances Dee.

Tom Mix comes to the DeKalb Saturday in "Rustler's Roundup."

Anna Sten Film To Open Grand Lineup of Hits

Loew's Grand theater is looking forward to several months of prosperous business, with a lineup of pictures which are of extraordinary quality and public appeal.

Starting next Friday with Samuel Goldwyn's extravagant production of "Nana," which presents the lovely Russian star Anna Sten, in her first American picture, and continuing through the spring months, the offering are consistently fine and noteworthy. With "Nana" are "The Show-off," with Mae Clarke, Vivian Kirkland and Richard Bennett.

Subsequent offerings will be: "Viva Villa!" with Wallace Beery heading a large cast in the role of the famous Mexican hero-bandido; "Looking for Trouble," with Spencer Tracy, Jack Oakie, Constance Cummings and Arline Judge; "Sadie McKee," starring Joan Crawford; George Arliss in "The House of Rothschild"; Norma Shearer and Robert Montgomery in "Riptide"; "The Star-Spangled Banquet," with Jean Harlow, Marie Dressler and other Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer players in an all-star musical production; "Catherine the Great," with the new English actress, Elizabeth Bergner, and Douglas Fairbanks Jr.; Maurice Chevalier and Jeannette MacDonald in "The Merry Widow"; Norma Shearer in "Marie Antoinette"; Spencer Tracy in "The Show-off"; and "Laxy River," with Robert Young and Jean Parker.

frank portrayal of the problem every bachelor girl must solve. The cast includes Loretta Young, George Brent, David Manners, Louis Calhern, Una Merkel and Helen Vinson. Monday and Tuesday, "The Right to Romance," with Ann Harding and Robert Young. Miss Harding is provided with one of the most intriguing roles as the famous plastic surgeon who forsakes her career when romance and marriage beckon. Wednesday only, "Charlie Chan's Greatest Case," with Warner Oland and Heather Angel.

Thursday and Friday, "Ann Vickers," with Irene Dunne and Walter Huston. Ann Vickers, as millions know, is a girl who has her own ideas about life and the courage to carry them out.

Saturday only, "The Invisible Man," with Gloria Stuart and Claude Rains. The picture, which has caused more speculative talk in Hollywood than any film of recent years, is said to be a totally new departure in spectacular entertainment.

Heston Orchestra Lends Talents to WGST

Wannie Heston, seen standing above at the extreme right, organized this orchestra over two years ago and has made a hit with Atlantans, both on the air and at social functions ever since. Wannie writes his own distinctive arrangements of the current tunes and is also known as a gifted pianist. He is frequently heard over radio station WGST under the pseudonym "The Ghost of the Piano." Monday night, over WGST at 8:30 o'clock, Wannie and his boys will contribute to the "Variety Program" which will feature Sarah Bob Minor, blues singer. The orchestra performers pictured above are, from left to right, front row, Julian Vincent, J. D. Suttles, Bill Howard, Bernard Holbrook, Dal Donehoo and Wes Weston; back row, Bill Shannon, Basil Cochran; standing Wannie Heston.

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 11, 1934.

UP TO COUNCIL.

The threat of the withdrawal of federal relief in Atlanta, through the closing of the CWA offices here, creates a crisis that must be promptly met if the city is to go forward instead of backward.

The city entered into formal agreement with the government under which federal relief amounting to several millions of dollars would be disbursed in Atlanta during 1934, provided the city contributed $50,000 a month for the same purpose.

Because the city has not balanced its budget, and cannot secure loans from the Atlanta banks, it has not made any payments on its share of the relief fund. As a result the government has formally notified the city that unless it lives up to its agreement, federal relief may have to be withdrawn.

Council has been called to meet on Monday in special session to consider the emergency. It will be faced with the task of balancing the budget on the basis of the reasonable requirements of the banks, if the threatened loss of the federal aid is to be avoided.

The loss of the federal relief money would mean that the city would have to assume responsibility for added expenditures almost as large again as its entire annual revenue, if relief work is to be continued as at present.

It remains to be seen whether council, at its meeting tomorrow, is willing to assume this responsibility.

TUNG OIL TREES IN GEORGIA.

Commenting on a recent editorial in The Constitution on the opportunity facing this state in the production of tung oil, J. M. Hughes, secretary of the Grady County Chamber of Commerce, in a communication appearing on the opposite page, recites the progress already made in that county in the development of this new industry.

Already the county has more than 300,000 trees growing and these, and groves in adjoining counties, are well on the way to production.

Secretary Hughes also reveals that the only co-operative tung oil organization in the United States has already been formed by the growers of these counties and that by the fall of next year, when the trees are expected to come into profitable bearing, a processing plant will be erected in Cairo.

The Grady county chamber is largely responsible for the development of these groves, and its example should be followed by similar organizations, or other groups, in every county in the state in which the tung tree can be grown.

The demand for tung oil, now almost exclusively cared for by exports from China, is certain to increase as the years go by, and its production can easily become one of Georgia's most important agricultural pursuits.

THE SERVICE OF INSURANCE.

Plans now being formulated by the insurance interests in Atlanta for the observance here of national Financial Independence Week, beginning Monday, the 19th, during which the public will be given information of the rapidly broadening service of life insurance, are of direct interest and importance to every family and every business house in Atlanta.

Insurance is no longer merely a business institution. It is, in addition, a public and social service which plays a part second only to government in every phase of American life.

For many years the chief part played by insurance was in providing protection for the families of the well-to-do, but now its sphere has been so widened that its greatest field of direct service is to the average citizen.

Not only does insurance furnish protection for dependents—it is a staunch bulwark against adversity either in the home or in business. During the past four years of distressing economic conditions the homes and business interests of many thousands of Americans have been saved through the possession of insurance policies.

The contribution of insurance to the welfare and safety of policyholders is not the limit of its service to the public welfare. In industry and business its billions of reserve investments are rendering a vital part in strengthening the economic system of the country.

In addition to the $4,000,000,000 paid during the past four years to policyholders and their beneficiaries, reserve assets to a total of $21,000,000,000 have been at work in business and industry through their investment in underlying bonds, mortgages and government obligations.

In commenting upon this contribution by insurance to the economic welfare of the country, Bruce Barton, noted financial commentator, says in a recent article:

Your insurance dollars represent a participation in the total wealth of the nation: the pick of railroad and public utility bonds; loans on the best farm and city properties; loans to policyholders, and the direct obligations of the national, state, county and city governments. The companies thus are as sound and strong as the nation itself. And the United States still is, as it has been since the war, among the richest nations in the world.

Insurance has become as necessary to the well-being of the family as the roof over its home; of as much importance to individual business as a cash reserve; and, in many respects, as essential to the public good as government.

So rapidly has the growth in insurance been that the average person does not fully realize the resultant increase in the necessity for each family and each business to possess proper insurance protection.

It is for this purpose that Financial Independence Week is to be observed, and it should create a thoughtful and co-operative interest on the part of the public.

VITALLY NEEDED STIMULATION.

In expressing approval of recent editorials appearing in The Constitution presenting the necessity for rehabilitation of the building trades, Mrs. Katherine Hillier Connerat, a leader among the organized women of Atlanta, takes the position that before building can be revived real estate must be relieved of the unjust burden of taxation it is now bearing.

In a communication appearing on the opposite page, Mrs. Connerat says that present taxation methods are "pumping money out of real estate," making it cheaper to rent than to own a home. The average landlord is fortunate if he gets enough out of his property to pay for repairs and taxes.

She correctly holds that so long as this condition exists there can be no reasonable expectation of renewed home building, despite the shortage of dwellings that now exists.

The need for new homes and for repairs on those now standing is stressed in a communication, also appearing on the opposite page, from O. S. Cook, of Atlanta. Mr. Cook shows that many dwellings are now housing from three to six families, and that they are generally in a bad state of repair.

Still another phase of the situation, further emphasizing the need for governmental steps to stimulate renewed activities by the building trades, is a recent address in which Dan Moley, president of the Cleveland Federation of Labor, points out that in home building is to be found the best opportunity for re-employment for the thousands of idle men soon to lose CWA work.

Speaking on the subject, "Home Building or CWA Mobs," Mr. Moley points out that while billions of dollars have been appropriated to other major industries, practically nothing has been done to rehabilitate the building trades industry, which he terms second in importance to agriculture. Extracts from this address are reproduced on the opposite page.

From 60 to 70 per cent of the unemployed in the United States were former workers in the building trades or some of their allied industries. Not until these men are again at work, and the industries of which they are members operating on a profitable basis, will the national recovery program reach its full impetus.

Of prime importance is that the federal government should make it possible for property owners to secure money for new homes and repairs. In order that the property owners, or those who would like to build new homes, may be encouraged to build, the unfair and unjust tax burden on real estate must be lightened.

Such steps will not be in the nature of experiments. The federal government has already rehabilitated many industries through huge additions to their finances, and several states have already abandoned the ad valorem tax.

The greatest good to the greatest number of people is undoubtedly to be found in a sound rehabilitation of the building trades, and both federal and local governments should make every effort to that end.

BACK TO THE FARM.

Henry Ford, generally conceded to be one of the leading industrial leaders of the nation, declares that the great thing of today is the back-to-the-land movement; and in outlining plans for national recovery President Roosevelt recently emphasized the necessity of "placing thousands of persons, who have made their living from agriculture, into a relationship with soil that will provide them a security they do not now enjoy."

Many other outstanding national figures have visualized the benefits to be derived from repopulating deserted farm lands with former farm families, but the movement lags for the lack of practical leadership that will bring concrete results.

There are thousands of such families now located in large towns and cities of the state who would be glad to get back into a home on land if the way could be found for them to do so, and there are thousands of places for them to go; yet the deserted farm lands continue to be unpopulated, and the former farm families continue to be charged upon the communities in which they are located.

Approving the efforts made by The Constitution to promote a movement back to the abandoned farms of the state, Captain A. L. Henson, director of the veterans' service office of Georgia, in a communication appearing in this issue, says:

Early in 1933 it was thought that I would be called upon to relieve the distress among unemployed veterans. My first thought was the beautiful farms in my own home county which have been idle so long; before the rush to cities those farms were tenanted by the finest people in Georgia. The social and religious life of those communities was such as would attract any honest, industrious man, and from those communities have come the leaders of affairs.

Mr. Henson made a survey of a typical Georgia county to ascertain what chances an ordinary family would have to secure an independent living, with opportunities for educating their children and at the same time make a contribution to the social, religious and industrial life of the community centers of this county, and found that there were 108 farms idle, which were well equipped with buildings of all kinds, pastures, plenty of wood for fuel, good water and within easy distance from schools, churches and a market center. The owners of all these farms were anxious to enter into any reasonable agreement with prospective buyers or long-term tenants, in order that the deserted farm lands might be occupied by farmers who would take a real interest in making the land productive.

There were all the factors requisite for a large back-to-the-farm movement—good farm homes, land owners willing to enter into any reasonable agreement, former farmers ready to take advantage of the opportunity, and leadership to bring the parties together; and there it ended.

Captain Henson says: If the labor department had approved this scheme under authority granted it by the Wagner bill I fully believe I could have depopulated every big town in Georgia of its needy ex-service families and at the same time rehabilitated many deserted farms and lightened the load of the relief administration. I wonder if the scheme cannot yet be tried?

The answer to that query is, yes; it can be tried; it should be tried, and it must be tried; and the quicker it is put into operation the sooner will rehabilitation and recovery occur.

The president and industrial leaders realize the necessity of getting former farm families back into homes on land where they will produce the necessities of life without government, state or local aid, and sufficient surplus of farm crops to enable them to purchase the things they cannot raise themselves.

Farm recovery spells industrial recovery; first the immediate towns that are surrounded by prosperous small farms, then the large industrial centers where articles of general commerce are manufactured.

No one realizes this more than does Henry Ford, who in approximately a quarter of a century has built a great business, largely owing to the prosperity of American farmers. Mr. Ford says: "Whenever people learn to become self-sustaining on farms or in small rural communities, then industry will seek out these communities. Industry will follow people to the smaller towns and many of our problems will be solved."

Another crop season is at hand, and the problem is still wide open awaiting leadership that will result in removing former farm families from the cities and large towns of the state and placing them on such farms as Mr. Henson found deserted in that one county where he made a careful survey; farms well equipped with buildings, pastures, fertile soil, woodlands, good water, and within an easy distance of schools, churches and good markets, affording opportunity for educating children and at the same time making a valuable contribution to the social, religious and commercial life of the community.

Stranded farm families are a detriment to the localities in which they chance to be located; deserted farms are a detriment to the counties in which they exist; locating those former farm families on the deserted farms will greatly aid the cities and large towns, and improve conditions in the county seat towns surrounded by deserted farms.

The situation calls for leadership, local in nature, and that community which first puts the plan into practical operation will be the first to attain local prosperity.

A NEW KIND OF "SCREEN TEST."

What may well become an event of primary importance when the future histories of the talking picture industry, art or profession come to be written is scheduled to take place in Atlanta in the near future. This city has been chosen as one of three typically American cities to be the urban test tubes for an interesting and important screen experiment.

A picture, different from the type to which we have so long been accustomed, is to be shown here. It is "As the Earth Turns," produced by Warner Brothers from the famous book of the same name written by Gladys Hasty Carroll. It is to be shown here at the Paramount theater.

Significance of this booking lies in the fact that upon the reception accorded this picture will largely depend whether realism or hokum is to rule in the making of pictures in future.

Ever since the beginning of the screen industry there has been conflict between the Hollywood powers that be and the better classes of picture critics. The critics, backed by many organizations, have declared that Hollywood is committed to a policy of "hokum," which means the injection into all pictures of those sensation pandering ingredients that are supposed to lure money to the box office.

They have likened the pictures and their exploiters to the Barker of a side show, who promises unlimited revelations by "Fatima, the Oriental Dancer," solely to lure as many dimwits to his coffers as possible and totally regardless of the actual performance given.

In reply to these accusations Hollywood has retorted that the making of a picture, costing from $100,000 to $500,000, is too big an investment to gamble on public caprice. Therefore, the screen moguls insist, they must make pictures of a type that past experience has shown return a profit. The public, through the box office, determines the class of entertainment it receives, they hold.

Now, in "As the Earth Turns," a picture as devoid of hokum as possible, has been made. It is a story of Maine farmers, depicting their lives with no embellishment, finding ample drama and romance for those who understand, in its restrained and truthful picturing of real life.

As a book, it is one of the most successful of the year. Whether picture audiences will respond as enthusiastically as did readers remains to be seen.

Warner Brothers have chosen three cities in which to test the public response to this type of production. They are cities 100 per cent representative of American life. Not New York, Chicago or Philadelphia, with their strange mixtures of nationality; not huge cities where many conflicting schools of thought are apt to confuse. But cities of average, decent, intelligent American people. Atlanta is one of these three.

Warner Brothers are asking Atlantans to see this picture, "As the Earth Turns," and to make known their reaction.

On the response rests, largely, whether for the coming years we shall witness real dramas and real romances about real people, or whether we shall continue to be regaled with illogical, sexy, impossible thrillers such as have been all too common in the past.

It appears conditions are going to return to normalcy despite the use of a snappy slogan.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Nervous Europe.

Letters from friends in different European countries all run on the same note of apprehension. Everybody is worried about the future. People look around and they see war preparations going on in all directions. At home in Paris my family has been advised to buy gas masks for every member. A rather comforting bit of advice! And we have been indicated a place in the basement of the apartment building where we may sit—and die—during a possible air raid with poison gas.

The French will allow Germany to increase her army—but France, on the other hand, will do a little increasing herself from now on. Golden days for the armament trusts are here again. First, Germany increases—and then France, and then Germany again and so on. Fine business. They call that assuring the peace of Europe. Upgrown men, too! The people pay. And some day, not too far distant, the people will not only pay in treasure, but with their lives. And what then?

I make the prediction that the next war will turn into a series of civil wars. The peoples will turn against the governments which drive them to the slaughter house. Not immediately, to be sure. First there will be waves of patriotic fervor. Somebody will start to tell society stories about the conscience of this or that nation will be outraged. The men will doff their coats and put on the uniform. But when they spend a little time on the battlefields with instruments of destruction as they are at present—the fervor will wither away. Fear will take its place. Anger will take the place of fear subsequently and the kettles will explode. And when that happens—depend upon it—the red flag will go up everywhere.

The men who are fostering the war spirit, and these men are not always to be found in the governments of Europe, but in the directorial offices of the munition trusts, these men are playing a risky game. They are playing not with fire this time, but with dynamite and lyddite and worse.

Chastity Hongroise.

Nazism, so wrote Opinion, the growing New York magazine, "Nazism has raised its ugly head in Hungary and we find that it is covered with lumps that are of less interest to the phrenologist than to the psychologist and the sociologist. Suffice it to say that the Society of Awakened Magyars has determined, upon its accession to power, to impose chastity belts upon its female population."

It is a shame that the Magyar women must have found when they awakened. That these belts are to be equipped with time-limits rather than permanently soldered in place is the further stipulation that every woman is to bear a minimum of five children to the greater aggrandizement of Hitler. We can hear the cry of Magyar motherhood travail wailing for a locksmith. It is an interesting and invariable fact that among the first victims of any retrogressive political scheme is the suppression of women. Wherever the forces of individual wisdom and intelligence are enemy to the processes of the stupid, women are reduced to the irreducible and indispensable minimum of child-bearing.

Near the upper margin of the carte blanche accorded the primitive Hitler, we can hear the cry of Magyar motherhood travail wailing for a locksmith. It is an interesting and invariable fact that among the first victims of any retrogressive political scheme is the suppression of women. Wherever the forces of individual wisdom and intelligence are enemy to the processes of the stupid, women are reduced to the irreducible and indispensable minimum of child-bearing.

Will They Go? One of the questions that is asked at the close of everyone of my talks in the various cities of the east is this: Do you think our American friends will go to war when they are called? Don't you think there is a strong sentiment against war in the U. S. A.? There is no question about it. In fact, there is a strong sentiment against war. Is there a man in this world who loves war for its own sake? But when war breaks out the real issue lies about. Altruism, the love of the neighbor, the love of the man who sits at home and there are parades and anti-war sentiment suddenly is interpreted as anti-patriotic sentiment.

By the by, the dictum of Stephen Decatur: "My country right or wrong, but still my country" is hoisted as the slogan and the young men go to war. They are told and even the old go. I'll go when I am called. But I won't stay, that's all. I mean I won't stay at the front. Nobody will be able to stay there.

The Corn Bread Fever (PELLAGRA).

Recall the days of the quick-deceiver that ran the mad crazy with the corn-bread fever. We've heard of these learned fellows in graft from the big flour millers. For a while they were the talk of the town. The big boom started on the doctors made money. Everybody's hands looked brown as 'funny! The doctors were all over the place. Went off to sleep on a big bed of roses. They had a corn-bread fever. Everybody hoarded for the corn bread fever.

When a fellow took sick no matter what he said. He was told by his doctor the ash cake baked him. Without looking at his tongue or the usual 'humphs' and 'ahs' he was told to eat corn bread. This spectacle prescription was given. The big boom started on the doctors made money.

Never in John did we see such a racket. An 'it took a bloomin' generation to crack the corn bread fever. An 'it took a bloomin' generation to crack the corn bread fever. An 'it took a bloomin' generation to crack the corn bread fever. An 'it took a bloomin' generation to crack the corn bread fever.

Never in John did we see such a racket. An 'it took a bloomin' generation to crack the corn bread fever. An 'it took a bloomin' generation to crack the corn bread fever. An 'it took a bloomin' generation to crack the corn bread fever. An 'it took a bloomin' generation to crack the corn bread fever.

It Doesn't Look Far But We've Come a Long Ways

Everyday Questions

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

Says, Pa. The attitude of many of our college students toward war may be very gratifying to the peace advocates, but it bodes no good in the eyes of some of us who believe in defending our country. These youths would not raise a finger to keep a Japanese army from landing in California. What do you think of their views?

Possibly the young men you have in mind draw a distinction between wars of aggression and those of defense. I know it is difficult to draw because nearly every nation, however guilty of wanton aggression, pleads self-defense in extenuation of its policy. Yet, though difficult, the distinction is an effort to supply, or to create, wants. "Wishes" turn the wheels of the world. "Wish" is a larger word than "need." We wish for more than we need, and often when we get our wishes, find we don't want them. So we often need that which we do not want.

A Dominant Desire. So one may test himself by asking, "What I want most?" If we are thinking in terms of character, how many of us would answer truthfully, "To be good?" Of course, we would believe in heaven, want to go to heaven when they die. But that is only to wish to receive the reward of goodness. Many wish the fame of the artist, the applause of the orator, and the reputation of the statesman, who care nothing for art, eloquence or statesmanship. It is like the prayer of Balaam: "Let me die the death of the righteous, and my last end be like his." Of course, but that is far from being a prayer to live the life of the righteous.

This distinction between the desire to be, and the desire to have, is vital in determining the character of a person. A man gives himself to the accomplishment of that which he wants. A love of art, learning, music for itself, makes artists, musicians and scholars. Desire merely for the reward produces mimics, mountebanks and fakirs. One who pursues a noble calling as a means to an end can never attain the highest success in that calling. The man will always be subordinate to the end. The pursuit of honesty as a "best policy" can never produce integrity of character. He who would use righteousness as a means to the purchase of other things, fills his purse with moral counterfeits, worthless in this and the next world. So whenever religion becomes a means to some other end, it is no religion.

Brooklyn, N. Y. When I see so many instances of want I don't know whether to save all I can, so as to avoid being in want myself, or to spend as much as I can and help things forward in that way.

Which alternative to follow is so largely personal and dependent on so many factors that I find it difficult to answer your question except in a very general way. If you have a job you deem secure and are able to save a little probably you can also afford to spend a little. But neither saving nor spending entirely solves your problem. What about giving? It was said the other day that those who had the money to give and would not lose it must expect to have it taken from them. That is a possibility, so I suggest you adopt John Wesley's three excellent rules on the use of money: "Get all you can, save all you can, give all you can."

They do not apply to millions who want work and cannot find it and for whom the police of both shores were kept busy chasing them back from whatever they considered the danger line. Veterans who had not skated for years on skates again, and did their best.

The only casualty came when four ambitious young men of Babylon, Long Island, started to drive an automobile on the ice of the sound. It began to crack, and they got out safely in time to see the car drop into 35 feet of water.

WALL STREET JITTERS. Wall Street rumors concerning the curb on the stock market have given the financial district's thousands of employees a bad case of the jitters. Men of the exchange have said that if all goes through as predicted, the exchange will move to Canada, operating there by telephone to New York offices. This is something like the sleepless nights which came when it was threatened that if there were state

"Wishing"

Wishing is one of the first games which children play. It finds a charming expression in those fairy stories where the good fairy gives a man the power to have three wishes to come true. The significance of the stories is to be found in the truth that we never make such a clear revelation of our characters, as in those things which we want most.

This distinction between the desire to be, and the desire to have, is vital in determining the character of a person. A man gives himself to the accomplishment of that which he wants. A love of art, learning, music for itself, makes artists, musicians and scholars. Desire merely for the reward produces mimics, mountebanks and fakirs. One who pursues a noble calling as a means to an end can never attain the highest success in that calling. The man will always be subordinate to the end. The pursuit of honesty as a "best policy" can never produce integrity of character. He who would use righteousness as a means to the purchase of other things, fills his purse with moral counterfeits, worthless in this and the next world. So whenever religion becomes a means to some other end, it is no religion.

It is a want above all other wants—a wish above all other wishes. This is to "hunger and thirst after righteousness," and the promise is, "he shall be filled"—he shall have his wish.

Miss Crawford, Mr. Adams Wed At Church Ceremony in Decatur

Of social interest to a host of friends was the marriage of Miss Katherine Delle Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Paul Crawford, of Decatur, to O. L. Adams, Jr., of Royston and Atlanta, which was solemnized Saturday, March 10, at 3 o'clock in the First Baptist church in Decatur, with Dr. A. J. Moncrief, pastor, performing the marriage service.

Palms and ferns formed a rich background for two floor baskets of white gladioli and snapdragons, with seven-branched candelabra placed at intervals.

Prior to the ceremony, L. P. Johnson rendered a program of nuptial music. Mrs. A. M. Fincher sang "All for You," and "Because."

W. W. Johnston, of Atlanta, and Robert Doyle, of Macon, acted as ushers.

Mrs. Peden Auld, of Elberton, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and Miss Louise Crawford, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor. Hubert Adams, of Chattanooga, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The lovely young bride was given in marriage by her father, James Paul Crawford. She chose for her wedding an ensemble of beaumont blue with trimmings of galyak fur and a blouse of gray crepe worn with navy blue accessories. She carried a bouquet of white roses and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Adams left for a short wedding trip after which they will be at home in Decatur in the Glendale apartment.

Miss Cooper Weds Waldo Rasnake At Church Service

Miss Vera Kate Cooper became the bride of Waldo Emerson Rasnake at a lovely ceremony solemnized at the United Liberal church, before an assemblage of relatives and friends last Sunday at high noon. The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the church, Dr. Aubrey P. Hess, D.D.

The altar was banked with ferns and the center was graced by a basket of gladioli. Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. James Taylor Cagle, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Clara Maude Harper sang "At Dawning." The "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" were used.

The ushers were J. W. Morris and L. Cooper, brother of the bride. Mrs. Herbert Spencer Rasnake acted as matron of honor, and wore a gown of shell pink chiffon fashioned along modish lines and worn with hat and slippers to match. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and snapdragons.

The bride was lovely in her wedding gown of beige lace, made with a long skirt that fell in graceful lines. Her accessories were of blond color and she carried a bouquet of white roses and snapdragons, showered with satin ribbon. The bridegroom had as his best man, Herbert Spencer Rasnake, his brother.

Following the ceremony the bridal party was entertained at a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Cagle, with Mrs. Cagle and Mrs. E. G. Schleicher, sisters of the bridegroom, as hostesses.

Miss Waller Weds Joe D. Hixon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Waller, 1929 Peachtree road, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Waller, to Joe D. Hixon, of Chattanooga, on February 3 at their home in the presence of relatives and friends. Rev. R. C. Huston officiated. The bride's only attendant was Miss Dorothy Lyle, and A. Y. Crossley was Mr. Hixon's best man.

Mrs. Hixon possesses a wide circle of friends in Atlanta, where she has resided all her life. She graduated from Commercial High school.

Mr. and Mrs. Hixon are at home in Chattanooga, Tenn., where Mr. Hixon is in business.

Miss Boggs Weds Hardy P. Reese.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., March 10.—Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Boggs announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Evans Boggs, to Hardy Padgett Reese, of Suwanee, Ga. The ceremony was performed on Thursday, March 1, by Rev. W. W. Cash, pastor of First Methodist church, of Lawrenceville.

The bride wore navy blue with accessories to match. She was graduated from Young Harris College in 1929 and later studied at the University of Georgia. She is one of Gwinnett county's most popular teachers. The bridegroom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Reese, of Suwanee, and a descendant of one of the pioneer families of Gwinnett county. He and his bride are at home in Suwanee.

Manry-Lowe Rites Solemnized in Edison

EDISON, Ga., March 10.—The wedding of Miss Helen Pittman Manry, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy C. Manry, and Claude William Lowe, of Buena Vista and Edison, was solemnized in the First Baptist church here Saturday, March 3. The Rev. P. E. Lester, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride wore a gown of putty-colored triple sheer trimmed with white fox. At her waist was a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies. Her father gave her in marriage.

Mr. Lowe had as his best man William S. McMichael, of Buena Vista. The ushers were Joseph A. Pickard, of Buena Vista; Ralph Jenkins, William Israel and Thomas Adkins, of Edison.

Mrs. L. M. Killingsworth sang and Mrs. H. T. Singleton played the nuptial music.

The church was decorated with southern smilax, combined with palms, ferns and baskets of pink and yellow snapdragons.

The bride attended Agnes Scott College in 1927-28 and was graduated from Wesleyan College in 1931. She received the M. A. degree from the University of Georgia in 1932. She studied piano at Wesleyan Conservatory and under Ernest O. Berumen in New York city. Recently she was a teacher in the high school at Barwick.

Mr. Lowe is the son of Mrs. Charles Warren Lowe, of Buena Vista, who was before her marriage Miss Lily Blue, and the late Mr. Lowe. He was graduated in 1925 from the University of Georgia. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa scholastic fraternity. In 1926 Mr. Lowe succeeded his father as clerk of the superior court of Marion county and continued in that office until he resigned in 1930. Since then he has been superintendent of public schools in Hamilton, 1930-32, and in Edison, 1932-34.

Mr. Lowe has one brother, Charles E. Lowe, of Hartwell. His sisters are Mrs. J. B. Patrick, of Chipley; Mrs. W. B. Williams, of Macon; Miss Lily Lowe, Elberton, and Mrs. J. M. Harvey, Atlanta.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Lowe, the bridegroom's mother; Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Williams, Buena Vista; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Patrick, Chipley; Mrs. W. B. Williams, Macon; Miss Lily Lowe, Elberton, and Mrs. J. M. Harvey, Atlanta.

Bachelors' Club Gives Spring Dance Friday Evening at Columbian Club

The Bachelors' Club of Central High school, composed of the outstanding leaders in the extra-curricular activities, will give its annual spring dance at Columbian hall, 1200 Peachtree street, N. W., on Friday, March 16, from 9 until 12 o'clock. There will be an admission charge of 35 cents for each person.

Officers of the Bachelors' Club are David Edward Ungar, honorary lifetime president; Carl E. Pruitt, president; Student Council, Bernard Treml, Fred L. Hester, Bill Watson and Herbert Smullian.

The purpose of this annual affair is to renew contacts with, and honor the boys and girls of the moonlight university who have married and left school. With the speed of light current events of the world flash across continents to become the head lines of news today—and fashion news tomorrow. From the Cossack soldier coat of Russia, the Geisha dancing girls, Bonny Highland kilts and favorite tweed of a prince coutouriers design new fashions for Spring.

Quickly these new fashions come to Leon's—gay Occidental, Oriental print dresses with mandarin-like coats—Plaids and English tweeds in swagger or tailored suits—navy and black Cossack coats with buttons galore become dictators of the mode. So to keep up with the current events of fashion, come to Leon's.

Hats take their shapes from everywhere—innocent pug-nose children—the bold desperado—the Chinese coolie.

National Business Women's Week Featured by Splendid Program

Mrs. Cora Alexander, chairman of public relations committee of the National Business Women's Week, who is in charge of the interesting program of activities arranged for National Business Women's Week March 11-17. Photo by Little studio.

Much interest centers around National Business Women's Week, which opens Sunday and lasts through Saturday, March 17. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, honorary member of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which sponsors National Business Women's Week, will formally proclaim the week and tell of the effort of thousands of members of the federation who have been working diligently to restore 10,000 "white collar" women to employment.

Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, of Richmond, president of the national federation; Miss Florence P. Kahn, United States representative from California; Mrs. Rosalie Low Whitney, deputy license commissioner of New York city, and other prominent members of the federation will also be heard over the radio on Monday, March 12. They will urge a "square deal" for women in the business and professional world, in giving the results of the re-employment campaign. Mrs. Bowman will urge a plan for individuals which will lessen the number of unemployed and the tragic possibility of unemployment, in an effort to raise the morale of both women and men in every community.

The program of the local club for National Business Women's Week will open Sunday morning when Dr. D. Witherspoon Dodge, of Oglethorpe University, and pastor of the Church of the Air, will pay a tribute to business and professional women of the city and nation in his 10 o'clock message over WGST. At 11 o'clock the national federation will broadcast special service at the Druid Hills Baptist church, Dr. Louis Newton, pastor.

Officers and board and committee members will give a luncheon at the Henry Grady hotel on Tuesday at 12 o'clock in honor of Miss Marjorie Shuler, of New York city, who comes to Atlanta from the national federation as guest speaker at the public relations dinner, which will take place Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the Henry Grady hotel. Representatives from practically all of the city's civic and other organizations will be guests on this occasion. Miss Maude Sewell will preside, and Dr. James McDowell Richards, president of the Columbia Theological Seminary, will pronounce the invocation. Mrs. Cora Alexander, chairman of the public relations committee, will deliver greetings.

Druid Hills Garden Club To Stage City-Wide Rose Show in May

At a recent meeting of the Druid Hills Garden Club held at the home of Mrs. R. D. Ison, on Ponce de Leon avenue, plans were announced for the second city-wide rose show which will be held at the Biltmore hotel. Plans are nearing completion, and 50 invitations have been mailed to garden clubs in Greater Atlanta to enter exhibits, a number of which have been accepted.

Any individual, whether a garden club member or not, having as many as 25 rose bushes is asked to exhibit, not only with the idea of getting awards for the finest and best, but to contribute toward helping to present a rose show that will stimulate interest in gardening.

The club endorsed the garden pilgrimage, sponsored by Mrs. L. G. Danziger, and will participate. Mrs. Luther Randall is chairman of the flower committee. Each week for years flowers have been sent to Wesley Memorial hospital. Today 150 nosegays will be placed on trays at luncheon time for patients. These were made and donated by Mrs. Willard Leach.

The president, Mrs. Clyde King Jr., announced the plans drawn by William Pauley, landscape architect, for the development of the park area extending from the present limits of the Rose Garden on Ponce de Leon avenue to Oakdale road, had been accepted, work to begin at an early date. Mr. Crist, from H. G. Hastings Company, was commissioned to recondition the garden, replacing any dead rose plants and adding a number of new roses. All dogwood trees are to be replaced where there are vacancies in this section.

Plans were completed for the tea honoring the visitors to the 1934 convention of the Garden Clubs of Georgia, to be given by Cator Woolford, an honorary member of the Druid Hills Garden Club in his lovely garden at Jacqueland.

Representatives from this club to the convention, chosen at the meeting, will be Mrs. C. C. King Jr., president; Mrs. John Hurt, Mrs. W. B. Spann, Mrs. John Harland, Mrs. Carl Lewis and Mrs. Dan M. Byrd.

The program featured Japanese floral decorations and was presented by Mrs. Arthur McCann, who had arranged from her own hothouses bowls of flowers in Japanese manner, simplicity of expression, possibly the greatest lesson to be learned from the Japanese, being the dominating feature. Luncheon was served by Mrs. Ison, the hostess. Coffee was poured by Mrs. DeWitt King from a beautifully-appointed table.

to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morris Sr., whose marriage was of interest, taking place recently; included with Mr. and Mrs. Morris were Mrs. J. J. Danelli, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Turner, Banks Dupre and the hostess.

Mrs. Len Baldwin, J. J. Danelli, Harold Heekin and G. O. Allen formed a party Tuesday, attending the Baptist Women's Missionary Union of Georgia, convening this week at Beale Tift College, Forsyth, Ga.

Among others attending during the session are Mesdames E. L. Stringer, G. C. Green, of Smyrna, Ga.; W. W. Lee, Grady Eubanks and Miss Agnes Orr.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sparks, of Macon, Ga., will spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Len Baldwin at their home on Forest avenue. Misses Mary Shepherd, of Seawee, Tenn., is spending a few days with Mrs. D. C. Cole on Cole street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Boardman and children left recently to spend the month of March with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Robeson, who are at their winter home in Homosassa, Fla.

Miss Julia Howell, of Marietta, who has been spending the winter with her brother, J. C. Howell, in Chattanooga, Tenn., will return home April 1, and open her home on Kenesaw avenue. Misses Mollie Nolen and Clara Nolen spent a few days this week in Carrollton, Ga.

Mrs. George Montgomery, of Marietta, and Mrs. C. C. Thomas, of Los Angeles, Cal., are visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. Mark Mayes, in Tifton, Ga. Mr. and Mrs. Hill Hall have returned from a sojourn of a few weeks in Florida. Mrs. R. H. Hutcheson entertained her bridge club on Tuesday at her home on Cleveland place.

Miss Mimi O'Bierne Entertains Her Circle.

Miss Mimi O'Bierne, the chairman, and members of her committee of the Girl's circle of the Tallulah Falls school entertained at a benefit bridge party on Saturday at the O'Bierne home on Wesley road.

The affair was the first of the series which the various committees of the circle will entertain as a means of raising money for the Helen Parker Memorial scholarship which the circle is giving this year. Each committee will give an entertainment of some nature as their part of the work for the year.

Members of Miss O'Bierne's committee are Misses Marjorie Carmichael, Anne Scott Harmon, Jean Gould, Bright Rickerstaff, Sara Barr, Penelope Brown, Jane Thomas, Carolyn McCaskey and Teresa Atkinson.

Griffin Weddings Are of Interest To Georgians

GRIFFIN, Ga., March 10.—Of cordial interest to their many friends over the state is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Dozier, of Griffin, and Robert L. DuPree, of Griffin and Atlanta, which was solemnized Sunday, February 11, 1934, in Decatur, Ga.

Mrs. DuPree is the daughter of the late J. C. Dozier and Sallie Wright Dozier, beloved citizens of Griffin and prominent Georgians. She is the sister of Mrs. Roy Coker, of Milner, and Joe L. Dozier, of Griffin. The lovely bride was graduated from Spalding High school in the class of 1931. She then attended the Georgia State College for Women in Milledgeville. She is a delightful young woman of poise and charm and has a wide circle of friends over the state.

Mr. DuPree is the son of Mrs. Bertha DuPree and the late Frank DuPree, a prominent farmer of near Griffin. His brothers are Joe DuPree, Max DuPree and Weldon DuPree. He was graduated from the Spalding High school in 1931, later graduating from a business college in Atlanta. He now holds a position with the Chevrolet Motor Company in Atlanta, where he and his bride will make their home at 127 Fifth street, northeast.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hazle, of Griffin, announce the marriage of their daughter, Aretta, of Greer, S. C., to John C. Curtis, of Spartanburg, S. C., which was solemnized Thursday, February 1, at the Baptist parsonage in Greer. The Rev. Furman H. Martin, the bride's pastor, officiated, the impressive ring ceremony being used in the presence of a few friends.

The bride was attractive in a suit of blue gray tweed worn with gray accessories. She wore a corsage of pink Briarcliff rosebuds. The lovely young bride has many friends in Griffin, where she made her home until three years ago. Mr. Curtis, who was reared in south Georgia, is now stationed in Spartanburg, S. C., where he holds a responsible position with the American Telephone Company.

Miss Thelma Lee Moody and Hiram Gilbert, both of Griffin, were married Wednesday afternoon, Judge S. B. Wallace, ordinary of Spalding county, officiating at his home here. The bride is the daughter of L. H. Moody, of Griffin, Mr. Gilbert, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Gilbert, of Henry county. Both have a wide circle of friends who are interested in their marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Culpepper, of Griffin, announce the marriage of their granddaughter, Miss Annie Pearl Brown, of Atlanta, to J. W. McDuffie, also of Atlanta, which occurred Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Boatner. The bride wore a spring ensemble of dark blue crepe with hat to match and a shoulder bouquet of pink rosebuds, lilies of the valley and fern.

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for their wedding trip to Gastonia, N. C., where they were guests of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. A. C. Current. Before returning to Atlanta, where they will reside, they will tour the mountains of Georgia and North Carolina.

Cornelia Moore Group Sponsors Exhibition.

Members of the Cornelia Moore Nursery group will sponsor an exhibition of table arrangements at Pinebloom, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Arkwright on Ponce de Leon avenue on April 19-20, during the Garden Club of Georgia meeting. These tables will be set by a number of particularly artistic Atlanta women, who are known as talented hostesses. The proceeds derived from the exhibition will go to the Cornelia Moore Day Nursery.

Miss Smith Weds Mr. Hall At Quiet Rites

Marked by beauty and dignity was the quiet ceremony at which Miss Sara Croft Smith, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas Smith, became the bride of Evans Hall Jr. Saturday at high noon at Greenhaven, the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul Green, on Durand drive. The Rev. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, performed the impressive marriage service in the presence of the immediate families.

Palms and ferns were effectively banked to form an improvised altar before which quantities of white roses, sweet peas and yellow and white snapdragons were effectively arranged. Slender white tapers in silver candlesticks burned at either side of the altar.

Lovely in her ensemble of steel blue, the bride entered the living room with her father, George Thomas Smith, by whom she was given in marriage. Her dress, fashioned of rough crepe, featured a dainty yoke of appliqued lace with graceful cape sleeves of the steel blue crepe. Her only ornament was a small open-faced locket on a slender gold chain, which belonged to her Revolutionary grandmother, Charlotte Elmore, and was a treasured wedding gift from the bride's mother. The coat was of a matching color, with the high neckline, and bands of rich blue fox on the sleeves. A smart off-the-face hat of soft blue straw with a small gray veil and other accessories of gray completed the ensemble. Pinned to her shoulder was a single mauve-throated orchid. Stanley Hall acted as his brother's best man.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Smith entertained at a wedding breakfast. The beautifully appointed bride's table was laid with a Cluny lace cloth over green. The centerpiece was of white sweet peas and valley lilies, flanked by white tapers in silver candlesticks tied with white tulle.

After the breakfast Mr. Hall and his bride left for a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will take possession of their attractive apartment on Harvard road.

Miss Freyer's Visit Is of Interest To Socialites

Atlanta socialites will welcome the arrival today in Marietta of Miss Engracia Freyer, of San Francisco, who is motoring to Georgia from Washington, D. C., to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan McNeel, in Marietta, just 20 miles distant from Atlanta. This lovely young girl was showered with attention when she was the admired guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McNeel, before their departure from Atlanta to establish residence in New York city.

Miss Freyer went to Washington to act as maid of honor at the recent marriage of Miss Frances Waggaman when she became the bride of Lieutenant Robert C. Brownlee in St. Thomas' Episcopal church.

To her intimates she is known as "Missie," a name that has clung to her ever since her childhood days. Miss Freyer is vivacious and charming, has magnetic personality and brilliant mentality. She speaks several languages fluently, has traveled all over the world, and lived in many climes. She returned in 1932 from a world-wide voyage, and stopped en route to visit Miss Grace Jardine, the daughter of Ambassador and Mrs. Jardine, at the embassy in Turkey. She made her debut in Washington, D. C., under the most auspicious circumstances and was acclaimed one of the reigning belles of that season. Her beauty is of the brand type, for she possesses expressive brown eyes and wavy brown hair, is cultured and schooled in the social graces. She was educated in a convent in Washington, D. C., and she belongs to the Spinners' Club, an exclusive social organization in San Francisco.

Atlantans Return From Europe.

Last week chronicled the landing in New York of Mrs. Jessie McKee Nunnally, Misses Jessie and Cora Nunnally, Mrs. Floyd McKee and Floyd McKee III, from a European sojourn. They sailed early in January from New York aboard the S. S. Roma and landed at Naples so as to spend the time in sunny Italy. They embarked on the S. S. Vulcania at Trieste for their return voyage to the United States, the ship being twelve hours late in docking at its New York pier.

Mrs. Nunnally and Mrs. McKee were guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Perry Moore, in Morristown, N. J., after reaching their native land. Mrs. Moore having been Miss Margaret McKee before her marriage. Mrs. Nunnally paid a visit to her son, Winship Nunnally Jr. Tomorrow will mark the arrival of these Atlantans in Atlanta, their return here to be received with sincere interest.

Miss Taylor Will Wed Hollis Hand

Georgia society feels a proprietary interest in the announcement today of the engagement of Miss Hannah Stuart Taylor, of Baltimore, Md., to Benjamin Hollis Hand, of Pelham, Ga., inasmuch as the bride-elect and Mr. Hand are well known to fashionable circles in Atlanta and Georgia. The date of their marriage will be announced later, and will be an event of social importance to relatives and friends in Maryland and Georgia.

Miss Taylor has visited Mrs. Charles W. Rawson, her fiancé's sister, and made many friends upon these visits to Atlanta. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Taylor, prominently identified with the social life of Baltimore, her mother being the former Miss Hannah Fox Stuart, of Baltimore. The bride-elect is regarded as a great beauty and possesses unusual charm. She is petite in stature, has Titian hair and blue eyes, and is a gifted pianist.

Miss Taylor is a descendant of the Stuart family, which dates back to the earliest colonial days of Maryland. She made her debut at the first bachelors' cotillion several seasons ago, and is a member of the Junior League. She is a very beautiful dancer, and besides giving lessons has given several dance recitals.

Like his lovely fiancée, Mr. Hand is the descendant of distinguished and influential Georgia families. He graduated from Episcopal High school in Alexandria, Va., and from Princeton University, making splendid records at both institutions of learning. At Princeton he was a member of the Ivy Club, and he took active part in athletics. Mr. Hand is studying medicine at Johns Hopkins Medical College in Baltimore, and is a member of the Phylotomy Club at Johns Hopkins.

Mr. Hand is a son of Mrs. Judson L. Hand and the late Judson L. Hand, of Pelham, and he is a brother of Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman and Mrs. Charles W. Rawson, of Atlanta; Mrs. Irene Hand Corrigan, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Cason Callaway and Mrs. Fuller Callaway Jr., of LaGrange; Fred Hand, C. W. Hand, Larrabee Hand and Mrs. Clara Hand Barrett, of Pelham.

Bermuda Home Of Atlantans Forms Setting

From Atlanta-by-the-Sea at Tucker's Town, in picturesque Bermuda, comes interesting news of the gay social life of the cosmopolitan set, with Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Atkinson proving hospitable hosts to leading figures in diplomatic and sporting circles. Frequent visitors at the spacious winter residence of the Atkinsons are his excellency the governor, Sir Thomas Astley Cubitt, and his charming wife, Lady Cubitt, who are distinctive members of the English colony.

Bryan Grant, tennis star, was listed as an honor guest at a tea following the matches played on the Mid-Ocean links, given by Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson, when celebrities in the sporting world rubbed elbows with the great and the near-great of Bermuda. Mr. Grant was paired in the match with L. Stoefer, of California, who stands six feet four inches tall, in marked contrast to the diminutive Bitsy Grant. Playing in brilliant fashion, the duo merited the enthusiastic applause of the gallery, and won the match.

Lady Cubitt presented the handsome silver trophy cup at the conclusion of the tennis tournament, which is a high point in Bermuda's social life. Numbered among the finalists in the tournament were Miss LeBoutillier, Miss Sharp and W. Allison, L. Watt, L. Stoefer and B. M. Grant.

Highlighting the final week in February in things social was the entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson complementing Lord Essendon and Lady Essendon at Atlanta-by-the-Sea. The guests assembled a group of residents and visitors in honor of Lady Essendon and her distinguished husband, who is the head of all the English shipping in Bermuda.

Sir Cubitt and Lady Cubitt had Lord Essendon and Lady Essendon as central figures at the beautiful luncheon given recently at the Castle Horbour, when the guests included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Lamont, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Riker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Bleeker, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Atkinson and Charles Blair MacDonald, of New York.

Robert F. Maddox Wins First Prize.

When the traditional state dinner was given on the S. S. Statendam, which is making a colorful Mediterranean cruise, it became the pleasant duty of Robert F. Maddox to represent Georgia, to dwell upon the advantages of being a Georgian and of living in the Empire State of the south. Every state in the Union was represented at the affair, with important personages

Legal Status Group Of Women Voters To Meet Tuesday

Mrs. Charles Conklin, chairman of the group studying legal status of women, sponsored by the Atlanta League of Women Voters, announces that the group meets Tuesday, March 13, at 11 o'clock at the Peachtree Christian church. Those attending are requested to use the Spring street entrance as the meeting room is down one flight of steps. William A. Reilly, inspector in charge of immigration and naturalization service, will speak to the class. Mrs. James Wiggins, chairman of immigration in the Atlanta League of Women Voters, will introduce the speaker. Miss Patricia Collins, a prominent lawyer, will follow Mr. Reilly, speaking on the "Domestic of Women." Mrs. Charles Conklin will preside.

The class studying international cooperation of the Atlanta League of Women Voters, meets Thursday, March 15, at 10:30 o'clock in the right parlor of the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Calvin Shelverton, chairman of the group says, "the discussion about the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations is probably the one thing that has roused more difference of opinion than any other development in the American foreign policy. For this reason the class has studied every phase of the action not only of this nation, but of all nations. We have co-operated with parent-teacher associations, and all educational bodies in securing honest non-partisan information."

The concluding assignment from the program taken from the P. T. A. magazine last week, asked the question: "Has the peace pact affected the foreign policy of the United States?" The questions for discussion this week are: Organization and membership of the League of Nations, the three organs of the League and how they differ; arrangements in the league regarding the language difficulty; are the expenses of the league shared among the members? Nature, origin and membership of the World Court. Does membership in the World Court necessitate membership in the League of Nations? Those who will take part are Mesdames Thomas H. Stubbs, William S. Johns, E. S. Harford, Robert B. Church, C. S. Conklin and Lafayette Butler.

Mrs. J. O. Sanders, president of the Atlanta League of Women Voters, asks all members of the Atlanta League to contribute individually to the fund for the stricken counties in Georgia, because the league as an organization, cannot take part in any work outside of its established purpose.

possessing brilliant oratorical power selected to tell of the glory and history of their native states.

So well did Mr. Maddox carry off this honor, and so entertainingly did he relate the interesting story concerning Georgia, that the judges unhesitatingly awarded him the first prize. Atlantans making the cruise on the Statendam include Mrs. Noel Park, whose letters to friends disclosed the honor conferred on Mr. Maddox; Mesdames W. F. Westmoreland, Fannie Durand Pitts, Veazy Rainwater, Robert F. Maddox, Miss Laura Maddox, Mrs. Stewart Hill Jones and Mrs. L. D. McDonald.

Miss Dent To Greet Namesake in China.

Miss Louise Dent will experience more than the usual thrill from a trip around the world when she sets sail from San Francisco the middle of May, for it will afford her the first glimpse of her year-old niece and namesake, little Miss Louise Dent Ferguson, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Ferguson, in Soochow, China. Upon arrival in Soochow, Miss Dent will also have her first introduction to her brother, Mr. Ferguson, who married the former Miss Elizabeth Dent, of Atlanta, four years ago in the Chinese city.

A visit to the Fergusons is the prime reason for the trip, which, if present plans carry through, will begin the second week in May, when Miss Dent will leave for the Pacific coast to sail May 18 on the President Hoover, of the Dollar Line. Her first stop will be Honolulu, where she will make a brief visit to her cousin, Lieutenant Ernest Powell, U. S. A., who formerly lived in Newnan, Ga., and is connected with the aviation branch of the service in Hawaii.

Ports of call in Japan will include Kobe, Yokohama and Tokyo, where the Atlantian will employ sightseeing trips and shopping in the fascinating stores. Landing at Shanghai, China, she will proceed direct to Soochow, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson occupy a charming duplex on the campus of Soochow University, where the former is professor of English and sociology. Almost five years ago Mrs. Ferguson, who is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Heard Dent, of Atlanta, went as a missionary from St. Mark Methodist church to China. Shortly after her arrival in foreign fields she met Mr. Ferguson and was married to him a year later. Last year a precious baby daughter was born, who was given the name of her maternal aunt, whose acquaintance she will make in June.

Regent of American Colonists

Island Flowers Used At Atlanta Wedding.

From the small island of Terra Ceia in Tampa bay came the exquisite flowers which featured the decorations at the quiet wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Evans Hall Jr. yesterday at Greenhaven, the home of their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul Green. The pristine beauty of the white roses, sweet peas, yellow and white snapdragons and luxuriant ferns was not appreciated by the lovely bride, the former Miss Sara Croft Smith, half so much, however, as the sentiment of their donor. These flowers were sent by the bride's great-aunt, Mrs. C. S. Jones, who personally supervised the careful cutting and packing of the blossoms for her young great-niece's wedding.

Also valued for the sentiment attached to the beautiful old locket of heavy gold, which was the bride's only ornament. It holds a tiny lock of hair of her great-great-grandmother's hair and has been an heirloom in her family for many years. Mrs. Evans carried a fragile handkerchief of lace, which was carried by the bridegroom's mother, the former Miss Tommie Dozier, when she became the bride of the elder Evans Hall at a ceremony a generation ago. Following the old English custom, at the wedding breakfast after the guests drank a toast to the bride and bridegroom, the glasses were broken.

Oriental Club Plans Dance.

The Oriental Club will sponsor a St. Patrick's ball Saturday evening, March 17, in the Egyptian hall room at the Shrine mosque and Roy M. Felker is chairman of the dance committee.

An interesting program, appropriate for the occasion, is being arranged and this affair will be one of the most delightful events this popular

Nathan Milstein Will Be Honored By Music Club

Nathan Milstein will be guest of honor at a reception to be given by the Atlanta Music Club at the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's Club immediately following Mr. Milstein's concert on Tuesday evening, March 13. Members and guests of this organization are urged to remain for this entertainment. Mrs. Waldo Oettinger, chairman of the house committee, will act as hostess, assisted by Mesdames S. Candler Dobbs Jr., Lee Edwards, Frank Eastman, Charles Hartfield, Willis Anderson, John Dobbs, Florence Drabble, Aubrey Hess, Fred Thomas and Miss Hazel Roy Butler. In the receiving line will be Mr. Milstein, Mrs. Howard Smith, president of the Atlanta Music Club, and Mrs. Alec King Jr., and Mrs. Hal Davidson, official hostesses. Mrs. Charles Chalmers will pour coffee and Mrs. Ernest Horwitz will serve tea. At the punch table will be Misses Catherine Lindner, Edith Hodgson, Elizabeth Morgan and Margaret Morgan.

Attractive Nursery Awaits Floyd Baby.

Early American in every detail is the attractive nursery at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. McCrea, on Peachtree road, which awaits small Alfred S. Floyd Jr., on his arrival from Piedmont hospital with his lovely mother, the former Miss Charlotte McCrea. The dainty bassinet, which was used by the baby's mother, has a pink drape from the small canopy and wide pink satin ribbon is laced around the basket, tying in a soft bow. The white curtains are tied with pink and white checked gingham bows and the hooked rugs reflect the same tone of pink, contrasted with a deeper rose hue. Quaint Currier and Ives prints of little children adorn the walls. A maple spool bed and maple chest harmonize with the additional furniture in this tastefully designed nursery.

When tiny Alfred is old enough to select favorites among the numerous gifts showered upon him, doubtless none will be treasured more than the unusual porridge bowl of heavy silver given him by his paternal grandmother, Mrs. James Swann Floyd. Miniature red and black soldiers are enameled around the upper edge, ingeniously made so that when they are spun around they give the effect of marching. Among the loveliest garments in the baby's exquisite layette are numbers of little clothes made by the skillful fingers of his mother, who is particularly expert in embroidering and lavishly trimmed her son's dresses with her handwork.

Miss Shewmake Enjoys Navy Set Parties.

As the guest of her brother and sister, Lieutenant Rufus G. Thayer, U. S. N., and Mrs. Thayer and their young son, Gerard Thayer at Coronado Beach, Cal., Miss Elizabeth Shewmake, of this city, is enjoying the delightful companionship of members of the naval colony of which the Thayers are popular representatives.

Among the innumerable social gaieties given for Miss Shewmake was the dinner party at which Lieutenant and Mrs. William Marshall entertained at Agua Caliente, the group motoring from Coronado to this old Mexican resort for dinner at the casino in the picturesque patio. Atlantans visiting this charming rendezvous recall the charming señoritas wearing crimson roses in their sleek black hair and trailing black lace mantillas seated at the small tables where wines of an ancient vintage are served. Here, too, games of chance flourish and crowds gather around the roulette wheel where Fate awaits the participants. The races where enormous sums change hands over night as each guest squanders pecos upon the Spanish ponies, offer a diverting scene.

In addition to enjoying the social life offered by the navy set, Miss Shewmake spends many happy hours with her sturdy two-year-old nephew on the white sandy beach of Coronado, which the Thayer residence overlooks. The sunny beach offers a favorite retreat and little Gerard Thayer, as brown as a berry with his blue grey eyes and sun-kissed hair, is an admired figure as he digs happily with his toy spade. Lieutenant Thayer has been detailed for duty aboard the destroyer, "The Hopkins," and will sail with the Pacific fleet on April 6 through the Panama Canal for Atlantic waters. Mrs. Thayer and her little son will accompany Miss Shewmake to Atlanta soon after his departure for a visit to her father, Claude Shewmake, at his home on West Peachtree, where the former Miss Anna Harriet Shewmake will receive a warm welcome from her host of friends.

Engagement Announced Today

Jo Anne McQuarrie To Inherit Antiques.

A most fortunate maiden is wee Jo Anne McQuarrie, infant daughter of Lieutenant Claude M. McQuarrie, U. S. A. and Mrs. McQuarrie, who is receiving a royal welcome from a host of personal and inherited friends at her home in College Park. From her maternal aunts, the Misses Woodward, she will inherit some rare old pieces of furniture which have graced the ancestral home of the Woodward family in Griffin for generations. Named for her maternal uncle, the late Jo Woodward, the baby occupies an especial place in the affections of Misses Woodward and is adored by her trio of sturdy young brothers.

An imposing array of silver spoons and forks have been presented adorable little Jo Anne, and indeed she has already received enough flat silver for a tea party. Several beautiful silver cups have been added to her collection, each inscribed with the name of "Jo Anne McQuarrie." Her grandfather, distinguished Colonel J. C. Woodward, of the Georgia Military Academy, finds his new granddaughter a most charming young lady and she reflects the charm of her lovely mother and her grandmother, the late Mrs. J. C. Woodward.

Bellingrath Gardens Attract Attention.

The beauty of the camellias and azaleas in full bloom in the Bellingrath Gardens in Mobile, lured Mrs. J. J. Goddard, Mrs. J. N. Goddard and Mrs. W. P. Hill to the Alabama city last week. These picturesque gardens are located about 22 miles from Mobile, on a bluff overlooking the junction of three rivers. Picturesque flagstone walks wind through Bellingrath estate, which are lined with gorgeous azaleas, and are mirrored in the lake. Wild flowers grow in riotous profusion and graceful vines entwined their tendrils around the trunks of the moss-covered trees. Mrs. Goddard is noted for her cultivation of rare and tropical camellias, and Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Goddard are foremost among the flower lovers in Atlanta. Upon leaving Mobile, the congenial trio motored to New Orleans to spend several days before beginning their homeward journey.

Miniature Steamer Adorns Table.

A miniature S. S. Aquatania riding at anchor, adorned the table when Dr. and Mrs. Philizy Calhoun and Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Nixon were central figures at a bon voyage dinner party last week at the Piedmont Driving Club by Dr. and Mrs. Howard Bucknell, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Goddard and Mrs. Edward H. Inman. Centering a mirrored ocean, the ship was complete in detail, with electric lights shining from the port holes and deck chairs conveniently arranged on the promenade deck. The lifeboats, smokestacks and entire arrangements being an exact copy of the ocean-going palatial liner whose name it bore. Occupying the deck were four dolls, cleverly dressed to impersonate the honor guests. From their outstretched arms extended serpentine streamers to mark the places for each guest at the handsomely arranged table. Metal anchors were attached to the place cards with gay ribbon bows, and bowls of vari-colored flowers and flags of all the na-

'Little Commencement' To Be Held In Athens, Ga., on April 20 and 21

ATHENS, Ga., March 10.—Spring dances, for years known as "Little Commencement," will be held at the University of Georgia the weekend of April 20-21, and will be the outstanding social event of the spring quarter. Joe Thomas, Jesup, president, which sponsors the dances, has announced. To these dances will be invited many Georgia belles, including co-eds of the university. The Red and Black, university newspaper, will issue a special rotogravure section in connection with the dances, in which will be photographs of some of the beautiful young women to attend the commencement.

Miss Meta Shaw, Valdosta, has been elected president of the University of Georgia chapter of Phi Mu sorority. Other new officers are: Miss Sue Rollins, Dalton, first vice president; Miss Betty King, Atlanta, second vice president; Miss Winifred Clark, Douglas, secretary; Miss Frances Naylor, Decatur, treasurer; Miss Laura Ann Philizy, Athens, assistant treasurer; Miss Anna Newton, Madison, registrar; Miss Agnes Jarman, Athens, and Miss Anna Batts, Monroe, historian.

To confer with Dean R. H. Powell and other officials of the university on any matters of discipline that may come up, the student body of the Co-ordinate College has elected the following four representatives: Misses Mary Etheridge, Atlanta; Amy Sloan, Mason; Katharine Atkinson, Savannah, and Celeste Smith, Atlanta. The Charm school of the Co-ordinate

College, in conjunction with a local department store, Michael Brothers, presented a fashion show in Pound auditorium on Tuesday. Miss Patsy Spaulding, Atlanta, acted as master of ceremonies, and Miss Edith Logue, Atlanta, gave a tap dance in connection with a program in which a number of students participated as models. The local chapter of the Phi Mu sorority celebrated Founders' Day with a banquet Sunday evening at which Miss Patsy Woodruff, Newnan, presided.

Mrs. Bolling Sasnett Offers Program Prize

Mrs. Bolling Sasnett, of Atlanta, chairman of programs and slides for the Garden Club of Georgia, offers a prize to be awarded on April 20 at the sixth convention of the state organization to be held in Atlanta, as guest of the Iris Garden Club. The prize will be awarded for the most constructive program, and Mrs. Sasnett requests the member clubs to send these programs to 1708 Peachtree road, not later than April 5. The decision will be made by competent judges as to which program proves the most constructive.

West End Civic Club Plans Luncheon

Executive board of Civic Club of West End meets at the clubhouse, 1115 Gordon street, Wednesday, March 14, at 11:30 o'clock, with Mrs. R. T. Connally, first vice president, presiding. This is the last session of the present administration and will be in the form of a box luncheon. At 12:30 o'clock the entire membership is invited to bring box lunches and serve picnic style. In the afternoon all members are invited to remain and play bridge with no charge.

The literary division met last Wednesday at the home of the chairman, Mrs. L. Colley Drew. Many interesting current events were discussed, and Mrs. J. H. Savage, president of the club, gave a paper on "Queen Victoria." This is the first of a series of papers on personalities of famous women to be given.

College Park Club Holds Meeting

The College Park Woman's Club met on Wednesday at the clubhouse, with the junior department in charge of the program. Mr. Charles Center, the president, was in the chair. The guest speaker was Dr. William Huck, who spoke on "The Women of Yesterday and Today." Mrs. Walter Shaffer introduced Dr. Huck and the Nesbitt and Mary Louise Thomas, who told of their work for the past year.

Mr. W. W. Bateman, accompanied at the piano by Miss Avis Patterson, sang three numbers and Miss Lucille Bowden, of Cox College, played several piano selections. Tea was served in the lounge. The table was spread with a lace cloth and held as its central decorations a large silver bowl filled with yellow jonquils and pink snapdragons. At each end of the table was placed silver compotes filled with green mints. Silver candlesticks held green burning tapers, and Misses Dorothy Nesbitt and Mary Louise Thomas poured tea.

Rose Garden Club.

The Rose Garden Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Frank Berry, on Ponce de Leon avenue, with Mrs. H. W. Boers and Mrs. Philip M. Graves as co-hostesses. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Harrison Hines, the president.

Mrs. Willard McBurney and Mrs. Moreton Rolleston served as official delegates from the Rose Garden Club, attending the lectures on "Judging, Arranging and Exhibiting in Amateur Flower Shows" which the Sherman Club recently presented in Atlanta. Mrs. Rolleston's talk covered the lectures from the standpoint of judging and Mrs. McBurney stressed the advantages of artistic arrangement.

Mrs. William Akers, former president of the Iris Garden Club, and general chairman of the convention of the Garden Club of Georgia, was our honor guest. She summarized the plans for the state convention to be held in Atlanta on April 10-20.

After the meeting a buffet luncheon was served. The following members were present: Mesdames H. W. Boers, Frank Berry, E. V. Carter, Jr., Charles Evans, Philip Graves, Harrison Hines, Norwood Griffin, James G. Ison, Harry H. Johnson, Hayden Jones, Fleming Law, Charles Marshall, Willard B. McBurney, L. C. After a short business session, the chapter will be opened to the public. A program has been arranged in conjunction with a cakewalk sponsored by the chapter. A prize has been offered to the chapter having the most members present. Past matrons and patrons of Capital City chapter together with charter members will be honor guests of the evening.

La Grange College.

LAGRANGE, Ga., March 10.—The taking of their special tables was celebrated by the seniors on Wednesday evening by a ceremony at LaGrange College. The sophomores with their sponsor, Miss Jennie Lee Epp, ushered the seniors, accompanied by their sponsor, Miss Mildred Slager, into the dining hall and to their tables. The tables were beautifully appointed in lavender and white, the senior colors. Miss Sue Hutcheson, senior president, gave a toast to the sophomores and Miss Kathleen Gilson responded.

Miss Beale Ruth Burt, Play Terry, Lucile Womack and Louise Pharr are representing LaGrange College at the state student volunteer conference March 9-11 at the Peachtree Christian church in Atlanta.

Dramatic club presented a three-act play, "The Girl in the Red" Thursday evening in the college auditorium. Entertainment was furnished between acts by orchestra and the children's dancing class.

The "Societas Mithras" met Thursday and Miss Martha Bond and Miss Miriam Mitchell, new members, were welcomed into the club. Misses Elizabeth Tucker and Louise Hawkes were hostesses.

Pilot Club Dance.

Pilot Club of Atlanta will sponsor a subscription dance at Corowanna Lodge, Donnelly avenue, S. W., Friday evening, March 16, at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Otley to Speak At Decatur Club

Immediately following the luncheon at the Decatur Woman's Club Friday night, Mrs. William Cole Jones and her co-chairman, Mrs. Charles Carter, will present an interesting program at the club meeting. Mrs. John K. Otley will be the guest speaker and musical numbers will be rendered by the Emory Glee Club quartet: Bob Blackwell, Francis Nunn, Chester Kitchins and Derrill Simons. The hostess committee includes Mesdames William Schley Howard, J. A. Campbell, Paul C. Smith, Allen Ripley, A. W. Matison, Hamilton Weekes, A. T. Young, Scott Candler, W. B. Hunt, W. G. Bryant and Henry Cassel. A social hour will follow the program.

The executive board of the club will meet on Monday at 10:30 o'clock with the president, Mrs. Henderson at her home on Clairmont avenue. Outstanding in the series of community teas which are being sponsored by the fine arts division will be the one planned for Sunday, March 18, at 3:30 o'clock, when Mrs. J. G. Addy will present the story of the knight, Parsifal, and his search for the Holy Grail as given by Wagner in his music drama, "Parsifal." Everhart will assist Mrs. Addy with the pictorial interest of the program.

Power Company Club Holds Meeting.

Georgia Power Company Woman's Club met Thursday in the clubrooms. The various circle chairmen gave interesting reports of the work done during the month of February. Ten new members were welcomed as follows: Mesdames A. J. Shupe, T. W. Simpson, W. D. Bartlett, C. O. McHaffey, A. C. Potts, Sarah Teague, H. E. Fleming, E. G. Hall and J. C. Brannon.

Applications for membership of Mrs. A. H. Hatchett, Mrs. H. W. Rowden, Mrs. O. L. Purcell, Mrs. W. V. Tyson and Mrs. J. C. Purcell were accepted and turned over to the membership committee. Circle No. 4 announced plans for a benefit bridge to be sponsored by members of the circle on April 27 at Rich's tea room from 3 to 5 o'clock. Committee on arrangements for the annual egg hunt were appointed, the hunt to be held on Saturday, March 30, from 2 to 5 o'clock, the place to be announced later.

After the meeting, the members were invited to the third floor to view the new clubrooms which were opened and ready for immediate use. The next meeting will be held on March 22, which will be a social meeting with Circle No. 3 in charge of the program, Mrs. I. F. Elliott, chairman. Mrs. J. J. Duncan, first vice president, presided.

Martha O.E.S. Plans Benefit Bridge

A benefit bridge sponsored by Martha Chapter O. E. S., will be held at Rich's tea room on Thursday, March 15, at 3 o'clock. Admission will be 25 cents each, or $1 per table. Many attractive table prizes have been donated by Atlanta concerns.

A $5 cash prize is offered to the chapter of O. E. S. having the largest representation present. This prize is subscribed by I. M. Bame, of Bame's Inc.; J. W. Awtry, of Awtry & Lowndes, and Dr. W. D. Callaway, of Cascade pharmacy.

Associate Grand Conductress Mrs. Pauline Dillon, Grand Electa Mrs. Julia Wall, grand organizer, and many others will attend. For further reservations call Mrs. Mai Giles Sells, general chairman, at Raymond 7728.

Tacky Party.

A tacky party will be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown, on East Harvard avenue, in College Park, Monday evening, March 12, in co-operation with pre-Easter program of the First Christian church, of Atlanta. This party is one of 10 being held over several weeks' period, East Point, College Park, Sylvan Hills and Hapeville come under Zone 2 classification.

Garden Hills Club Names Committee.

The Garden Hills Club met at the clubhouse on Wednesday with Mrs. E. E. Limbaugh, the president, presiding. Reports were given covering the activities of various committees.

Mrs. Harold Hoover, chairman of the Needlework Guild of the club, announced an all-day sewing at her home on Wesley avenue for Tuesday, March 13. Mrs. W. C. Roberts, garden division chairman, told of her plans for the next meeting to be held at Mrs. W. L. Ballenger on Wednesday, March 14, at 10 o'clock. Mrs. H. MacC. Stanford read an interesting report of the institute recently held at the Woman's Club, the report having been made by Mrs. W. L. Ballenger. Five members of the Garden Hills Club attended the institute meetings.

Mrs. Limbaugh, president, announced membership of the nominating committee to select officers for the incoming fiscal year, subject to vote of the membership, the committee consisting of Mrs. Harold Hoover, chairman; Mrs. Carl Dietrich, Mrs. S. E. Treadwell, Mrs. B. C. Settles and Mrs. R. H. Johns.

A meeting of the literary division was announced for Wednesday, March 21, at the home of Mrs. Harry Indell, on Bolling road. The program was in charge of the garden division with Mrs. W. C. Roberts as chairman. Mrs. Roberts spoke on "What My Garden Means to Me," and gave short readings, "Daffodils," by Wadsworth, and "Thanatopsis," by Bryant. Mrs. A. R. Tates sang, with Mrs. S. E. Treadwell accompanying at the piano. Mrs. W. L. Ballenger read "Trees," and was followed by Mrs. Conrad Faust, chairman of the fifth district garden club, who gave an enthusiastic talk on "Garden Clubs." Mrs. John MacDougall was present and spoke briefly on "What the Federation Means to Me."

A social hour closed the afternoon with Mrs. H. A. Hoffmann, Mrs. G. Z. Maclary and Mrs. Harry Indell as hostesses.

Georgia Chapter O.E.S.

Georgia Chapter No. 127, O. E. S., celebrated its eighteenth birthday Thursday with a number of members and visitors present. Past matrons, past patrons and charter members were guests of honor. Mrs. Julia Jackson Turner, past grand matron; Mrs. Pauline Dillon, associate grand conductress, were among the distinguished visitors present. Luther W. Smith Jr. presented the birthday cake, around which the guests of honor gathered while Mrs. LaVert Mitchell sang a beautiful solo. An interesting program was rendered, including several vocal numbers, Hawaiian selections and readings. The presentation of gifts by Mrs. Smith to past matrons and past patrons was a feature of the party.

FOR 67 YEARS IT'S BEEN RICH'S FOR EASTER SILKS

We've traveled a long way in many ways from the modest little establishment on Hunter Street . . . that opened its doors hopefully to Atlanta in the grim Reconstruction days. Since that day Rich's has been striving to maintain the standard in quality merchandise and integrity laid down by those far-sighted merchants who dreamed of a greater city. This year we are deeply pleased to announce to Georgia and Atlanta that we are ready to fill your needs for another Easter . . . with a glorious array of silks that fairly sing of the coming Spring.

Vogue Prints, there are no tricks to describe about these prints. They are just plain pretty. In color and design. Yd. $1.49

Mingtoy Crepe. The price is going up. Buy now—last day at $1.19. It has ridden the crest with the best silk for years. Yd. $1.19

New Silk Prints, the flamboyant stripes, plaids that fashion decrees, the milder blues and many other colors in smart patterns. Yd. 88c

Rich's Peachbloom Crepe, the preference of hundreds of women for underwear. Last day at this economical price. Yd. 79c

Mallinson's Ribbo Faille, a new sheer in a new weave that comes to the front rank with the beautiful fabrics for spring. Yd. $1.98

Cheney's Taffedette, a little more body has come into silks, one of the perkier ones that will make beautiful suits, blouses. Yd. $2.98

Fasha Canton, a trim crepe for tailored clothes. Colors for spring and a wonderfully substantial fabric for suits. Yd. $1.00

Cheney's Mossy Crepe, the interesting weave that has come to the fore in the smart silks. Almost any color you could want. Yd. $1.00

Ribbed Sheer Crepe, this navy sheer crepe will be seen in the slightly formal suits so becoming every hour of the day. Yd. $1.00

Checked Navy Sheers, a novelty fabric that is different from the usual sheers and will prove a tonic to your wardrobe. Yd. $1.00

Cheney's Prints, a new shipment in the lovely colors that brilliantly splash over the new flower prints that are favorites: Yd. $1.98

ATLANTA, GA., SUNDAY MORNING, MARCH 11, 1934.

OVER A MILLION A YEAR SPENT BY FORD ATLANTA BRANCH

$10,000,000 Paid by Ford in Salaries and Wages in Nine Years

Sales in Area Amounted to $175,000,000 and Other Large Sums Are Expended Locally in Activities of Company's Branch.

E. D. Bottom, Branch Manager, Points to Spectacular Gains in Sales in February and Explains Popularity of 1934 Ford V-8.

What the Atlanta branch of the Ford Motor Company has done for Georgia and the southeast was shown in startling figures announced on Friday by the company.

The figures show the extent of the company's operations in this territory from 1923 through 1932, and they include sales, number of units assembled, taxes, telephone and telegraph expense, electric power and pay rolls.

These startling results are continuing, according to E. D. Bottom, branch manager, who is quoted below.

The total value of sales in the period mentioned by the company in this territory was $175,000,000.

The total number of cars and trucks assembled was 256,000.

City, state and county taxes, exclusive of sales and income taxes, amounted to $255,000.

The sum of $360,000 was spent for electric power.

A significant item was the pay rolls of the company. This item alone amounted to $10,000,000, all of which was represented by wages and salaries to residents in this territory.

Mr. Bottom said that February sales of the company's branch broke February records for the past five years, and each succeeding month is showing an increase in the sales of Ford V-8 cars.

Mr. Bottom explained for the increase with this explanation:

"These gratifying sales increases are due to two factors. First, the public's appreciation of the Ford policy of building a car to an engineering ideal rather than to a price, which has resulted in the Ford V-8 having features which are afforded only in cars selling for several hundred dollars more. Second, the undoubted return of prosperity in the south."

"The Ford V-8 is the only car under $2,000 having a V-8 engine, the same type which has broken all records for speed and performance in the air, on the water and on land. Only cars selling from $500 to $2,000 more than the Ford V-8 have such features as straddle-mounted driving pinion, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle and welded steel spoke wheels, all of which are features of the Ford V-8. Only cars selling from $180 to $1,800 higher than the Ford have the following Ford V-8 features: Aluminum cylinder head, 6.33 to 1 compression ratio, 5.12-gallon cooling system, twin water pumps, dual intake manifold, dual down-draft carburetion, tungsten exhaust valve seat inserts and mushroom ended valves, single pane clear-vision ventilation, Houdaille two-way shock absorbers. With the new lower delivered prices announced by local Ford dealers, we anticipate even greater sales than in the past."

Public Likes Innovations. Thousands of men and women who have seen the Ford V-8 have been impressed by the many innovations in the interior of the new 1934 line. Its homely atmosphere appealed immediately to those privileged to see it for the first time. Coated ceilings with concealed dome lights, individual arm rests for all passengers, wide and deep seats of tufted upholstery, are innovations which give the new Ford line distinguishable features both in the front and rear tonneaus.

Careful design in interior decoration is carried out in the paneled window frames, a unique color scheme of all accessories, such as ash trays, blends harmoniously with the whipcord upholstery.

Some 2,500,000 people in 18 days saw the new Ford V-8 at the Ford exposition of progress in New York recently. Next to the car's stylishness, probably the feature which caused greatest comment at this show was its roominess—its surprising head room and leg room both in front and rear.

Despite this interior roominess the new Ford car is probably the safest car on the highway. "Because," as Mr. Hicks put it, "we have been able to keep the fine balance and low center of gravity that make this car easily managed at any driving speed."

New Line in Popular Colors. The new Ford line for 1934 carries all of the popular colors in the De Luxe models. The fenders and running gear are blended to match the color scheme of the body. The car has been carefully streamlined and has a new radiator and radiator shell. The front radiator grill carries out the streamlined effect to the front of the car.

slightly and with the adjustable front seat, gives any range of posture for the driver. A new 15-to-1 steering ratio gives the car a small turning radius and makes for easier steering with absolute safety.

The new car marks the engineering achievement of 30 years of manufacturing experience in the last three decades the Ford Motor Company has made over 23,000,000 automobiles, which is about one-half of all the automobiles made by all manufacturers during this time.

Control of heat in the engine of the Ford V-8 for 1934 is approached from a number of different angles which should be of particular interest to motorists who drive extensively in hot weather, according to Ernest Armistead, official of the Central Motors, Inc., local Ford dealers.

He pointed out in addition to other pertinent factors in the design of the motor, the radiator capacity of the Ford car is five and one-half gallons of water. This is considerably more than that of most cars, more than double that of one six-cylinder car, and is important when driving in hot weather, he said.

"And in addition to this," Mr. Armistead pointed out, "the Ford V-8 has an aluminum head which dissipates heat more rapidly than a cast iron head. It also has the advantage of having the water pass only two hot cylinders on each side, instead of four or six as in the case with motors that have the cylinders in one line."

"So far as cold weather is concerned, that is taken care of by the thermostats in the water line. They facilitate the quick heating of the water of the proper temperature before it is allowed to circulate. These thermostats maintain the proper temperature for maximum operating efficiency both summer and winter."

With an all-steel body, stronger to begin with than one of wood and steel, there is no weakening by decay, which, with wood, may start from rain seeping in between joints. The one-piece all-steel body of the Ford cars is the strongest, safest, quietest and most durable body that can be made.

Illustrating the advantages of all-steel construction, Mr. Black quoted a letter from an owner of a Ford V-8 who described an accident caused by skidding on a freshly oiled road.

"We went over a 25-foot embankment," the letter said. "The car fell on the right side and the top hit a tree. We climbed out, hailed a truck and asked the driver to send out a wrecker. When we were on the highway again we found that the only damage done to the car was a crumpled fender and a bent tie rod."

Local Ford Plant One of Atlanta's Finest Buildings

The Ford Motor Company's assembly plant, located on Ponce de Leon avenue, has for many years been one of Atlanta's show places. It is from here that officials of the company direct wholesale and retail activities for Ford in Georgia, parts of Alabama, Tennessee and North and South Carolina. The building occupies four floors and has an assembly capacity of over 200 cars a day. Since its opening 16 years ago over 200,000 cars have

Performance Amazing With Increased Power Of New V-8 Engine

"Those old standbys, power and economy, are still red-hot topics in automobile circles," claims P. H. Boykin, wholesale manager for the Atlanta branch of the Ford Motor Company. "Even those most concerned with new body design and gliding ride features are paying tribute this year to the amazing performance achieved by the Ford V-type, 8-cylinder engine."

"The Ford V-8 for 1934 touches a new height in smart, stylish streamlining," Mr. Boykin continued. "Its riding comfort marks a decided advance. But outstanding are its refinements in the power plant."

This is considerably more than that of most cars, more than double that of one six-cylinder car, and is important when driving in hot weather, he said.

"And in addition to this," Mr. Armistead pointed out, "the Ford V-8 has an aluminum head which dissipates heat more rapidly than a cast iron head. It also has the advantage of having the water pass only two hot cylinders on each side, instead of four or six as in the case with motors that have the cylinders in one line."

"So far as cold weather is concerned, that is taken care of by the thermostats in the water line. They facilitate the quick heating of the water of the proper temperature before it is allowed to circulate. These thermostats maintain the proper temperature for maximum operating efficiency both summer and winter."

With an all-steel body, stronger to begin with than one of wood and steel, there is no weakening by decay, which, with wood, may start from rain seeping in between joints. The one-piece all-steel body of the Ford cars is the strongest, safest, quietest and most durable body that can be made.

Illustrating the advantages of all-steel construction, Mr. Black quoted a letter from an owner of a Ford V-8 who described an accident caused by skidding on a freshly oiled road.

Serve Ford Time Payment Purchasers

This group represents a part of the 28 Atlanta people employed by Universal Credit Company, Atlanta branch. Formed in 1928, the Universal Credit Company, operating 33 branches in the principal cities of the United States, have handled 1,700,000 transactions for Ford dealers and purchasers of Ford products, over one billion dollars being involved in the handling of this volume of business. Organized for the exclusive use of Ford dealers, Universal Credit Company has every reason to extend a courteous, friendly and confidential service to the customers of Ford dealers. The Atlanta branch of Universal Credit Company are enjoying a volume of business in keeping with the splendid acceptance of the new Ford car. They are, from front, left to right, J. E. Seals, Eva Green, Miriam Chapman, Lillie Phillips, Zelpha Guy, H. O. Garmon; second row, left to right, C. Forehand, Louise Davis, Elizabeth Spurlock, Mary Hoskins, Norma Johnson, Dorothy Hopkins, D. S. DeFord; third row, left to right, C. L. Cammack, G. B. Huber, assistant branch manager; F. A. Durden, credit manager; F. H. Campbell, branch manager; G. B. Strong, business development representative from Detroit; L. C. Reinhardt. Others not shown include Catherine Waters and Margaret Pulliam, as well as field representatives not available at time picture was made.

Body Roominess Real Feature Of New Models

The reason why there is more body room in the Ford V-8 than in any other car of the same wheelbase was pointed out yesterday by C. E. Freeman, local Ford dealer.

"When we say the Ford V-8 is the roomiest low-priced car, we make a statement that can be easily proved," he said. "As a matter of fact this car has more body room than many cars of considerably longer wheelbase. Here is the reason:

"The length of the V-8 type of engine is less than that of a six-cylinder engine, and only about half the length of an engine with eight cylinders in line. As a matter of fact it is less than that of the average four-cylinder engine. The bore of the cylinders is considerably less than that of the old Ford four-cylinder engine, and in addition the wheelbase of the car is longer than when it was a 'four'."

"The wheelbase of the present Ford cars is 112 inches, and from the partition at the rear of the engine—that is, from front of the toe-board under the instrument board—to the rear body wall, the measurement is 108 1/2 inches. This is several inches more than for most other cars. It provides more leg room and adds greatly to the riding comfort, for you can stretch out in a Ford."

"The leg room in the front seat of the Ford Tudor sedan is 27 inches, and in the back it is 26 inches."

Ford Finishes Pass Fire Test

"Nothing is quite as pathetic looking as a comparatively new automobile model the finish of which is marred by dull streaks or spaces on the once bright surfacing," according to Ernest G. Beaudry, local Ford dealer, is the one-piece steel-spoke wheels.

"The average person is inclined to judge the strength of a wheel by the load it will support in natural running position," he said, "but actually one of the greatest strains to which a wheel is subjected is when a car accidentally slides into a curb. All of us have seen accidents of this kind in which wheels have collapsed. The possibility of such an accident is very remote with the steel-spoke wheels of the new Ford cars."

"Illustrative of the strength of these wheels in interesting display is being used in various parts of the country. One of the wheels is fastened to a ceiling in a horizontal position, and from the center or hub section is suspended one of the Ford cars, weighing 2,536 pounds. This demonstration placed on the spokes the same kind of strain as when a car sags or skids sideways against a curb, and few automobiles wheels of other types could support so great weight in a like demonstration."

Now a new day has arrived. Early in the fall, King Cotton, aided and abetted by the Roosevelt agricultural recovery act, raised his head on high and began to smile again. Real dollars began to flow into southern farmers' pockets. Fords of all types and vintage were immediately pushed out of the showrooms, and a new day dawned on the highway. What's more, they have been joined by thousands of new, handsome Ford V-8s sold during the past months.

ly with the handsome color designs which grace the 1934 line. Comments also center on the attractive newly designed radiator shell and grill. With new grilles, ornaments and radiator cap, there is a sweep to Ford body lines and a gracefulness of contour which stamp them immediately as among the smartest and most beautiful automobiles on the market."

"Dealers everywhere," Mr. Bottom said, "find that those who inspect the Ford V-8 fall in love immediately."

Contracts Let For Building At World's Fair

The general contract for erection of the Ford exposition at the Chicago World's Fair has been awarded to the W. E. O'Neil Construction Company, of Chicago, it was announced here today by E. D. Bottom, manager of the Atlanta branch of the Ford Motor Company.

Construction work, which has already begun, is to be completed before June 1.

Fourteen hundred tons of steel will be used in the building, which will be 900 feet long and rise to 110 feet at its highest point in a large central rotunda. Specifications call for 700,000 square feet of fire-resistant wall board; 1,600,000 feet of lumber; 5,000 yards of concrete, and 160,000 square feet of tile flooring. The entire space reserved for industrial exhibits will be skylighted. Large quantities of chromium metal work will be used in both the interior and exterior embellishment, in line with the conservatively modernistic motif of the architecture.

Fifteen bids were received. The three lowest were so close that two days were spent in conference between Ford officials and bidders before the award was finally made in the offices of Albert Kahn, Detroit architect. W. E. O'Neil, president, and C. F. Trimmer, chief estimator, represented the successful company.

The Ford building, which is to be one of the largest in the 1934 Century of Progress, will be situated on an 11-acre tract with a frontage of 1,100 feet on Lake Michigan. A five-acre park on the lake shore is a part of the general project, though this was not included in today's contract.

Thousands of Ford cars have returned to the country road. This sure sign of prosperity was brought about by King Cotton, teamed together with the Roosevelt agricultural recovery program.

All over the south, old Fords, long idle under the depression, are bristling with new activity. Most of these cars when the depression was at its peak, went to rest on a set of wooden blocks in cowsheds, corn cribs, or what-not. With tires deflated, the engines idle, they waited longingly for the dawn of a new day. Fortunately, they could not burn hay and they would not eat corn.

Nevertheless the lower the price of cotton fell, the heavier became the dust and cobwebs which shrouded these Fords like some wicked spell.

Now a new day has arrived. Early in the fall, King Cotton, aided and abetted by the Roosevelt agricultural recovery act, raised his head on high and began to smile again. Real dollars began to flow into southern farmers' pockets. Fords of all types and vintage were immediately pushed out of the showrooms, and a new day dawned on the highway. What's more, they have been joined by thousands of new, handsome Ford V-8s sold during the past months.

OWNERS OF FORDS ENJOY FREEDOM FROM EXPERIMENT

Tested and Proved Refinements Boost 1934 Performance, Says Branch Official.

"A tried and proved car—one that has been tested by hundreds of thousands of owners," is the way the Ford V-8 for 1934 is described by E. D. Bottom, branch manager of the Atlanta Ford branch of the Ford Motor Company.

"Although there are many improvements in these cars, there is nothing of a 'new' nature," he said. "Most important are the increased power and reduced operating cost. These improvements have been brought about not by any change in the design of the motor, which already had proved so satisfactory during 1933, but by the development of the new dual carburetor, new dual intake manifold and other refinements."

"Usually an increase in power means also an increase in fuel requirements, but this is not the case with the Ford V-8 for 1934. The power of the engine has been increased 12 per cent, and tests have shown that it gives more miles per gallon than formerly. Other refinements also have provided increased oil economy."

"New comfort features of the new Ford cars include a clear-vision ventilation system. An extra half-turn of the handle, after the window glass has been raised to the top, slides the glass away from the front of the frame, leaving a narrow opening through which air is drawn off if it is needed."

"The improved riding comfort of the car also is attracting wide attention, judging by the interest shown by the public," said Mr. Bottom.

"Another popular feature is the free and independent action of the wheels which the transverse double-cantilever front and rear springs of the Ford provides," he continued. "At displays where a Ford car has one front wheel and the opposite rear wheel clamped on blocks ten inches high without affecting the level of the car, it is not uncommon to see spectators get down on their knees to look under the fenders and see how it is done. The secret, if it is a secret, is over 20 years old. Ford transverse spring suspension always has permitted free and independent action of all four wheels of the car, but by the safety of the axle supporting the wheels has been proved by years of experience."

Mr. Bottom added that the spring leaves have been newly designed for quieter and easier action and that the use of double-action hydraulic shock absorbers with thermostatic control also improved the riding comfort of the new cars.

The cars have been improved in outward appearance. There is a new chromium-plated radiator with a sloping grill, and the angle of the louvers has been changed to match the slope of the windshield. The streamlining of the hood, but by the reverse in the downward curve of the rear of the roof.

Bodies and fenders of the new Ford cars are fastened in a new way with a brilliant luster which offers greater resistance to the weather than the finish formerly used. Fenders and hoods are bolted to prevent the spread of rust in case of damage.

'New Ford Power But Old Economy,' Says E. L. Hicks

Increasing the power of a motor does not necessarily mean also an increase in the amount of gasoline and oil it consumes, according to E. L. Hicks, assistant branch manager of the Ford Motor Company.

"The power of the Ford V-8 for 1934 has been increased 12 per cent, and at the same time its operating economy has been increased," he said. "Tests show that this car actually gives more miles per gallon of gasoline than formerly. This has been brought about, not by any fundamental change in the design of the motor, but by the use of a new dual carburetor system and new dual intake manifold."

fact that in the V-8 type of engine the carburetor is located in the center of four-cylinder units, facilitate equal distribution of the correct mixture of gas to each cylinder.

"Other factors in the economical operation of the new Ford cars," Mr. Hicks continued, "are the low weight per horsepower and the high compression ratio."

Minimum of Dead Weight. "The lighter a horse's load, the faster it will be able to run, and the less strain is on the horse," he said, "and the same principle holds true of a car. Less weight per horsepower means greater capacity for pickup, speed and pulling ability. The weight of the Ford Tudor sedan is approximately 30 pounds per horsepower. And, as evidence of the fact that low weight does not sacrifice safety, let me point out that this weight is approximately three times that of the cars which annually compete on the Indianapolis speedway. A majority of these cars weigh approximately 1,750 pounds and have around 175 horsepower, giving them only ten pounds per horsepower, yet they withstand the heaviest punishment which motor cars are ever subjected."

"The compression ratio of the Ford V-8," Mr. Hicks said, "is 6.33 to 1, and is maintained by the rapid and quiet action of the valves, which is a result of the high compression means more power, quicker acceleration and higher sustained speed."

Refinements in the appearance of the Ford V-8 for 1934 include a new V-designed radiator shell and grille, with new grille ornament and radiator cap. The hood side louvers are straight to match the line of the grille, the hood having two latches on each side. Hub caps are also of new design. Fenders on de luxe cars are in color to harmonize with the body finish, which is a new enamel that has greater wearing qualities and requires only washing to restore its luster.

FORD DEALERS ANNOUNCE

SUBSTANTIAL reductions have been made in delivered prices for the new Ford V-8 for 1934 by dealers in the Southeast.

It would take the best engineering achievements of many other cars to make one Ford—to give you these 15 outstanding features, all of which are found in “The Car Without a Price Class.”

- ONE! The only car under $2395 with a V-8 engine—the type of engine which has broken all records for speed and performance on land, on water and in the air.
- TWO! The only car with completely water-jacketed cylinder and crankcase walls.

- THREE! The only car with tungsten steel exhaust valve seat inserts and mushroom-end valves.
- FOUR! Dual downdraft carburetion and dual intake manifold which gives extra miles per gallon.
- FIVE! The only car under $2350 with straddle-mounted driving pinion.
- SIX! Ball or roller bearings at every chassis friction point.
- SEVEN! The only car under \$1345 with  $\frac{3}{4}$  Floating rear axle.
- EIGHT! The only car under $3200 with welded steel spoke wheel.
- NINE! Houdaille hydraulic double-acting, automatic shock absorbers.
- TEN! Clear-vision, draftless ventilation with one control—no blind spots.
- ELEVEN! Safety glass.

Performance Shows Value of V-8 Engine

THE most important part of any automobile is the engine. Other features may contribute to your comfort and convenience, but it is the engine that runs the car. Performance, economy, reliability and long life—all these depend on what's under the hood. . . . The New Ford V-8 is an unusually fine car because it has an unusually fine engine. Millions of miles of use have proved the efficiency of its V-8 cylinder design. We invite you to ride in it and let it tell its own revealing story of performance, comfort and all-round motoring satisfaction.

The New Ford V-8 is the only car under $2000 with a V-8 cylinder engine. It combines eight-cylinder speed, power and smoothness with unusual gasoline economy. Dynamometer tests show that the Ford V-8 engine delivers more horsepower per gallon of fuel than any Ford engine ever built.

A THOUSAND years of love—and none of them quite as good as the present one! Modern Marion dreamed dreams and saw visions, and never realized that the most wonderful romance of all was right at her elbow.

She let her mind roam back to the days of the knightly crusaders . . . she dreamed of the wandering, soft-voiced troubadours, of the plumed gallants of cavalier days, of the be-ruffled dandies of the colonial period, of the blue-coated heroes of the Civil War era . . . and she wished that life today could have the glamour it had in those romantic and colorful times.

And all the while she overlooked the fact that a speeding car on an empty road under a great yellow moon can bring a boy and a girl right to the frontier of the magic land of romance.

BUT at last she woke up, and discovered that love is always the same even though it changes its garb from generation to generation. She learned that a modern American lad in the prosaic clothing of the 20th century can be just as dashing as cavalier or crusader, as charming and compelling as troubadour or colonial dandy, as picturesque as a war-time hero from the old era of swords and roses. As soon as Marion discovered this, her wistful dreams of the past got misty and began to dissolve, and she saw them vanish without a tremor of regret.

She had made her greatest discovery, the discovery that every girl makes sooner or later—that love speaks always in the same language; that the land of perfect romance is where you find it, and that all a girl can hope for or dream of can come true when the right voice whispers, "I Love You."

A NEW YORK SOCIETY LEADER SHOWS AND DISCUSSES HER CLOTHES

Burgandy velvet makes the soft, very decorative drape above which Mrs. Alexandre chose because it is protective despite its exotic color. It is a lovely accent for the bois de rose satin gown pictured at the upper righthand corner of the page, and the two together are in the best Palm Beach tradition.

TODAY—The Petite and Accomplished Mrs. J. Henry Alexandre, Jr., Just Before Her Flight to Florida's Gleaming Skies, Proves That Crisp and Comfortable Sports Attire Is the Basis of True Fashion There, With Prints, Chiffons—and Now and Then, Satin—for Evening Wear.

Slacks, topped with a pull-over knit jumper that has the latest cowl neck is the smartest costume for luncheon after tennis or swimming, Mrs. Alexandre believes. The ensemble shown above is bright blue and red, with touches of white on the jersey.

By LILLIAN.

ALTHOUGH the day was biting cold when we called on Mrs. J. Henry Alexandre, Jr., we found that busy society matron literally engulfed in bathing suits, shorts, slacks and other sports clothes which suggested long delicious hours under gleaming skies.

"Yes, I'm off to Palm Beach," she explained crisply. "And it's going to be grand not to have to be 'dressed up' for a month or so. Shall I show you what I'm taking with me in the way of clothes?"

When we commented on the simplicity of her wardrobe, which consisted of nothing but sports clothes and evening gowns, she laughingly said: "Oh, that's all anyone wears at Palm Beach. After all, we're outdoors all day, either on the beach, on the tennis courts or on the golf links. And there are the races, of course. For all these activities only the simplest of clothes need be worn. However, in the evening we dress more conventionally. "It's really a great relief," Mrs. Alexandre continued, "not to have to be 'dressed up' all the time."

While in town Mrs. Alexandre is extremely active socially and, as she says, the incessant round of theatres, bridge parties, teas, dances and other social functions entails a great deal of attention to dress. In addition, she has a gown shop, Sibour, Inc., which she started about a year ago as a hobby, "and certainly," she said, "it is an asset for me to be well-dressed. But being well-dressed can sometimes become a huge bore, so I love to get away every once in a while and just lounge around in comfort."

Mrs. Alexandre is an ardent devotee of outdoor sports. She is an excellent swimmer, golfer and tennis player, and the clothes she has taken for her Palm Beach sojourn, she pointed out, were chosen strictly for comfort.

NEXT WEEK: Mrs. John Walton Livermore.

The "cowboy" neckline of this golf blouse is very dashing, and it is a great protection against wind-burn on the course. The hat is a brimmed knockabout to harmonize.

Pictured below, is another navy blue sports costume—figured pique intended for the tennis court. The back is very open; a matching wrap-around skirt can be slipped over it between games.

A gown of bois de rose satin like this is a refreshing note in a Tropical colony of frou frou chiffons, according to Mrs. Alexandre. It has a perfectly sculptural quality, developed with bias seaming, and its decollete is classic. Its extreme simplicity invites decorative accessories.

Alexandre continued, "not to have to be 'dressed up' all the time."

The Great Inquisitor of a Great Age

THE passing of William Travers Jerome, one of the most rugged of the individualists in half a century of New York's tumultuous and hectic life, brought forth no surprise more interesting than that most of the town was reminded that he had been alive by the announcement that he was dead.

This Tammany-buster, Canfield-wrecker, vice-bloodyhound, underworld-crusher and Thaw-prosecutor had let himself be pretty thoroughly forgotten. Following Thaw's lurid getaway from Matteawan and his subsequent immunity from incarceration after some of the rawest legal mulligan-stew ever cooked up by lawyers with money to burn, Jerome wearily gave up the work to which he had dedicated his remaining life (stalking Thaw) and slid out of nearly all public activities.

Jerome had a private fortune, so the once dynamic giant fell into the habits of an elderly gentleman content to read and browse and sit—sit, perhaps, and reflect on the roaring melodramas in which he had played hero or villain (as one looked at it) with all New York hanging forward in the choicest seats and the whole world jamming the balconies and galleries.

I recall Jerome most vividly as the cross-examiner in the classic appearance of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw as a witness for her crazy killer husband in the first trial. I was then on the Chicago American and was yanked off my honeymoon to go to the Big Burg on this stellar assignment as a staff correspondent for my paper. The demand for press accommodations was already past capacity, but I managed to wangle a narrow emergency seat—between O. Henry and Irvin Cobb.

Jerome was terrific. But Phyllis Carroll, Palais Royal Showgirl, Last Beauty Signed by Ziegfeld Before He Died.

There was probably never another as dramatic. For days Jerome sparred, fenced, jockeyed; and Evelyn, shrewdly jumping behind her advantages of charm, femininity, hoydenish naivete (plenty faked!) and that jigger about "Well, that was what I TOLD Thaw!" held Jerome helpless, dumfounded, at times inarticulately futile and frustrated.

Among the big-time reporters drawn to New York on this cause celebre, was the deathless Dorothy Dix, then, as now, a philosopher, an X-ray observer and an epigrammer. Miss Dix was interviewing Jerome after the first verdict; I had contrived to edge in, too, though her standing was high and I was still a callow cub.

Jerome paced up and down. His lips were blue and his hands were clenched. He was writhing under the burn of the book he—the mighty crusader and masterful cross-examiner—had been, manacled by that slick trick, outmaneuvered by that inspired chorus girl.

"I didn't dare tear into her," he protested. "She had the fury in love with her. I couldn't rip her to shreds though I knew she was lying, because all she had confessed was that she had lied to Thaw, but was now telling truthfully the lies she had TOLD him.

"But—on top of all this—that untrained, inexperienced child sprung an uncanny genius for dodging questions with every subterfuge, wit, sigh, expression of injured innocence, maidenly modesty. I am rated rather well as a cross-examiner, my friend—rather well! I have handled the most seasoned professional perjurers, trained lawyers, brilliant crooks, expert specialists, mental prodigies in the witness-chair. And never have I been hog-tied, ham-strung and—and—and then this child comes along and—and—"

I was too incidental and impressed to have anything to suggest. But Miss Dix, sure-footed newspaper woman, smiled and said:

"What makes you think Evelyn Thaw hasn't had experience at being cross-examined?"

Jerome stopped pacing and turned.

"Well, she hasn't—has she?"

"She has probably had more experience at resisting, side-stepping and horns-wiggling cross-examination than any other witness you ever faced."

Jerome looked incredulous, puzzled, inquiring.

"No one," elucidated Miss Dix, when she got good and ready to finish, "is so post-graduated at being cross-examined as the unfaithful wife of a jealous husband!"

Idiosyncrasies—

Ben Marden's Palais Royal now comes as near to continental atmosphere and sophisticated entertainment as anything on the Hardened Artery... When Clark Gable walked into the Astor Theatre on an opening night the women of New York, mostly first-night regulars, came through with as spontaneous an exhibition of the hick as I have ever beheld; they rose, ogled, yipped out loud, fluttered, muttered and even wept... Trying to argue one of the better young writers out of his habit of getting plastered every night I appealed to his better nature (some writers have 'em, you know) by saying "You owe it to your talent, to posterity!" And he retorted, "Aw, wha-zhehell did posterity ever do for me?"... Lindbergh, one of the top topics at Broadway tables, has never, as far as I know, been seen in a Broadway theatre or at a Broadway table... He did attend a fight one night to present to his old school-chum, Ace Hudkins, a pair of golden gloves as a symbol of good will and wishes—so, while the crowd cheered Lindy and Lindy waited to hand the mitts to Hudkins, Sammy Baker knocked Hudkins out.

JUSTICE FOILED LINCOLN GHOULS

Complete Story of a Gang's Attempt to Rifle Tomb and Hold Corpse for Ransom

By PETER LEVINS.

TWO circumstances aided the criminals in their conspiracy to steal the sacred body of Abraham Lincoln and hold it for ransom. One was that the body, entombed in Oak Ridge cemetery, Springfield, Ill., was not well guarded; the other was that the state of Illinois had no law against grave-robbing. This, despite the fact that graves were being rifled all the time to supply cadavers for medical schools.

Moreover, entrance to the tomb could be effected just about as easily as entrance to a hen-coop—and with less noise. Nothing more than an iron gateway, flimsily secured by a small padlock, led to the catacomb where reposed the remains of the murdered president and his three sons, William, Edward and Thomas. The body of Lincoln rested in a lead coffin, surrounded by a casket of red cedar, the box reposing in a marble sarcophagus.

The kidnapers had merely to remove the marble top and sides of the sarcophagus—a simple procedure—and dismantle the coffin.

The criminal who got the bright idea of rifling the Lincoln tomb was James B. (Big Jim) Kneally, veteran leader of one of the cleverest counterfeit rings on record. Kneally had no great fondness for body-snatching, and he may have had as much respect for Mr. Lincoln as any man alive, but circumstances over which he had no control had driven him to desperate measures.

HIS MASTER ENGRAVER HAD BEEN JAILED.

In a word, his master engraver, Ben Boyd, the genius who made all those pretty $10 United States treasury notes, had been snatched away from his life's work and sent up for a 10-year stretch. Big Jim did not quite appreciate the enormity of his loss at first, but as time passed and he found himself unable to replace Ben, the master mind began to grow very troubled indeed.

He decided that Boyd must be set free to resume his work as a wheels of his conspiracy in June, 1876. He sent five of his boys to Springfield, where they opened a saloon and dance hall on Jefferson street. Preparations were moving along nicely and everything was all set when one of the bartenders, under the influence of strong drink, or possibly love, became talkative while in the company of a lady in a sporting house.

He confided to her that it wouldn't be long before he would have a barrel of money—real money, he meant. He and his pals, he said with a wink, had a little deal up their sleeves. Very likely this was all the information he intended to spill, but with the little lady cuddling up to him and asking questions it wasn't long before he was exposing the whole plot.

PLANNED ROBBERY FOR JULY 4TH.

He said that on the eve of July 4, while all Springfield was shooting off its firecrackers, he would be out in Oak Ridge cemetery, "stealing old Lincoln's bones." The corpse was to be buried in a sand-bar under a bridge spanning the Sangamon river, to dicted and for months now had been more or less on the run to escape a prison term. Late that August United States secret service agents raided "The Hub" and collared Hughes. However, he got out on bail and was able to continue his attendance at Big Jim's business meetings.

Swegles, as luck would have it, struck Kneally as an A No. 1 man for the Lincoln job. At first merely a patron of the saloon, he had become a regular member of the backroom parleys after Kneally learned that he had served two terms in the pen for horse-stealing and was now the boss body-snatcher of Chicago, catering to the medical school trade.

To test Swegles, Kneally suggested that they steal the body of a certain Mr. King, of Kenosha, Wis. (like the Touhy gang, this mob operated all through that region), but Swegles said that would be too risky, as ghouls got two years in Wisconsin. Kneally and Hughes decided that Lew knew his stuff.

With the help of this undoubted authority on grave robbery, Big Jim and his aids perfected the details of the coup. Having removed the body from the coffin, they would stuff it into a sack, place it in the bottom of a spring wagon and drive to northern Indiana, where they would hide the body in the dunes on the shore of Lake Michigan. The wind would quickly efface tell-tale footprints in the sand.

Swegles, ingenious soul, suggested that they buy a copy of a London newspaper, tear out a piece to leave as a clue at the rifled tomb, saving the rest of the newspaper for the intermediary to use as proof that he represented the gang. The intermediary would merely have to produce the original newspaper from which that piece had been taken.

He also concluded that they would need another man, that in addition to three men at the tomb they should have another man to handle the horse and wagon. He ed the rest into the bust of Lincoln, and at 9 p.m. he, Mullen and Hughes boarded a Chicago and Alton train for Springfield. Brown remained in another car on the train. Kneally remained in Chicago.

In Springfield the conspirators registered under assumed names at the St. Charles hotel and, after rehearsing their roles, rolled in for a night's sleep.

Election day dawned. During the afternoon Swegles and Hughes visited the cemetery, where Custodian John C. Power obligingly showed them around. They agreed that it all looked very simple.

Came the evening. In town all was noise and excitement—Tilden, a democrat, beat Hayes, republican in the popular vote but lost in the Electoral College, if you're interested—but out at Oak Ridge the starless night covered the land like a blanket.

Suddenly a light showed between the rods of the outer door to Memorial hall. The body-snatchers had arrived at the tomb. Mullen the ax, with which to pry off the lid of the sarcophagus, and the sack in which to tote the

"After them!" roared Tyrrell.

The officers ran off in every direction. They coursed over the cemetery, now dimly lighted by a pale moon coming up over the trees. Tyrrell, off on a tack of his own, was rushing up the terrace leading to the monument when he discerned the forms of two men, huddled behind a group of statues.

Chief Tyrrell opened fire. The two men answered with a hail of bullets, none of which struck Tyrrell. They stalked each other for some time before Tyrrell discovered that his adversaries in the duel were his own men. No casualties.

And no captives.

The next morning a Chicago newspaper scored a scoop on its rivals with a column story headed "HORRIBLE." The story stated that "somehow or other, no one exactly knows how," Custodian Power had learned of the plot and informed the authorities. The newspaper gave much credit for preventing the despoliation of the tomb to Elmer Washburn, former chief of the secret service, who was one of those in the surprise party at the catacomb.

"What would have been the indignation of the country had this been done!" the story report concluded. "The scheme concocted by these men is certainly unparalleled in the history of crime, and now that there is evidence of minds so debased, it is certain that measures will be taken to guard the monument and prevent future attempts."

OPPOSITION PAPERS CALL IT A HOAX.

"The fact given above did not come until early this morning, and are known to only a few, otherwise the outrage would have occupied as great a share of the attention of the community as the election. Words cannot express the feelings of those who do know it, and it is earnestly hoped that the double-distilled perpetrators of this attempted robbery of the remains of America's most loved president will soon be brought to justice."

Opposition newspapers ridiculed the story. They charged that it was all a hoax perpetrated on the public by the paper and Mr. Washburn, who was at this time hopeful of being named chief of police of Chicago. Readers of the other papers gathered that the one in question had, indeed, overstepped the bounds in this dastardly scheme to fool the public and build up circulation.

But it wasn't many days before the rival papers had to pull in their horns.

Interior of catacomb as thieves left it. They detached lid (A) of marble sarcophagus and front (C) and had started to drag out the coffin (D). Crypts are numbered 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5. Main lid of sarcophagus is marked (B).

Hughes and Mullen had made their way to the home of Hughes' relatives near Lodi, Ill. After a week they journeyed to Chicago, where they met Swegles, who, it appeared, had had some narrow escapes in his efforts to avoid capture after the robbery attempt. The trio wondered how the authorities had learned of the conspiracy. Somebody had unquestionably spilled some information.

Then abruptly, the police collared Hughes and Mullen, the lead paper triumphantly plastered the story all over Page 1, and when they read the paper in jail the next day Hughes and Mullen discovered who it was that had tipped off the cops. They learned, to their amazement, that Lew Swegles was a "roper"—i. e., a stool pigeon.

SWEGLES HAD HIS INSTRUCTIONS.

Swegles had been in league with the secret service since the beginning. Tyrrell had sent him to "The Hub" with specific instructions to work himself into the gang's confidence, and if possible become a member of the grave-robbing expedition. Swegles had put the finger on Hughes during the summer and, of course, he had told the police where to find his ex-associates upon their return to Chicago.

Now the nation realized that the ghouls had not been a hoax. Disbelief gave way to horror as the details of the desecration reached the people. Certain newspapers insisted it was all arranged by republicans to make it appear that democrats had descended to vandalism at the sacred grave of Lincoln.

The two prisoners were rushed to Springfield, where a heavy guard was placed around the jail. Robert Lincoln, 32-year-old son of the dead president, who had married into the wealthy Pullman family, hired the best lawyers in town to prosecute the ghouls. When the time came for the grand jury to consider the case, the jury was made up of democrats to dispose of the belief that the crime had been a republican hoax.

Since the pair could not be charged with trying to steal a body, they were indicted for the attempted theft of a $75 coffin, "the personal goods of the National Lincoln Monument Association." The true bill stated that—

"On the seventh day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, there was situated and located in said Sangamon county, a certain place for the interment of the remains of a human body, called a tomb, then and there contained the human remains of Abraham Lincoln; and that on the seventh day of November, in the year of our Lord aforesaid, in said Sangamon county, Terrence Mullen alias T. Durnan, and John Hughes alias J. Smith, did unlawfully, wickedly, knowingly and feloniously combine, conspire and agree together willfully and without authority to forcibly break open and enter said tomb and take, remove, convey and carry away from said tomb, the said casket, and the said human remains of said Abraham Lincoln."

It was not until May 29, 1877, that Mullen and Hughes went on trial. Two days later the jury returned a verdict of guilty. On the first ballot two jurors voted for five years' imprisonment, the maximum penalty under the law, two voted for two years, four for indeterminate sentences and four for acquittal. They compromised by fixing the penalty at one year each.

Mullen and Hughes served their term in Joliet and disappeared into obscurity.

Kneally was never prosecuted in connection with the plot. Several years later, however, he went to prison on a counterfeit charge.

As for the body of Lincoln, to prevent another such attempt the Lincoln Memorial Association hid the remains for two years in an iron coffin under a heap of loose boards lying in a damp passageway behind the catacombs. "During that time," Dale Carnegie relates in his book, "Lincoln, the Unknown," "thousands of pilgrims paid their respects to an empty sarcophagus."

BODY NOW SAFE FROM THIEVES.

Today the coffin is imbedded in a great ball of steel and concrete, six feet underneath the floor of the tomb. It was placed there September 26, 1901.

"On that day," states Mr. Carnegie, "the casket was opened and human eyes gazed down for the last time upon his face. Those who saw him then remarked how natural he appeared. He had been dead 36 years; but the embalmers had done their work well, and he still looked very much as he had looked in life. His face was a trifle darker and there was a touch of mould on one wing of his black tie."

How and Why Feminine Stars of Broadway and Hollywood Huge Debts of

"I WAS BOOP-BOOP-A-DUPED!"

Helen Kane, Chubby "baby-talk lady" of Musical Comedy and Radio, Might Have Exclaimed in Consternation, When Told She Must Refund a $40,000 Loan from a Boy Friend When His Business Proved a "bust." The Small Silhouette Represents a Process Server Disguised as a Beggar.

THE gentle hubbub of lovely ladies busy with their small talk fills the exclusive gown shop with a melodious din.

It is the cocktail hour, and youth and beauty, drawn in the main from stage and screen, are present in ever-increasing numbers.

In the display room lovely mannequins strut up and down, showing as best they may the latest models imported from Paris and other fashion centres.

Through lorgnettes or with the naked eye a scattering of potential customers survey their marionette-like movements. But it is in the adjacent room—looking like a luxurious women's club—that there is the greatest animation.

Gossip—"the dirt"—is being dished with gusto. Maids circulate with silver trays of "sidecars" and Jack Roses. The aroma of tea fills the air. But the air is filled, too, with the sharp click and clatter of feminine tongues.

"I assure you that Jed Harris himself told me—"

"My dear, I'm flying to Hollywood because they want me for—"

"My broker said—"

"Don't know where the money's coming from, but—"

"Simply must have that ravishing wine-colored velvet." So it goes. The city? You can almost write your own ticket. For scenes like this used to be enacted daily in every important city from New York to California. It wouldn't have made any difference whether you made it Broadway (or Fifth Avenue) or Hollywood, the Broadway of the Far West, or one of the great sartorial arteries of Chicago. The atmosphere, the talk, the women would be much the same.

Here are stars making thousands weekly; there perhaps a cute little chorus girl, and you wonder how she's going to pay the bill she's rolling up on the luxury side of the ledger!

Many, too many of these bills never will be paid. No, the ladies who so coolly contracted them will just dive into a "bankruptcy bath," that consoling pool where sometimes great debts are written off and the contractor is told to run along, be regular, and don't do it again.

Thus are obligations due to folly, extravagance and peacock pride cancelled. Now let us, without any moralizing, consider a group of such cases and cases less flagrant yet allied to them—some cases where the "bankruptcy bath" has proved a more efficient life-saver to enchanting wretches than the common or Turkish variety.

RECENTLY the general public has gasped at the veritable Niagara of bankruptcy cases—voluntary and involuntary—in which "legitimate" and talkie luminaries have figured as principals.

Suppose we scrutinize first a case not untypical and very pat to our purpose, Louise Brooks. Remember her? Probably not. Some years ago Louise, a luscious brunette, was a (very minor) ornament of The Follies and other Ziegfeld spectacles.

She was just a showgirl, beautiful but unsung.

LADY OF THE BLUNDERBUSS

Beautiful, Brunette Louise Brooks, a Former Ziegfeld Follies Girl. She Ran Up Bills Totaling $11,969—"mostly for clothes"—and Was Discharged from Her Debts in the "bankruptcy bath." The Pistols May Symbolize Her Efforts to Ward Off the Lady Process Server, Shown on Louise's Shoulder.

Louise married and later was divorced from Edward Sutherland, the movie director. For a while it looked as if she'd click in pictures, but she soon disappeared from the screen.

Even those with good bright-light memories never gave her a thought till—

The spotlight was slewed 'round on Louise when she filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in New York City—and, with a sigh of relief, was discharged from her debts. Louise said her liabilities were $11,969. Assets: none, "except my clothes."

It is significant and interesting that most of her bills were for clothes. Among her creditors were Bergdorf-Goodman ($2,361); Saks Fifth Avenue ($3,440); Jay Thorpe ($1,555) and so on down the line.

Louise, it also appears, paid $3.50 per handkerchief; $45 for step-ins, and fancy prices for backgammon sets, pajamas and books. After being freed by her "bankruptcy bath" Louise left for Bermuda.

It may strike the layman as fantastic that a former Follies girl should run up bills of such size. But the psychological factor in the actor's life—the practical necessity for "putting up a good front"—is overlooked by Mr. Layman.

A MAN or woman of the stage would cheerfully starve at a Park Avenue address while waiting for a fat contract rather than put up at a modest address and live in comparative comfort till the producer calls at the door.

There are a lot of other factors calculated to send a player to the bankruptcy court if he or she doesn't watch the old step. "Inside" tips on stocks that prove disastrous; lavish loans to chiselers and gifts to friends, clothes and jewels, the habit of consulting astrologers and other seers on "what ought I to do with my money"—these are just a few very human weaknesses that lie in the actor's path.

But if you imagine for one moment that these frailties are the exclusive property of the actor you're wrong. A perfect case in point with a non-professional as its focal figure is that of the first Mrs. Jimmy Walker when she was married to the now former Mayor.

Mr. Walker was in Europe. Mrs. Walker was taken against the modiste shop conducted by Peggy Fears, once of the Follies and later the wife of A. C. (Blumey) Blumenthal, rich promoter and business man, and Lucinda Reichenbach, widow of Harry Reichenbach, in his day the world's most celebrated and enterprising press agent.

THIS was an involuntary petition in bankruptcy directed against the corporation operating the smart and popular shop, not against Miss Fears and Mrs. Reichenbach. The collapse of the enterprise stunned Broadway, for the establishment had been the gathering place for celebrities of stage and screen in New York—in the manner described at the beginning of this article.

According to testimony at the hearing, Blumey had poured considerable cash into his wife's venture, but as the demands on his purse grew and grew, he lost interest in the venture. Peggy, during the legal proceedings, characterized her mate as an old tightwad.

The bankruptcy vicissitudes of the famous Duncan Sisters, Vivian and Rosetta, have been of great interest to the theatre-going public. And no wonder. For these two sparkling comedienne's illustrate two of our main points: injudicious investments and the tendency of stage folk to be over-generous with friends and near-friends.

Vivian and Rosetta, filing a voluntary bankruptcy suit in a Los Angeles court, readily admitted that three years before they had been worth a cool $3,000,000. "But," added Vivian, the ex-wife of Nils Asther, foreign film star, "it all leaked away. Where and how?"

"Gold" mines minus gold—worthless stock—the fickleness of Wall Street—signatures on too many dotted lines. Three years ago the dough was simply rolling in. We were a big success, and everybody with something—anything—to sell was plying us with propositions.

"I guess we were too easygoing. We bought two gold mines, one in Arizona, the other in New Mexico. We played margins in Wall Street and you know what happened to actors who did that!"

THEN our two brothers died, leaving five children. We're taking care of the kids. But we're certainly broke, and how! Nevertheless, we're staging a comeback. We'll pay every cent of our debts in due time; just wait and see."

Helen Kane, the dimpled, plump boop-a-doop girl familiar to vaudeville, talkie and radio audiences, is another well-known star to feel, indirectly, the bite of the bankruptcy wolf.

Helen's case is a curious one. She had accepted a loan of $40,000 from one of her boy-friends, Murray Posner, president of the Bond Dress Company. When the company turned up its toes, it was contended by creditors of the firm that Helen ought to come across with the forty "grand," since it was morally and legally the property of the Posner concern.

There were protracted legal bickerings. But finally Helen offered to settle for $32,500 at a hearing before Referee Peter B. Olney, and the offer was eagerly accepted.

Listing her liabilities as $25,000—assets none—Nanette filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, in response to a judgment issued against her by the Park Central Hotel.

She was, to her great relief, discharged, after it had been established that she was then living

BILLS, BILLS, BILLS!

When Lovely, Platinum Judith Wood, of "Dinner at Eight," Hurt Her Nose in an Accident, She Was Forced to Seek Expert and Costly Medical Attention. The Drain on Her Slender Purse Was Terrific, as She Was Then Supporting Her Parents. She Became Bankrupt.

highest and second highest figures for the district. Experts say that a similar ratio existed for those two years in many other cities and towns. As far back as 1930 President Hoover said that bankruptcies were costing every man, woman and child of the nation's 124,000,000 population on an average of six dollars a year. The credit losses for the country through bankruptcies were then amounting to approximately $750,000,000 per annum!

In concluding this first chapter of our bankruptcy series, let us momentarily banish statistics and return to the alldisfigured her nose. The most skilled medical attention, with consequent big bills, was imperative and Judith's financial difficulties were heightened by the fact that she was supporting her parents.

When she recovered her beauty she went into the stage play, "Dinner at Eight," scoring emphatically as the vulgar Mrs. Packard. Out of a not too swollen salary, Judith had to hire a personal maid, who acted as her masseuse, send money home and pay stipulated amounts to creditors under a garnishee order. The obvious sequel was that she went bankrupt.

Terrific handicap for an aspiring girl. But Judith, again in the talkies, is battling her way back to new fame and, let's hope, fortune. Her bankruptcy was a tragic instance of what big bills—necessary bills in her case—can do to damage a girl's career.

JUDITH, however, as you may have surmised, is far from a unique figure in that unhappy cluster of ladies of the limelight who have been forced to tell their money troubles to the big, stern referee.

Last Summer, for instance, Phoebe Lee, "glorified" by the late Florenz Ziegfeld and since her retirement always considered to be "in the chips," astonished a good many people by filing a voluntary petition in bankruptcy.

"My liabilities?" said Phoebe with a politely rising inflection. "Why, they're over $5,000."

"What! No assets?" boomed the voice of the examining official. "None," said Phoebe firmly. It was true. So Phoebe was promptly discharged. Her creditors included such "class firms" as Revillon Freres, Hattie Carnegie, de luxe fur shops, florist shops and that persistent ogre, the renting agency for her apartment.

Poor Vera Montgomery! She, too, went through quite an ordeal. This comely Viennese singer, actress and diseuse, although she had lived at a smart Park Avenue address, had to admit that she owed more than $9,000.

SHE had no more assets than a pig has wings, and the situation was harassingly complicated by the fact that at the very moment the creditors were yowling she was planning to marry a Siamese prince!

Quite pathetically appealing was the distressing case of Peggy Allenby, a beautiful young leading ingenue familiar both to Broadway and Hollywood.

Peggy entered liabilities of $4,000 and more on the record, admitting that her assets totaled $250. Her bills included a mortgage on a piano, hotel suite rent and beauty shop treatments.

Asked how she came to get into this trouble, Peggy was candid and incandescent. She explained that her regular job was acting, but "I haven't had any theatrical engagements since last November."

She added that she had been ill and had been ordered to California for her health, "and it cost a lot of money." With laudable honesty she testified that she enjoyed the benefits of a small estate, but was drawn up on payments from that for quite a long time.

No one was dependent on her for support, she said. She had no jewelry—"not a speck." Her discharge was quickly and properly granted.

The money troubles of Mary Mah, formerly known as Imogene (Bubbles) Wilson, dazzling blonde former Follies girl once in the headlines when she married Tinney, blackface comic, her up, constitute an interesting part of the record.

MARY gave some impressive reasons why she had gone broke. For one thing, she had had to support a sister with no children, the father being unemployed. Then, too, she had had a voluntary petition in bankruptcy because she didn't want her husband, Wallace Lerery, Jr., to "inherit" bills she had contracted before she married him. (They were later divorced.)

The chief complaint in her petition was that she was continually bestalked and hounded by the well-known procurers. They used to log her footsteps, she claimed, at the New York movie studio where she was working. They even lay in ambush for her at her home, she said. At the time this was written no disposition of the case had been reached.

The recent ferment of bankruptcy cases has caused in the minds of thinking people the question: is such a procedure necessary?

And the answer, according to experts, is: NO! Supporting this view is the finding of official investigators, Judge William Clark of the United States District Court of New Jersey and officials

The State of New Jersey was selected as the ideal "clinic" and the high rate of bankruptcy cases was studied in the minutest detail. The report, which was sent to Secretary of Commerce Robert Lamont, proved conclusively that of the cases examined seventy-five per cent of the bankruptcies were preventable!

Let us momentarily revert from the general to the particular. In New York City, the year 1932 marked a new and, it seemed, all-time high for bankruptcy cases. In the southern district of the metropolis, alone, a scrupulous canvass showed, there were 3,142 admitted insolvencies. (And don't forget that a great many bankruptcies are never publicized at all.)

In 1933 this staggering figure sank to 2,736. This was a gratifying drop. But the fact remains that the totals for 1932 and 1933 represent the

No. 16—"Hagar Comforted by the Angel in the Wilderness."—Abraham and his household journeyed toward the south country after the visit from the three angels, and stopped a while in Gerar, where Abraham again represented Sarah as his sister. Abimelech, King of Gerar, sent and took her, but God appeared to him in a dream, revealing that she was the wife of another man. Abimelech rebuked Abraham, restored Sarah to him and reproved her, and Abraham's prayers caused God to heal Abimelech's household of the afflictions that had been visited upon its members. According to God's promise Sarah bore Abraham a son, who was named Isaac. And Sarah was joyful, but when she saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian, she demanded that Abraham cast out the bondswoman and her son. Abraham was reluctant to do this, but God directed him to hearken unto the voice of Sarah, promising that through her son, Isaac, should arise the great nation foretold in the covenant. "And also the son of the bondswoman will I make a nation, because he is thy seed."—Genesis, xxi, 1-3. So Abraham gave bread and a bottle of water to Hagar and the child and sent them away into the wilderness of Beer-sheba. "And the water was spent in the bottle, and she cast the child under one of the shrubs. And she went, and sat her down over against him a good way off, as it were a bowshot; for she said, Let me not see the death of the child. And she sat over against him and lifted up her voice, and wept. And God heard the voice of the lad; and the angel of God called to Hagar out of Heaven, and said unto her, What aileth thee, Hagar? fear not; for God hath heard the voice of the lad where he is. Arise, lift up the lad, and hold him in thine hand; for I will make him a great nation. And God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water; and she went, and filled the bottle with water, and gave the lad drink. And God was with the lad; and he grew, and dwelt in the wilderness, and became an archer."—Genesis, xxi, 15-20.

No. 17—"The Angel Saves Isaac From Being Sacrificed by Abraham."—"And it came to pass after these things, that God did tempt Abraham, and said unto him, Abraham; and he said, Behold, here I am. And He said, Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of. And Abraham rose up early in the morning, and saddled his ass, and took two of his young men with him, and Isaac his son, and clave the wood for the burnt offering, and rose up, and went unto the place of which God had told him. Then on the third day Abraham lifted up his eyes, and saw the place afar off. And Abraham said unto his young men, Abide ye here with the ass; and I and the lad will go yonder and worship, and come again to you. And Abraham took the wood of the burnt offering, and laid it upon Isaac, his son; and he took the fire in his hand, and a knife; and they went both of them together. And Isaac spake unto Abraham, his father, and said, My father; and he said, Here am I, my son. And he said, Behold the fire and the wood; but where is the lamb for a burnt offering? And Abraham said, My son, God will provide Himself a lamb for a burnt offering: so they went both of them together. And they came to the place which God had told him of; and Abraham built an altar there, and laid the wood in order, and bound Isaac, his son, and laid him on the altar upon the wood. And Abraham stretched forth his hand, and took the knife to slay his son. And the Angel of the Lord called unto him out of heaven, and said, Abraham, Abraham; and he said, Here am I. And He said, Lay not thine hand upon the lad, neither do thou anything unto him; for now I know that thou fearest God, seeing thou hast withheld thy son, thine only son, from Me. And Abraham lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold behind him a ram caught in a thicket by his horns; and Abraham went and took the ram, and offered him up for a burnt offering in the stead of his son."—Genesis, xxii, 1-12.

No. 18—"Rebekah at the Well."—Following the test of Abraham's faith, the Lord again blessed him and promised that his descendants would be multiplied as the stars of heaven and as the sand of the sea shore. And Abraham returned to Beer-sheba and dwelt there. Sarah, his wife, lived to the age of 127 years, and died. She was buried in the cave of the field of Machpelah, in the land of Canaan. Not long afterward Abraham, who was old now, called the eldest servant of his household and made him swear that he would not take a wife for Abraham's son, Isaac, from the daughters of the Canaanites. Abraham sent the servant into his own country and among his own kindred without the city by a well of water at the time of the evening, even the time that women go out to draw water. And he said, O Lord God of my master Abraham, I pray Thee, send me good speed this day, and shew kindness unto my master Abraham. Behold, I stand here by the well of water; and the daughters of the men of the city come out to draw water; And let it come to pass, that the damsel to whom I shall say, Let down thy pitcher, I pray thee, that I may drink; and she shall say, Drink, and I will give thee camels drink also; let the same be she that thou hast appointed for thy servant, Isaac; and thereby I shall know that thou hast shewed kindness unto my master. And it came to pass, before he had done speaking, that, behold, Rebekah came out, who was born to Bethuel, son of Milchah, the wife of Nahor, Abraham's brother, with her pitcher upon her shoulder."—Genesis, xxiv, 11-15. And the sign was fulfilled as the servant had prayed it would occur. The story of Rebekah is the first romance in the Bible.

SPRAYING KILLS THE BUGS

applied in a more concentrated solution as the "chewers" are harder to apply than are the common plant lice.

FUNGICIDES.

There is a very interesting story connected with the discovery of Bordeaux mixture as a control for fungus diseases on plants.

It seems that in Bordeaux, there were a great many grape orchards. It also was true at that time, during the nineteenth century, that there were a great many little boys and that these boys and those grapes attracted to each other, to the misfortune of the owners of the grape orchards. For some reason, one of the owners of one of the vineyards had some copper sulphate and he dusted it on his grape vines in order that the grapes would be discolored and the little boys would be afraid to eat them.

Much to his amazement, he found that not only were the little boys repelled but that the mildew, which they had presumed was impossible to control, was effectively controlled. And so our now most common fungicide and the base of most of our patented preparations, was discovered.

Bordeaux mixture cannot be used for scale on peaches. Bordeaux can be used, however, on almost all of the vegetables and most of the common fruits and berries and most of the flowers.

For black spot on roses, a mixture of nine parts sulphur and one part of arsenate of lead, commonly called Massey dust, is more effective than Bordeaux mixture.

RED SPIDER.

There is probably more trouble from red spider on the evergreens, particularly the cedars, used around the home, than any other one insect or disease that attacks these plants. To control these effectively, it is necessary to spray them several times with a good oil emulsion spray. These insects attack only the under side of the leaves, under a delicate silken web. There they feed by sucking the juices. These may be controlled in addition to the use of oil emulsion sprays, by dusting heavily with sulphur. When they attack cotton plants, farmers generally control them with an oil emulsion spray.

BEAN BEETLES.

Mexican bean beetle is probably the most terrifying one insect that we have in the garden, as it not only attacks beans but also other vegetables, as well as flowers. The adult bean beetle, a light brown beetle with black marks, feeds on the leaves of the plants while the grubs feed on the roots. Calcium arsenate, magnesian arsenate or a pyrethrum spray may be used for their control.

SNAPDRAGON WILT.

One of the most heart-breaking diseases in the garden is snapdragon wilt, which also attacks asters. This may be controlled by a thorough spraying of the plant with Bordeaux mixture or semesan. Be sure that the crown of the plant is thoroughly sprayed at the same time as the other spraying is carried on.

ANTS.

The honey-loving ants are easily controlled, as there are a number of mixtures offered under various names on the market for their control. The most common mixture is syrup-arsenate of lead and water, in the proper proportions. However, this will not control those ants that do not love honey.

This second class of ants may be killed by a fumigant of some heavier-than-air gas, such as carbon bi-sulphide, or paradichloro-benzene, which must be forced into their runs.

Flying ants, sometimes called termites, are the most difficult of all to kill and are also the most damaging ones, as they destroy any wood which they attack. The state board of entomology recommends a mixture of sodium arsenic in a solution about 5 per cent. This must be applied in a very misty spray under as high pressure as possible.

PARIS PRESENTS for Smart Evening Wear

SPRING—1934! A new season in the world of fashion and such a thrilling one. Clothes have become so alive—windblown is the expression the creators are using. Hats are shooting upward, shoulders slanting downward, fullness is emphasized—either blowing forward or backward.

For street wear, coats and coat-dresses are equally smart. Some of the coat-dresses resemble an outer wrap so much that it is hard to tell which is which. Suits, of course, are not to be ignored. As long as Spring comes and goes, the Spring tailor will have its day. Suit jackets should not be too short.

This thrilling new season doesn't play any color favorites. Black, as always, remains popular. This year it may be ingeniously combined with brilliant shades for startling effect. A bright red yoke on a black dress, or brilliant sleeves of green combined with a frock of black. After black you'll probably be enticed by the soft shades of green, brown, beige and blue that are so flattering. And, of course, the Spring presentations of delicate and colorful prints are not to be restricted.

For formal Spring festivities you may appear elegant or choose an evening gown that is cut on tailored lines. Diadems and trains lend elegance to the mode. Smooth shiny satins, sleek crepes and soft chiffons are the favored fabrics. Bare necks and covered arms were startling at first, but their effectiveness cannot be denied. But we need not go into too great detail about the latest evening fashions, since we offer today a group of sketches that show in exciting manner just what the Paris creators sponsor for this thrilling new season.

As for accessories, those important details that lend so much distinction to the mode, an interesting array is sketched at the bottom of the page. In the circle, three tiny hair ornaments of sparkling brilliants. Hellstern designs a dainty cyclamen crepe de Chine evening shoe and Perugia makes a slipper of stiffened Irish Crochet. Shoulder length gowns by Heim are of colored velvet with diamante buttons. The evening girdle, a creation of Bruyere, is of rolled pale green worsted and silver tinsel.

HERE is a smart little evening gown of blue and striped organdie, with winged shoulders and front fullness emphasized on the skirt. The girdle is of crepe de Chine. (Center) A diminutive wrap of silver fox shapes into armholes at the elbows and is worn over a straight evening frock of white crepe. The gown of pale green crepe at the extreme right reveals a wing-like cape flaring from drooped shoulders and volants of sea green and silver tulle.

SILVER brocade combines elegance with simplicity of line and a crossed bodice and deep V-decolletage. The narrow shoulder straps, slim skirt and rather full train, add effect. So exquisite is the fabric used, that it is, indeed, more effective worn without jewels.

BEAUTIFUL SEALY SPRINGS — The Second of a Series of Constitution Rotogravure Pages Portraying THE NATURAL WONDERS OF GEORGIA

A Constitution Roving Ford Feature photographed by Kenneth Rogers

LOOKING ACROSS one of the huge springs on Bob Sealy's estate in Seminole county. The springs are truly one of the natural wonders of Georgia. More than a hundred thousand gallons of crystal-clear water pour forth each minute, forming several magnificent lakes.

(Left) THOUSANDS OF FISH from minnows to rock fish, weighing as much as 40 pounds, find a haven in the crystal-like waters of Sealy Springs. Some of the fish in the photo are 50 feet under the surface. Several species swim over 100 miles up the rivers from the gulf to lay their eggs in the springs.

(Below) THE PERFECT MIRROR-LIKE QUALITY OF THE SPRINGS are well illustrated in this photo of The Constitution Roving Ford. The reflection is so perfect that the picture has been printed upside down without it being noticeable.

THE BATTLE OF THE LITTLE BIG HORN, in which General Custer and his men were slain, was a part of the struggle for mastery between the Sioux tribes and the on-rushing tide of whites lured into the northwest by the discovery of gold in the Black Hills. AMERICA'S FAMOUS "BAD MEN" OF ANOTHER DAY--Dodge City, Kan., was "wide open" in the '70's, when cowboys thronged its streets. Killings were frequent, and Dodge's "Boot Hill" cemetery, where men were buried with their boots on, grew sparse. Some of the most celebrated gun fighters in western annals won their spurs in Dodge. OF THE MEMBERS of this camping party from Fort Abraham Lincoln (in what is now North Dakota), eight men were destined for early death. They were killed on June 25, 1876--when a battalion of troops under Major General George A. Custer, was completely annihilated by the Indians.

IT IS HARD TO REALIZE now that the Indians remained a potential menace in parts of the west until the nineties; the last pitched battle took place late in 1890. Here is a Modoc Indian warrior. (Harper & Brothers.)

Robert Dodd, Esq.

"FOR THOSE WHO LOVE FINE THINGS"

Mr. Robert Dodd's collegiate years and his subsequent association with the smart young moderns of Southern colleges and universities, make him especially well qualified to tell of the preference which this younger generation of Southerners bestows upon Hollingsworth's Fine Gift Candies. Says Mr. Dodd, "Sending Hollingsworth's Candies is a habit which I formed in my undergraduate days." Hollingsworth Unusual Candies are the perfect form of expression of the appreciation of social courtesies. My Hobby Box, a luxurious selection from twelve Hollingsworth packages, is an open sesame to the realms of those who love fine things. It is priced $1.50 the pound--Montreat Box $1.00 the pound.

*One of the most interesting figures in American sports is Mr. Robert Dodd. He is a graduate of the University of Tennessee, where he was All American quarterback. He recently married Miss Alice Davis. Mr. and Mrs. Dodd now reside in Atlanta, Georgia, where Mr. Dodd is backfield coach of the Georgia Tech Football Team.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS TO ADVERTISE, BUT THE SUREST WAY OF OBTAINING RESULTS IS BY USING THE PREFERRED MEDIUM. THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION IS PREFERRED BY THE NEWSPAPER-READING PUBLIC OF ATLANTA.

PAGES 4 AND 5 OF TODAY'S CONSTITUTION MAGAZINE TELL "HOW AND WHY STELLAR BEAUTIES OF THE BROADWAY AND HOLLYWOOD STUDIOS DIVE INTO THE BANKRUPTCY BATH TO FREE THEMSELVES FROM HUGE DEBTS, CONTRACTED THROUGH EXCESSES OF EXTRAVANGANCE AND FOLLY." THE STORY IS INTERESTINGLY WRITTEN AND GRAPHICALLY ILLUSTRATED.

On page 7 of today's Constitution Magazine there is another installment of "The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures," from Matthew Merian's "Icones Biblicae," a chronological story of the Bible written in 1625, in Germany.

More Atlantans prefer The Constitution than any other newspaper; 3,941 more people have The Sunday Constitution delivered to their homes than the second paper, and 6,328 more than the third paper, proving that The Constitution is Atlanta's preferred newspaper. Every Department in The Constitution is a complete one.

Tarzan

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright 1934 by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc.

WHEN THE TEMPLE GUARD DEMANDED THAT HOTEPI BE DELIVERED FOR THE SACRIFICE, HIS FRANTIC MOTHER, RA-NOON, PROTESTED HE WAS NOT THERE.

BUT THE CAPTAIN ANSWERED: "OUR EYES ARE AS A THOUSAND EYES, AND THEY BEHELD YOUR SON ENTER THIS HOUSE. YIELD HIM, OR YOU SHALL DIE IN HIS STEAD."

IN HIS UNDERGROUND CHAMBER, HOTEPI HEARD, AND CRIED OUT; FOR THE LIFE OF HIS MOTHER WAS DEARER TO HIM THAN HIS OWN.

THE SOLDIERS ADVANCED TOWARD THE TRAP-DOOR, BUT ....

... TARZAN, ENRAGED BY THE CRUELTY OF HOTEPI'S FATE, IGNORED THE SUPERIOR POWER OF THE GUARDS AND FLUNG HIMSELF IN THEIR PATH.

... AT LAST HE WAS CONQUERED BY FORCE OF NUMBERS.

THEN TARZAN, RA-NOON, AND HOTEPI WERE LED IN CHAINS THROUGH THE STREETS, AND ....

... THEY WERE BROUGHT INTO THE MYSTIC PRESENCE OF THE HIGH PRIEST ....

... WHO DISPATCHED AN ORDER THAT FRESH FUEL BE HEAPED ON THE SACRIFICIAL FIRES.
